AMERICANS SLAIN BY YAQUIS

Colony Besieged by Indians Fight Desperately for Life

Warship Rushed to the West Coast to Protect U. S. Citizens

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Three Americans have been killed in Esperenza, Mexico, by Yaqui Indians, who are besieging a colony of 65 at that place, according to advices received here, while the family of W. W. Mackie, a soil expert from Sacramento, California, is missing.

Those reported as having lost their lives are:

William Stoker, John Wilson and Walter Fay, all of this city.

They were ranch owners, or employes of a large construction company engaged in exploiting the agricultural lands of the Yaqui valley.

A message received here today from Washington, says the navy department, has instructed Admiral Howard to send a warship to Tobari Bay to aid the besieged colony which has been attacked in force.

TWO KILLED; ONE MISSING.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Preliminary reports from American Consul Frederick Simpich at Nogales make no mention of the reported killing of Z. O. Stocker in the American colony, under attack by Yaqui Indians south of Guaymas, but tell the deaths of John Wilson and W. A. Fay, and place another American, J. J. Donovan, among the missing.

Governor Maytorena has promised to protect the refugees as far as possible.

MANY MEXICANS SLAIN.

NOGALES, Sonora, May 14.—The pueblo of San Jose de Gracia, 152 miles south of here, was attacked last night by 250 Yaquis, who are known as "bronchos," or wild Indians.

Eight women and many men, all Mexicans, were killed. American colonists in the Yaqui valley sent further appeals to Governor Maytorena today for help.

Charles F. O'Brien, owner of a large ranch near the scene of the fighting, received a message from Esperanza today confirming the death of William Stocker, William Fay, J. J. Donovan and John Wilson. The message also stated that the 500 Yaquis who made the attack were retreating today, and that the Americans numbering about 40, aided by a few Mexican soldiers, were trying to prevent them reaching the mountain fastnesses.

The purpose is to "exterminate the Indians," said the message.

MEXICANS TO RESCUE.

By Associated Press.

NOGALES, Sonora, May 14. — With 500 Mexican soldiers and also a band of armed Americans reported as trying to rescue them, a colony of 65 Americans, including women and children, today were striving desperately to fight off Yaqui Indians from their homes near Esperanza, south of Guaymas. Their condition was reported as critical.

Governor Maytorena of Sonora has promised Frederick Simpich, American consul here, that he will make every effort to drive back the Indians.

The relief troops are proceeding to the aid of the Americans with difficulty, as the railroad over which they are traveling is only partly repaired.

Freight Agents Visit East Bay Attractions

Delegates to the convention of the Pacific Coast Association of Freight Agents at the Hotel Oakland, who were delayed in the north through washouts of railroad tracks, arrived in the city last night and today for the first time were in business session. The convention will close tomorrow afternoon.

The delegates took a recess yesterday and spent the day in visiting the east bay cities in the morning and the exposition in the afternoon. Oakland, Piedmont and Berkeley were toured in automobiles furnished by the Chamber of Commerce-Commercial Club Consolidated as the morning's entertainment. The university campus and the Greek Theater were visited in Berkeley.

Mother Jones Tells of Trinidad Arrest

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—"Mother" Jones continued her story of the Colorado coal strike before the federal industrial relations commission today. She described her nine weeks' detention at Trinidad. She told of being carried away from the strike field by militiamen and of her rearrest when she endeavored to return. She was again held, she said, for twenty-six days, in a cellar with sewer rats. She was released after several efforts had been made to secure a writ of habeas corpus. "Mother" Jones read a statement reviewing court decisions relating to the use of militia in strikes.

Thaw Case Goes to Jury

Supreme Court Refuses to Enjoin Trial

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The appellate division of the supreme court decided today that it would not interfere with the plan to have Harry K. Thaw's mental status placed before a jury for determination.

The court dismissed the prohibitory writ which, if sustained, would have enjoined the supreme court from submitting the case to a jury next Monday.

WOMAN SUES FOR $10,000 DAMAGES

Further entanglements in the quarrel between Miss Leonore V. Garnes and David Miller, proprietor of an apartment house at 307 Twenty-first street, which last January caused the arrest of Miller, who turned about and sued Miss Garnes and Clarence J. Black for $20,000 malicious prosecution, developed today when Miss Garnes filed suit in the Superior court for $10,000 damages against Miller.

Miss Garnes recites that on November 17, 1914, while she was out shopping, Landlord Miller entered her apartment and removed all her belongings, even her canary.

Upon her return she says that she found the lock on the door changed, and that she was refused admission. She further avers that her pleas in behalf of the hungry canary were ineffective until she obtained a search warrant and recovered her property from another apartment. However, that night she was permitted to sleep in her own room, which she declares lacked all the comforts of a home as it was when she left the afternoon before.

Then on January 6 last Miller filed his suit, in which he impricated Clarence J. Black in his alleged assistance to Miss Garnes in the matter of his arrest and subsequent recovery of her belongings.

Black, in partnership with J. W. Owen, operated an apartment house adjoining that conducted by Miller. Last May Black divorced his first wife, Florence. He testified that she had disrupted his restaurant business in Los Angeles and that later, when he went into the apartment house, she had manifested jealousy over him so openly and boisterously that some of the tenants threatened to leave. As a result he sought the divorce, which was made final a week ago.

Attorney Roscoe D. Jones, counsel for Black, and Miss Garnes today declared that Black had nothing to do with the quarrel between Miller and Miss Garnes.

"It is blackmail," declared Attorney Jones.

Earl Rogers Called Down by Trial Judge

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Arguments for the defense in the Sebastian-Pratt morality trial were completed today and it was considered probable that the case of the mayoralty candidate and his co-defendant who are charged with having contributed to the dependency of Edith Serkin, Mrs. Pratt's half-sister, would be in the hands of the jury late this afternoon.

Earl Rogers, Sebastian's chief counsel, made the charge that the allegations against Sebastian and Mrs. Pratt were the result of a conspiracy.

"We were not permitted, however, to introduce testimony regarding the 'frame up,' he declared.

"That is not true," interposed Judge Fred V. Wood, presiding. "In a conference in chambers I decided that the evidence concerning such a frame up was not sufficient."

Jim Jeffries, Former "Champ," Seriously Ill

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—In a serious condition as a result of a week's battle with pneumonia, James J. Jeffries was under the care of a nurse and the family physician today. Unless complications set in, however, he will recover, his doctor said. Jeffries' serious illness was unknown to his friends here until last night, after he had been pronounced out of danger.

"Hap" Hogan, Venice Manager, Near Death

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—A crisis was reached today in the illness of Wallace L. Brat, better known as "Hap" Hogan, manager of the Venice Coast League baseball team. He was in a serious condition and telegrams were sent to his relatives in Santa Clara reading "Hogan very low." Hogan was stricken with pneumonia about a week ago.

ROME, May 14, 11:15 a. m., via Paris 6:50 p. m.—The agitation in Rome has assumed almost a revolutionary character. The entire city has been occupied by the military.

A riotous crowd made its way this morning to the Piazza Montecitorio, wher eis located the Chamber of Deputies, and forced an entrance into the building by smashing the windows.

DIVER IS ACCOUNTED FOR

BLYTH, Eng., May 14, 12:53 p. m.—A German submarine is reported to have been sunk in the North Sea. The captain of the steamship Collairnie, on reaching port today stated that his vessel apparently had destroyed the submarine by running it down off the Northumberland coast.

No submarine was seen, but the captain said his ship had struck a submerged obstacle. A large quantity of oil subsequently appeared on the surface and the conclusion was drawn that a submarine had been run down.

SERIOUS RIOTING IN MILAN

By Associated Press.

ROME, May 14, 11:20 a. m., via Paris, 5:45 p. m.—Dispatches from Milan say that serious rioting has broken out in that city over the present political situation.

The adherents of the opposing political factions have resorted to the use of firearms and the situation is described as most grave.

ITALIAN CABINET RESIGNS

LONDON, May 14.—The Italian cabinet has resigned.

"The council of ministers," says Reuter's Rome correspondent, "considering that it did not possess the unanimous assent of the constitutional parties regarding its international policy which the gravity of the situation demands, has decided to hand its resignation to the King. An official note to this effect was issued last night.

"The King has reserved his decision as to whether the resignation will be accepted."

U. S. NOTE DELIVERED

U. S. PRESS BACKS UP WILSON

President's Note to Germany Receives Hearty Endorsement

Leading Papers of Country Almost Unit in Commendation

President Wilson's note to Germany was editorially commented upon throughout the United States today with distinct praise and approbation. Excerpts from editorials of some of the leading newspapers as indexing American sentiment follows:

NEW YORK TIMES—It is the great diplomatic achievement of the note that it puts upon Germany the choice not only of what her reply shall be, but of what is to follow. * * * The President's eloquent appeal to her great traditions, to her sense of honor and of justice, must triumph over any warlike inclination she may feel to pursue a course that can have but one ending.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE—He, the President has drawn an indictment against the German nation which will lie for all ages to come, if the Kaiser's government fails to meet the demands of the President of the United States promptly and completely. * * * Wronged, we have offered Germany a peaceful solution in the present crisis. * * * And the President's message sums it all up. We shall omit neither word nor act necessary to the performance of our sacred duty.

NEW YORK HERALD — It might have been stronger; it might have been weaker; it will serve. Mr. Wilson has overcome the influence of those members of his cabinet who are for peace at any price. He has lived up to the very best traditions of his character.

NEW YORK WORLD — It is calm; it is restrained. It is courteous, but with a cold, cutting courtesy that gives added emphasis to every word. * * * By the strength of his case and the moderation of his tone, the President has made it as easy for Germany to do right as to do wrong. If he is to fail in his effort it will be in good conscience and in a good cause.

NEW YORK SUN—The note is impeccably urbane, though not without little ironies, in its tone, friendly in spirit, resolute in its assertion of American rights and of the freedom of the seas. It recalls Germany's contention for that liberty. * * The President has spoken firmly. The country, supporting him as firmly, awaits without passion the German reply.

NEW YORK PRESS—Into the end of his note to Berlin, President Wilson has put some teeth, and not too many at that—into the end, because the first of it is filled with those graceful, but empty rhetorical phrases which long ago exhausted the patience of Americans, no less than they excited the derision of the Berlin militarists.

NEW YORK AMERICAN—The President's letter is undoubtedly vigorous, but it is possibly dangerous as well. The nation desired that its rightful demands should be laid before the German government, but did not anticipate that the President would go so far beyond the plainly and soundly rightful scope of those demands as to invite a rebuff.

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) REPUBLICAN — The government's position in this case is the country's position. It is not extreme, yet it covers the ground.

BUFFALO (N. Y.) COURIER—Right-minded men of every party will approve its tone and tenor. The clearness, the definiteness, with which this presentation is made can satisfy the most rigid Americanism that views large affairs sanely.

BUFFALO EXPRESS—There has been no backdown. Let the people's response go out from every corner of the land. We are still Americans.

RENOUNCE ACTS OF SUBMARINES, PRESIDENT ASKS

America Is Prepared to Perform Duty in Interests of Humanity, Message Asserts

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The government and the people of the United States today turned expectantly toward Berlin, where Ambassador Gerard had been instructed to present to the German foreign office a note calling the attention of the imperial government to the "unlawful and inhuman" destruction of the Lusitania and other violations of American rights on the high seas.

Germany is asked in the note to disavow the acts of her submarine commanders in the torpedoing without warning of the Lusitania, a British ship, with a loss of more than 100 American lives, and the American steamer Gulflight, "as a result of which two or more American citizens met their death." Reparation, "so far as reparation is possible," is asked, and the United States declares it confidently expects that the imperial government will take immediate steps "to prevent the recurrence" of such acts and practices.

PROMPT REPLY EXPECTED.

No time is specified for a reply but the communication says "the government and people of the United States look to the Imperial German Government for just, prompt and enlightened action in this vital matter."

The course to be pursued by the United States in the event of a non-compliance with its requests and expectations, is not stated, but high officials pointed out that the conclusion of the note was intended to impress upon Germany that there should be no misapprehension in Berlin of the firm purpose of the United States to safeguard its rights by any means necessary. This is expressed in the final sentence, which says:

"The imperial German Government will not expect the Government of the United States to omit any word or any act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizens and of safeguarding their free exercise and enjoyment."

It was just a week ago today that the Lusitania was struck by a German torpedo and sunk with the loss of many neutral lives, besides the scores of Americans. The United States Government is the first to act. The other neutral nations, most of whom have been waiting for the policy of the United States to be revealed, are now expected to decide what representations they will make.

INTERNATIONAL IMPORT.

As the note was read today by diplomatists and officials generally, one feature that attracted wide comment was the stand taken by the United States against the use of the submarine as a commerce destroyer, the attention of the German Government being called to "the practical impossibility" of employing these under-sea craft to destroy merchantmen" without disregarding those rules of fairness, reason, justice and humanity which all modern opinion regards as imperative."

This was taken by naval officers versed in international law and diplomatists to mean that not only during the present war but in future international conferences to amend the rules of maritime warfare, the American Government would be found aligned against the use of the submarine against merchantmen.

Another feature of the note which caused much comment among diplomatists was the statement in it replying to the German circular to neutrals which arrived here on Tuesday and agrees to express regret and give reparation for any mistaken attacks on neutral vessels by submarines. The communication points out that while "expression of regret and offers of reparation in case of destruction of neutral ships sunk by mistake" may satisfy "international obligations, if no loss of life results," they cannot justify or "excuse a practice the natural and necessary effect of which is to subject neutral nations and neutral persons to new and immeasurable risks."

AGAINST SUBMARINES.

In another portion emphasis is laid on the inability of submarines to exercise the right of visit and search at sea because of practical difficulties making it impossible for them to make a prize of merchantmen since a prize crew could not be put aboard, for if taken as a prize, the ship could not be sunk without leaving the neutral vessel's crew to the mercy of the sea in her small boats."

It was this feature—the application of the rules of naval prize law to the cases of neutral vessels carrying contraband encountered by submarines—which attracted attention when the German circular note to neutrals was first examined. The argument made in the American note of today is designed to point out the inadmissability of what had been regarded in some quarters as concessions by Germany in the treatment of neutral merchantmen.

The citation in the note of "the explicit stipulations of the treaty of 1828 between the United States and Prussia" was regarded as important from a legal point of

YOUNG PAIR THWARTED IN LOVE

Another youthful elopement was nipped in the bud this noon when anxious relatives of Miss Margaret Flemming, 939 Guerrero street, San Francisco, appeared at the county clerk's office while she and Thurlow Spenser of Vallejo were waiting to obtain a marriage license.

Miss Flemming is 14 years of age and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden L. Flemming. Spenser, who declared at first that he was 21 years of age, finally admitted less than eighteen years.

The youthful couple, when confronted by Alden Flemming, brother of the bride that nearly was, were taken completely by surprise, but Cupid rose to the occasion and blushes mounted to the cheeks of the girl, while her fiance stammered and shifted from one foot to the other.

Early this morning Deputy Clerk Joseph Clark received a telephone communication from San Francisco asking that a license be refused the couple should they apply here. They showed up at the hall of records shortly before noon and after sizing up the situation for nearly an hour finally made bold to approach Cupid's window.

Under questioning by Deputy Clerk Clark the pair declared that they lived in Sacramento. Spenser said that he was 21 and Miss Flemming 18. Their appearances belied them, however, and they were requested to step into an ante-room to await certain alleged legal formalities.

They waited anxiously. Then arrived the brother and the brother-in-law.

After recovering from their first surprise the elopers sought to explain.

"We came to Oakland yesterday and went to a rooming house," said young Spenser. "We took separate rooms and after breakfast this morning we went directly to the county clerk's to get a license."

When the brother-in-law, offered objections, Miss Flemming arose to the occasion, exclaiming:

"Why, you are not of age yourself, and you are married and have a family, so there!"

The elopers and their Nemesis then left for a trip to Vallejo, where, it was declared, the parents of the young Lochinvar should be informed of the affair.

Lusitania Romance Revealed in Wedding

LONDON, May 14.—A romance of the Lusitania developed yesterday when Engineer John Welsh and Miss Gerta Neilson, a milliner, were married at Manchester, the home of the bridegroom. They met aboard the liner and became engaged. The bride fell from a lifeboat into the sea and was rescued by Welsh. Both were picked up by a trawler.

Governors, Senators and Publicists Rally to President's Side

Few Criticise or Doubt Terms of American Note

"President Wilson's note to the imperial German government should meet with the approval of every patriotic American. It is dignified and is in accordance with the international law of nations."—United States Senator George C. Perkins of Oakland.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—"I have not received any instructions. I have not received anything. I have not heard anything. I don't know anything," said Count Bernstorff, after a conference with Counsellor Lansing at the state department.

World Court Delegates Agree to Stand Back of President Wilson

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., May 14.—Prominent delegates to the World Court Congress read President Wilson's note to Germany today and all agreed that whatever contingency arose the government would receive the firm support of the nation.

"The American public will stand back of the government in any exigency which arises," said John Hays Hammond, chairman of the congress. "In the present situation the solid support of America is at the command of President Wilson and leaders in social and economic life undoubtedly will be glad to lend him their support of their patriotic and helpful counsel.

"I have no doubt, in the absence of congress, the President is enlisting the counsel of men experienced in international affairs and representing all parties and all sentiments."

Henry Lane Wilson, former ambassador to Mexico, said:

"The note to Germany is an excellently worded state document. Americans generally desire peace, but not at a sacrifice of honor and dignity, and the note seems to express this attitude.

"If the situation develops to that point where it is impossible to avoid conflict the American people will stand solidly behind the government. In such an event ancestry, religion and politics will have, in my opinion, absolutely no influence on the attitude of our citizenry, hyphenated or otherwise."

"Acted With Caution and Deliberation," Says Governor E. F. Dunne

By Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 14. — Governor Edward F. Dunne, commenting on the American note to Germany, today said:

"The President and his advisers at Washington have acted with the utmost caution and deliberation.

"They have only formulated the position of this republic as to the protection of the lives and rights of its citizens after sufficient time has elapsed to let reason and law supplant the shock that resulted from the loss of so many non-combatant American lives.

"The American nation, through its President, has spoken and the patriotic citizenship of the republic stands loyally behind him and will sustain him to the end."

new. Under that treaty American ships are given the right to unrestricted freedom of the seas in times of war and even of carrying contraband, including munitions of war, the ships or cargoes cannot be confiscated, but may be detained and the cargo "requisitioned," in which event all contraband or non-contraband taken must be paid for, irrespective of its destination.

White House officials today adopted the policy of silence, so far as the American note is concerned. They felt that any discussion of the situation would be useless and inopportune.

CABINET DISCREETLY SILENT.

The cabinet met today in a regular session, but no further action was contemplated pending the receipt of Germany's reply. The President took a short automobile ride before the cabinet meeting and will leave late tonight on the Mayflower for New York to review the Atlantic fleet there next week.

During the trip, which will last nearly a week, the President will be kept in touch with every development in the situation, but only important matters will be placed before him. He has declined many invitations to events in New York not connected with the review of the fleet.

SUPPORTING EXPRESSIONS.

By Associated Press.

HONOLULU, T. H., May 14.—General expressions for support of President Wilson's note to Germany and declarations that emphatic firmness is necessary were made by members of the party of United States senators and congressmen now touring the islands. Senators Cummins of Iowa, Saulsbury of Delaware and Overman of North Carolina expressed strong hopes that American lives would be safeguarded, and that a guarantee of their safety would be peaceably accomplished. Senator Hardwick of Georgia, in an address at Hilo, declared:

"We should be ready to fight if necessary."

Salvaging of the sunken submarine F-4 has been delayed, owing to disablement of the divers engaged in the work. The divers are showing the effects of the tremendous strain of working at a great depth, and all but Frank Crilly have been required to rest from the heavy strain.

RECEIVED WITH RESERVE.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, May 14.—Hardly any London morning newspapers have yet commented on the American note. The Chronicle, in a brief editorial, thinks that the unofficial forecast of the note should be received with reserve; but says, if it is correct, it shows that President Wilson is adhering firmly to the spirit of his original declaration with reference to strict accountability.

"Nothing less," the Chronicle says, "could well be asked than a guarantee for the cessation of the illegal and barbarous submarine policy, and all turns on the degree of firmness with which the request is made. For that we must await the official publication."

NOTE PLEASES FRANCE.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, May 14.—The unofficial version of President Wilson's note to Germany is highly praised by this morning's papers. It shows, says the Figaro, that "the era of banal protests is over, and Germany must give formal guarantees that she will not permit similar crimes in future. If she breaks these promises America will proceed to act. The United States perhaps will not go as far as war, for it will not be necessary. It is possible the United States may take the initiative in the organization of a defensive league of neutrals, which will transfer the passive neutrality of non-belligerents into active neutrality, which will manifest itself, to begin with, by an absolute and complete boycott of Germany, which will definitely place her beyond the pale of civilization. We can, in any case, be sure the United States will exact full and entire satisfaction."

Preparations for the parade of the enlisted men of the fleet through the streets of the city next Monday, when President Wilson will review them, were in progress today. The city has appropriated $10,000 for the expenses of the parade, review and fireworks.

Surf Bathing Leads to Matrimonial Voyage

ALAMEDA, May 14.—Following a sudden impulse, Floy Vivian Boone of 451 Central avenue and Caryl Leigh Smith also of this city, yesterday afternoon dashed in an automobile to San Jose and were married by a Methodist minister there.

The first the friends and relatives knew of the affair here was a phone message to the brother of the girl. "Hello, Guy," she said, "we're married." Congratulations were extended the happy couple today by their many friends both in this city and in Oakland, where they are well known.

Mrs. Smith, who is but 18, lives with her two brothers, Guy and R. C. Boone, and Smith has lived here for many years, attending the local schools until but recently. He gave his age as 21. He is heir to a large fortune, which he will receive from an estate in a few years.

The romance began last summer when the two were swimming and boating along the Alameda shore.

Barnes Denies Most of Roosevelt's Story

By Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, May 14.—William Barnes concluded his direct testimony in the supreme court here today by defending his organization policies, denying parts of the testimony of Theodore Roosevelt and Loyal W. France, and contradicting William Loeb.

He declared that the colonel reproached him when in 1910 he did not vote for the former president as temporary chairman of the state convention. He answered many questions designed, his counsel said, to show the dominance of the defendant in the Republican party.

Mr. Barnes denied that he had tried to influence the votes of legislators at the time of the senatorial deadlock in 1911, and swore he had never talked to Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall but once in his life.

Fair Oaklander in San Jose Courts

Mrs. G. B. Smith, a handsome young matron of Oakland, was the complaining witness in the San Jose police courts yesterday afternoon, when G. B. Rutter, who was accused of forging her name to checks, was held to answer in the Superior Court.

Rutter was arrested in Los Angeles, to where he was traced from San Francisco. His persistent letter writing to Mrs. Smith, whom he begged to leave her home and go south, enabled the police to trace him and take him into custody.

W. F. Milligan, who was arrested with Rutter, testified that he had cashed the check at the Montgomery Hotel in San Jose, but that it had been sent to him by Rutter from San Francisco.

Not Prepared, Sen. Works Suggests; Would Have U. S. Lay Embargo on Munitions

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—"The President's note to Germany is excellent as a protest," said United States Senator John D. Works of California today. "But are we prepared to go to war to enforce our demands? If not, the protest will prove an idle thing. I do not believe our people are ready to go to war with Germany for such a cause. Therefore we have done the proper thing in declaring our course, but things will go on about as they are.

"It would be much better for us to stop sending munitions of war to the belligerents. It is this violation of the spirit of neutrality that has made most of the trouble."

Duty of Americans to Stand by President Loyally, Says Governor of Maryland

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Governor P. L. Goldsborough of Maryland, who is here on a brief visit, made the following comment today on the President's note to Germany:

"It is the duty of every American citizen loyally to support the President in his position and I am sure American patriotism will insure this. The principle of the non-use of submarines against merchantmen is new, but humane, and one that should be recognized by all nations."

Phelan Declares President Right in Demand for Fair Play at Hands of Germans

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Senator James D. Phelan praised today the American note to Germany.

"It is a very strong declaration of American rights," he said, "and declares the intention of the nation to protect its citizens. I believe it will have a very wholesome effect and restore to commerce the freedom of the seas.

"There is no doubt but that submarine warfare, in the nature of things, violates all international agreements and it is time the President should demand, as we all do in our sports, fair fighting and fair play.

"There is no such thing as money compensation for the loss of lives. This government must protect the lives of its citizens, acting within their rights."

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts said today: "I call the President's note resolute and vigorous. Iowa Senator Declares Country Is Backing Wilson in Crisis With Germany

By Associated Press.

FORT DODGE, Ia., May 14.—Senator W. S. Kenyon told the Associated Press he believed President Wilson's demands in the note to Germany will be complied with. "The President's note is a clear presentation of our country's position," said the senator. "Germany, being a just nation, must recognize its force. The President can be certain the nation is with him in whatever plan he deems best. He will never lead us to war if it can honorably be avoided."

Stand by President, But Discourage Jingoism, Is Oregon Governor's Advice

By Associated Press.

SALEM, Ore., May 14.—Governor James Withycombe of Oregon issued the following statement upon the note sent to the German government.

"To my mind President Wilson's communication to Germany expresses American sentiment with both vigor and tolerance. The United States condemns the methods which made possible the Lusitania horror, and rightfully demands such reparation as can be offered for priceless American lives. Especially must submarine attacks upon unarmed and unwarned merchantmen cease. If Germany accepts our suggestions, we can be satisfied and with honor. If refusal or unreasonable temporizing results this country will accept eventualities with a clear conscience, though peace should be our utmost desire. But whatever course is forced upon us, all America will sustain the administration regardless of politics or place. Meanwhile, hysteria and jingoism should be discouraged."

ENGLAND MAY TURN TO CONSCRIPTION

mander-in-chief, as to the great successes won by the French between La Bassee and Arras.

If this attack can be pushed home the consequences will be still more marked, in the opinion of British military commentators, who are claiming today that a little further advance by the French will open a conspicuous gap in the German line, a development which will necessitate the falling back of the Germans on a wide front.

To the north of La Bassee the British are doing little more than holding their own, but at the same time they are keeping great masses of Germans engaged—troops who otherwise would be available against the French offensive.

AUSTRIANS NEAR PRZEMYSL.

In the eastern field the Germanic forces in Galicia, who are said to number 1,500,000 men, are reported to be within 20 miles of Przemysl. The Russians would appear to be developing counter strokes both on the West Galician front and in Bukowina, and they claim initial successes, but military men here are careful of committing themselves on the outcome of these activities, pending further developments.

The hint made by Lord Haldane of the possibility of conscription has been interpreted in some quarters as meaning there is now less confidence that the war will be over by fall.

The resignation of the Italian cabinet has non-plussed the general public, but well informed political observers think that is only a move in the game and that the final development will be the advent of Italy on the side of the allies.

BRITISH SINK TWO TURKISH TRANSPORTS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, May 14.—A dispatch from Maudros, Island of Lemnos, dated May 9, to the Times, says:

"Two British submarines, which succeeded in traversing the Dardanelles and entering the Sea of Marmora a fortnight ago were admitted by the Germans to have sunk two Turkish transports. The German report announced their capture by the Turks.

"It is now known that until a few days ago they were having it all their own way from Gallipoli to Constantinople, having sunk more vessels than the Germans liked to confess, providing themselves with fuel and provisions at the expense of the Turks, and spreading confusion and panic among Turkish shipping."

BRITISH TROOPS IN NEED OF MUNITIONS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, May 14.—A strong play for greater supplies of ammunition is made by the Times correspondent in Northern France. He attributed chiefly to the lack of an unlimited supply of high explosive shells the disappointing results of British attacks Sunday in the district of Fromelles and Richbourg.

The correspondent says:

"It is important for an understanding of the British share in the week's operations to realize we are suffering certain disadvantages which make striking successes difficult to achieve. Two armies, those of the Crown Prince of Bavaria and the Duke of Wurttenburg are still in our front holding at full strength lines which are supported by formidable artillery and are not to be taken easily. Secondly we are still suffering from the aftermath of the first gas attack at Ypres.

"At Fromelles and Richebourg we found the enemy much more strongly posted than was expected. We lacked high explosives to level his parapets."

"When our infantry gallantly stormed the trenches they found a garrison undismayed, many entanglements still intact and Maxims on all sides ready to pour in streams of bullets. We were unable to maintain ourselves in the trenches won, and our reserves were not thrown in because the conditions for success in an assault were absent.

"Until we are thoroughly equipped for this trench warfare we attack under grave disadvantages. If we can break through the hard outer crust of German defenses, we believe we can scatter the German armies, but to berak this crust we need more explosives, more heavy howitzers and more men."

Potest "Clear, Dignified and Forceful," Is Verdict of Washington Governor

OLYMPIA, Wash., May 14.—Governor Lister said of the message of President Wilson. "The protest of the President is clear, dignified and forceful. In the closing paragraph he expressed the position of the United States in language that cannot be misunderstood. In this expression the President will have the united support of the United States."

President Right, Although Situation Is Delicate, Is Montana Gov. Opinion

MISSOULA, Mont., May 14.—"I believe that President Wilson is taking the only logical course in connection with the sinking of the Lusitania, but I sincerely hope that the United States can keep out of the European war," said Governor S. V. Stewart of Montana today, with regard to President Wilson's note to Germany. Governor Stewart declared that the international situation is extremely delicate just now. He emphasized the necessity of giving President Wilson united support.

Official War Statements

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, via London, May 14, 2:50 p. m.—German army headquarters today gave out a report on the progress of hostilities reading:

"In the eastern arena: Strong British attacks against our newly acquired front at Ypres yesterday failed with heavy losses to the enemy. On the Menin-Ypres high road we gained further territory in the direction of Hooge.

"In the district southwest of Lille the enemy attacked yesterday in only a few places and then after heavy preparatory artillery fire. All these attacks were repulsed.

"In the Lorette Hills and to the north of Arras the day passed comparatively quiet and there were no important attacks by the enemy.

"Our losses during the capture of Parvilly by the enemy amounted to between 600 and 700 men. A further attempt on the part of the enemy to recapture from us a section of the trench we had taken to the northwest of Berry-Au-Bac again resulted in failure.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle, the advance of the enemy in the forest of Lepretre broke down in front of our positions under fire. The occupants of a French biplane which was forced to land at Hagenou were captured.

"In the eastern arena: The battle of Shavli in Courland, Russia, did not come to an end yesterday.

"North of the Niemen river on the lower Dubissa, we took 80 prisoners. In a night attack west of Przemysl parts of the Russian First Turkestan army corps succeeded in penetrating after several unsuccessful efforts into our foremost trenches. By evening, however, the enemy had again been driven back with heavy losses, including 120 prisoners.

"Southeastern arena: The advance guards of the armies under General Mackensen are before Przemysl on the east bank of the lower San. Joining this army on the right and the left the armies of the allies continue their pursuit of the Russians, on one side in the direction of Sokal (Sandomir), and in the other in the direction of Kolamnes and Kielce.

"The Russians have been unable to maintain their positions from Kielce to the Pilicaor to Inowlodz and they are beating a hasty retreat toward the east."

By Associated Press.

PARIS, May 14, 2:31 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon issued the following statement on the progress of hostilities:

"It has been raining without stop since yesterday morning. Last night, in spite of the handicap of a difficult and slippery terrain we occupied several German trenches to the southwest of Souchez and we have maintained on the rest of the front from Loos to Arras all the gains recently made by us.

"In the valley of the Aisne we yesterday destroyed four German blockhouses and leveled several trenches."

War Summary

The furious attack of the French along the section of the front just south of the Belgian border is said to have resulted in a further advance. The official statement from Paris announces the capture of several German trenches near Souchez.

At Petrograd it is said the German movement in Galicia has been checked permanently. The Russians have fallen back on strong positions along the River San, which runs through Central Galicia.

Official reports from Berlin and Vienna continue to claim that the Austro-German forces are sweeping eastward, putting the Russians to rout and capturing vast numbers of prisoners.

Great demonstrations in favor of war are reported in dispatches from Rome. It is said that grave events are looked for in the near future. So far as is known, King Victor Emmanuel has not accepted nor declined to accept the resignation of the cabinet tendered last night.

Advices from the Dardanelles, as conveyed from sources favorable to the allies, say the French and British forces are continuing to gain in the land fighting, although it is conceded the decisive phase has not been reached. One British correspondent asserts the whole coast line of Gallipoli peninsula is in the hands of the allies.

The captain of a steamer which put in at Blyth, England, reported his ship had struck a submerged obstacle which apparently was a submarine, and that he believed the submarine had been sunk. A Dutch trawler reported that while flying the Dutch flag it had been attacked in the North Sea by a German aeroplane. Three bombs were dropped, but the trawler was uninjured.

Italian King Calls Statesmen in Council

By Associated Press.

ROME, May 14, via Paris, 2:30 p. m.—King Victor Emmanuel received today in the order named the following statesmen: Signor Manfredi, president of the senate; Signor Marcora, president of the Chamber of Deputies and Signor Giolitti, a former premier but now the leader of the party in Italy in favor of neutrality.

These are the first evidence of political development of the day and they were observed with deep interest because of the resignation yesterday of the cabinet on the ground it did not have the unanimous support of the constitutional parties of the country in its international policy.

The king has not yet announced whether the resignations will be accepted.

Both Armies Busy in Burying Their Dead

By Associated Press.

LONDON, May 14.—The week of battle now drawing to a close left both sides exhausted and breathless, says the Daily News correspondent in the north of France.

"Today, Ascension Day," he telegraphs, "we are burying our thousands and the Germans perhaps their tens of thousands. The fury of the fighting has been unbelievable and the death roll is appalling, but our line is established firmly."

GERMAN-AMERICANS ADOPT RESOLUTIONS

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 14.—The local branch of the American neutrality league, composed largely of German-Americans, last night adopted a resolution expressing their confidence in President Wilson's ability to handle the international situation growing out of the sinking of the Lusitania, and re-affirming their allegiance to the flag of the United States.

U. S. DEMANDS ON GERMANY

Following is the full text of the note sent by the United States government to the German government concerning the violation of American rights in the European war sea zones and this country's demands that illegal warfare cease:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE (Washington), May 13, 1915.

The Secretary of State to the American Ambassador at Berlin:

Please call on the Minister of Foreign Affairs and, after reading to him this communication, leave with him a copy.

"In view of recent acts of the German authorities in violation of American rights on the high seas, which culminated in the torpedoing and sinking of the British steamship Lusitania on May 7, 1915, by which over 100 American citizens lost their lives, it is CLEARLY WISE AND DESIRABLE THAT THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES AND THE IMPERIAL GERMAN GOVERNMENT SHOULD COME TO A CLEAR AND FULL UNDERSTANDING AS TO THE GRAVE SITUATION WHICH HAS RESULTED.

"The sinking of the British passenger steamer Falaba by a German submarine on March 28, through which Leon C. Thrasher, an American citizen, was drowned; the attack, on April 28, on the American vessel Cushing by a German aeroplane; the torpedoing on May 1 of the American vessel Gulflight by a German submarine, as a result of which two or more American citizens met their death; and, finally, the torpedoing and sinking of the steamship Lusitania, constitute a series of events which the government of the United States has observed with growing concern, distress and amazement.

DOUBT SANCTION OF GOVERNMENT.

"Recalling the humane and enlightened attitude hitherto assumed by the imperial German government in matters of international right, and particularly with regard to the freedom of the seas; having learned to recognize the German views and the German influence in the field of international obligation as always engaged upon the side of justice and humanity; and having understood the instructions of the imperial German government to its naval commanders to be upon the same plane of humane action prescribed by the naval codes of other nations, the government of the United States was loth to believe—it can not now bring itself to believe—that these acts, so absolutely contrary to the rules, the practices, and the spirit of modern warfare, could have the countenance or sanction of that great government.

CORRECT UNFORTUNATE IMPRESSIONS.

"It feels it to be its duty, therefore, to address the imperial German government concerning them with the utmost frankness, and in the earnest hope that it is not mistaken in expecting action on the part of the imperial German government which will correct the unfortunate impressions which have been created, and vindicate once more the position of that government with regard to the sacred freedom of the seas.

"The government of the United States has been apprised that the imperial German government considered themselves to be obliged by the extraordinary circumstances of the present war, and the measures adopted by their adversaries in seeking to cut Germany off from all commerce, to adopt methods of retaliation which go much beyond the ordinary methods of warfare at sea, in the proclamation of a war zone from which they have warned neutral ships to keep away.

NO ABRIDGMENT OF OUR RIGHTS.

"This government has already taken occasion to inform the imperial government that IT CANNOT ADMIT THE ADOPTION OF SUCH MEASURES OR SUCH A WARNING OF DANGER TO OPERATE AS IN ANY DEGREE AN ABBREVIATION OF THE RIGHTS OF AMERICAN SHIPMASTERS OR OF AMERICAN CITIZENS, bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nationality; and that IT MUST HOLD THE IMPERIAL GERMAN GOVERNMENT TO A STRICT ACCOUNTABILITY FOR ANY INFRINGEMENT OF THOSE RIGHTS, INTENTIONAL OR INCIDENTAL.

"It does not understand the imperial German government to question those rights. IT ASSUMES, ON THE CONTRARY, THAT THE IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT ACCEPTS, AS OF COURSE, THE RULE THAT THE LIVES OF NON-COMBATANTS, WHETHER THEY BE OF NEUTRAL CITIZENSHIP OR CITIZENS OF ANY OF THE NATIONS AT WAR, CANNOT LAWFULLY OR RIGHTFULLY BE PUT IN JEOPARDY BY THE CAPTURE OR DESTRUCTION OF AN UNARMED MERCHANTMAN, and recognizes also, as all other nations do, the obligation to take the usual precaution of visit and search to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is in fact of belligerent nationality or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag.

OBJECTS TO SUBMARINE WARFARE.

"The government of the United States, therefore, desires to call the attention of the imperial German government, with the utmost earnestness, to the fact that the objection to their present method of attack against the trade of their enemies, lies in the practical impossibility of employing submarines for the destruction of commerce without disregarding these rules of fairness, reason, justice and humanity, which all modern opinion regards as imperative.

"It is practically impossible for the officers of a submarine to visit a merchantman at sea and examine her papers and cargo. It is practically impossible for them to make a prize of her, and, if they cannot put a prize crew on board of her, they cannot sink her without leaving her crew and all on board of her to the mercy of the sea in her small boats. These facts, it is understood, the imperial German government frankly admits.

NO WARNING OF ATTACK.

"We are informed that in the instances of which we have spoken time enough for even that poor measure of safety was not given, and in at least two of the cases cited not so much as a warning was received. Manifestly, submarines cannot be used against merchantmen, as the last few weeks have shown, without an inevitable violation of many sacred principles of justice and humanity.

"American citizens act within their indisputable rights in taking their ships and in traveling wherever their legitimate business calls them upon the high seas, and exercise those rights in what should be the well-justified confidence that their lives will not be endangered by acts done in clear violation of universally acknowledged international obligation, and certainly in the confidence that their own government will sustain them in the exercise of their rights.

WARNING IN AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS.

"There was recently published in the newspapers of the United States, I regret to inform the imperial government, a formal warning, purporting to come from the imperial German embassy at Washington, addressed to the people of the United States, and stating in effect, that any citizen of the United States who exercised his rights of free travel upon the seas would do so at his peril if his journey should take him within the zone of waters within which the imperial German navy was using submarines against the commerce of Great Britain and France, notwithstanding the respectful, but very earnest protest of his government, the government of the United States.

"I do not refer to this for the purpose of calling the attention of the imperial German government at this time to the surprising irregularity of a communication from the imperial German embassy at Washington, addressed to the people of the United States through the newspapers, but only for the purpose of pointing out that no warning that an unlawful and inhumane act would be committed can possibly be accepted as an excuse or palliation for that act, or as an abatement of the responsibility for its commission.

REQUESTS DISAVOWAL OF DEEDS.

"Long acquainted as this government has been with the character of the imperial German government and with the high principles of equity by which they have in the past been actuated and guided, the government of the United States cannot believe that the commanders of the vessels which committed these acts of lawlessness did so except under a misapprehension of the orders issued by the German naval authorities.

"It takes it for granted that, at least within the practical possibilities of every such case, the commanders even of submarines were expected to do nothing that would involve the lives of non-combatants or the safety of neutral ships, even at the cost of failing of their object of capture or destruction.

"It confidently expects, therefore, that the imperial German government will disavow the acts of which the government of the United States complains, that they will make reparation so far as reparation is possible for injuries which are without measure, and that they will take immediate steps to prevent the recurrence of anything so obviously subversive of the principles of warfare, for which the imperial German government has in the past so wisely and so firmly contended.

"The government and people of the United States look to the imperial German government for just and prompt and enlightened action in this vital matter with the greater confidence because the United States and Germany are bound together not only by special ties of friendship, but also by the explicit stipulation of the treaty of 1828 between the United States and the Kingdom of Prussia.

"Expressions of regret and offers of reparation in case of destruction of neutral ships sunk by mistake, while they may satisfy international obligations, if no loss of life results, cannot justify or excuse a practice, the natural and necessary effect of which is to subject neutral nations and neutral persons to new and immeasurable risks.

"The imperial German government will not expect the government of the United States to omit any word or any act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizens, and of safeguarding their free exercise and enjoyment.

BRYAN."

NATION UNITED BEHIND PRESIDENT

BERLIN HOLDS ISSUE OF FUTURE

places the issue squarely before Germany for action, and an announcement of future policy acceptable to the United States government, particularly a policy of sea warfare, must not long be delayed.

COLUMBUS (O.) STATE JOURNAL—How Germans will promise to protect the lives and property of our people in the future, or in what manner this country will receive her refusal to, remains to be seen. It is a grave alternative; and while it is not likely to result in war, it will bring about an enmity toward Germany that will be full of anxiety.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) COURIER-JOURNAL—The note to Germany meets the requirements and is such as the government of the United States should address to Berlin. The President leaves little room for parley, and none other than mouthings or rupture remains for Germany.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) ANZEIGER—We agree with the President that the German government must explain the loss of the lives of American passengers, but we do not think the death of Americans gives the President the right to demand the cessation of Germany's undersea warfare against British commerce, so long as England does not abrogate its starvation warfare.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE—Whatever the fate of our relations with Germany, the President undoubtedly has voiced the sentiment of the nation upon the use of the submarine as to the rights of neutrals on the high seas.

CHICAGO HERALD—There is now no possibility of mistaking the position of our government. And it is a position in which the American people will sustain their government in whatever measures may be necessary to uphold it.

INDIANAPOLIS STAR — In manly fashion the President's note does not shrink from the logical questions of his position, but accepts the full significance of its attitudes.

ST. PAUL PIONEER-PRESS—The American note has reached to a wonderful height of forceful diplomacy. Hoping for the best, the [illegible] has done its [illegible] and the people will support the President through whatever [illegible] the consequences.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) STATE JOURNAL—It is the dignified protest of a nation which [illegible] feeling that its rights and the rights of other neutrals have been violated is neither vindictive nor resentful.

ST. LOUIS DIE WESTLICHE POST—For the press of the [illegible] country there is at present but one sacred duty to leave nothing undone to avert inner strife. That we [illegible] in descent with bleeding hearts, contemplate the possibility of an armed conflict between the United States and the land of our fathers. No fair minded person will condemn us for. There still [illegible] for [illegible] understanding of both sides. [illegible] Providence grant that the worst is averted.

ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC—There is not in the note any slightest hint that this government will stop short of the fullest reparation for the past and the guarantee of the full rights of American citizens in the future.

CINCINNATI VOLKSBLATT—The note is disappointing. [illegible] It disregards the just complaints of Germany and appears to espouse the cause of Great Britain. We think that the difficulty admits of a satisfactory solution by advising American citizens to travel on American vessels. Unwittingly, the President shelters British cowardice, which tries to make British ships immune to German attacks by taking American passengers aboard.

CINCINNATI FREI PRESSE—The part of the note dealing with the loss of lives in the Lusitania catastrophe more properly ought to have been directed to London. England alone is responsible for the Lusitania's destruction through her brutal threat to starve a nation. Germany cannot stop the undersea warfare without surrendering herself, bound hand and foot to a brutal enemy. We are not obliged and have no right to set up ourselves as the protectors of British shipping.

CINCINNATI COMMERCIAL TRIBUNE—The strength of a just man armed is apparent in the protest sent by President Wilson. Devoid of truculence, breathing the highest ideals of international justice, this remarkable paper, freighted with momentous possibilities, brushes aside all formalities and is frank, and in unmistakable language tells the Kaiser's government what the American people think of the series of incidents leading up to the slaughter of innocents on board the Lusitania.

WASHINGTON POST — The note is framed in moderate language and leaves abundant opportunity for the German government to reply in a way that will restore [illegible] feeling between the two [illegible]. The [illegible] lead to [illegible] with Germany [illegible] with the United States. The [illegible]

BOSTON GLOBE — [illegible]

BOSTON HERALD—[illegible] has never written a great [illegible] exactly [illegible] We have [illegible] President.

BOSTON JOURNAL — [illegible] war madness that [illegible]

BOSTON POST—The note is [illegible] to the aggressor [illegible] should be. It is the voice of the American people at its finest and best. It is a powerful appeal to German sanity.

PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER — The administration has spoken and spoken to the point. The German government cannot have the slightest doubt as to its meaning. Will Germany listen to the voice of prudence before it is too late?

COAST PRESS IN LINE WITH WILSON

Among editorial comments on the note to Germany are the following, from papers on the Pacific slope and in the far west:

SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE—Unmistakably firm, the note is yet friendly in tone and though this latter qualification may be displeasing to the jingoes it commends itself to the common sense of people unafflicted with inflammable hatred. The nation mourns the loss of her citizens, but while demanding justice, does so as one who would render justice to all others.

SACRAMENTO BEE — The American people today have rich reason to be proud of their President. Woodrow Wilson has met a grave crisis splendidly, facing it with firmness, without fireworks.

LOS ANGELES TIMES—It is apparent that the feeling and attitude of the President and his advisers is conciliatory. That is the state of mind of the country. But America will insist to the last that there be no more murderous attacks on merchantmen carrying non-combatants, women and children.

FRESNO REPUBLICAN—If Germany is prepared to make its submarine blockade of England [illegible] as well as psychological [illegible] to sure [illegible] government will yield to the argument except [illegible] that [illegible] contemplates [illegible] that the American nation [illegible] were so [illegible]

SEATTLE TIMES—[illegible] temperate and [illegible] note. [illegible] per cent of the American [illegible] President in his efforts [illegible] real American declaration [illegible]

SEATTLE POST-INTELLIGENCER—[illegible] declaration [illegible] American action and in support [illegible] will be no faltering [illegible]

SALT LAKE CITY [illegible] REPUBLICAN—It is gratifying to observe the President [illegible] correctly interpreting [illegible] opinion. Whatever [illegible] that ultimately take the country, even to the last [illegible] which the President [illegible] the people will cheerfully follow.

SALT LAKE CITY TRIBUNE—We take it for granted that the President in his note to the German government will be upheld with practical unanimity.

DENVER (COLO.) POST—The President's note to Germany is manly and patriotic. The stand of the United States is unquestionable, noting the suave and diplomatic expressions used. The red-blooded people of the West would have preferred a note containing a little more emphasis and a little less circumlocution. But anyhow, come what will, the contents of this note and its sentiment are indorsed by the unanimous sentiment of the great Rocky Mountain region.

BUTTE (MONT.) MINER—The question whether the United States is to take part in defense in this great war waged upon civilization no longer rests with it, but reposes entirely in the hands of the autocratic and blood-made ruler of Germany.

SAN FRANCISCO EXAMINER—In opening the broad question of the legality and propriety of a submarine blockade the President has abandoned the safe and firm basis of obvious and unquestioned American rights and ventures upon the debatable ground of international exigency and morality and has opened the way to a retort which it will be difficult for the United States to bear calmly.

PORTLAND (ORE.) TELEGRAM—The protest which this government has sent to Germany will meet with the fullest measure of enlightened expectation upon the part of the American people.

FRESNO (Cal.) HERALD—"If war comes the United States will stand firmly behind the dignified course of President Wilson."

COURTS WANT ROOMS

Demand Made on Board of Supervisors

Peremptory demand upon the board of supervisors to provide "suitable quarters" for eight departments of the Superior Court in Alameda county instead of six, including the Extra Sessions No. 1, which is now maintained, was made by the six judges yesterday in a communication sent to the board members meeting in committee.

Satisfied on their part that the provisions of the Tyrrell bill, which was adopted by the last legislature, will not relieve the local situation in the present emergency, the judges decided to take immediate action in steps to relieve their congested calendars through what will probably be almost continuous operation of two extra sessions.

The first of the year the judges, by order of court, created the two extra sessions for the present year. At that time a movement was on foot to put through a bill in the legislature which would empower the Governor to appoint two additional judges in this county.

Senator Tyrrell, heading an opposition to the measure, presented an amended bill which provided that the two judgeships should be allowed, but that the matter of filling the vacancies should go to the vote of the people [illegible] which bill was passed, and is now before Governor Johnson for signature.

In the communication to the supervisors the superior judges called attention to the fact that during the past, when two extra sessions were in operation one had to be held in the meeting rooms of the supervisors. This emergency provision is termed as unsatisfactory both to the bench and the members of the bar.

As the result of the communication it is probable that the supervisors will at once look about for some remedy as the court is empowered to order the sheriff to make the provisions desired in the emergency.

Extra Sessions No. 1 is already well provided for in the court house. But there is not much more available space in the old structure, or in the Hall of Records across the street. There is room in what was meant to be sheriff's residence on the second floor front in the county jail, but this is used for meeting rooms of the grand jury and for the department of the county sealer of weights and measures. The latter office is considered to be only in temporary quarters and the supervisors are seeking some remedy for the situation confronting them.

At present Superior Judge N. D. Arnot of El Dorado county and Superior Judge Milton T. Farmer of Kern county, are sitting in the two extra sessions. In the regular departments the calendars are crowded for many months in advance. It was after sizing up the situation that the judges en banc decided to put the matter before the supervisors.

METHODIST CHURCHES TO PICNIC TOMORROW

A picnic of east bay Methodist church members will be held at East Shore Park, Stege, tomorrow. The various Sunday schools of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda Methodist churches will compete in track events for a trophy now held by the school of the First church, Oakland.

Races will start at 1:30 o'clock and will include events for Sunday school superintendents and ministers. At 3 o'clock a musical program will be given, followed by monologues, a short play by young people of the First church, Oakland, and a Japanese wedding by young women from the First church, Berkeley.

ODD FELLOWS GUESTS OF ALAMEDA LODGES

The automobile ride completed, the visitors will be entertained at a banquet to be given in the new Odd Fellows' building at Eleventh and Franklin streets. At 8 o'clock this evening thousands of members of both organizations will gather at the municipal auditorium for a dance and entertainment.

COMMISSIONER TO FIGHT CHARGES

R. H. Curry and the Richmond Water Board to Start Battle in Courts.

The other members of the water commission who have been charged under the same complaint have engaged an attorney to defend them.

It is understood that Curry will make his fight separate from the other commissioners and that he will ask for a separate trial. It is planned to try the other commissioners at once in one suit.

HEIR TO MILLIONS WEDS

Secret Midnight Marriage Is Revealed

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14. — With strenuous efforts at secrecy, J. Parker Whitney, heir to the millions of the late J. Parker Whitney and Miss Louise Carpenter, nineteen years of age, were married last midnight by Justice of the Peace James G. Conlan.

Following the ceremony they went to the newly furnished home at 1512 California street. They will take a honeymoon trip to New York in a few days.

Mrs. Whitney is the daughter of Mrs. Allen L. Carpenter, St. Yvonne apartments, 1200 Taylor street. She and Whitney met two months ago at a dansant at the Fairmont hotel.

"It was a case of love at first sight," the couple explained.

"We are very happy," declared the bride. "My husband was a whirlwind wooer, but I don't mind one bit."

Parker is 36 years of age. This is his second venture into matrimony. On January 19, 1903, he eloped with Miss Daisy Parrott. He practically carried her away and the marriage was thereafter referred to as the "elope man romance." But in April, 1911, Miss Parker divorced the heir to millions on a charge of desertion.

The late J. Parker Whitney Sr., died in 1913, leaving an estate valued at $[illegible]. The heirs are Vincent Whitney, clubman and golf champion; Mrs. J. Columbus Wheeler and Parker Whitney who was a well known athlete at Harvard.

WELLS-FARGO LEASES CLAY STREET PROPERTY

A new indication of the turning of the business center to Clay street and of the drawing power of the big department stores is seen in a leasing transaction negotiated today by Herman Rittigstein, leasing manager of the Lawrance Real Estate company. It is the leasing of the store on the corner of Sixteenth and Clay streets in the new Hotel Touraine building to Wells Fargo Express company for the M. Friedman Realty Co. The lease is for a period of five years at a gross rental of about $15,000.

Learned No Lesson From Disaster Claim

NEW YORK, May 14.—In the federal proceedings now under way here by the White Star line for limitation of its liability for the sinking of the liner Titanic, a declaration made by Captain W. J. Turner, master of the Lusitania, the day before that steamer sailed on her last voyage, was read today. Captain Turner said the Titanic calamity had not added to marine knowledge of ice and how to avoid its perils at sea.

"I did not learn the slightest thing by the accident, it will happen again," he declared.

The cause of the Lusitania's sudden sinking after she had been torpedoed was the distance of three feet between her inner and outer skins, in the opinion expressed on the stand by Edward Wilding, a managing director of the firm of Harland and Wolff, who built the Titanic. The water must have rushed in between the two skins, filling the space, he thought.

A double skin is useless, he stated further, unless the transverse bulkheads are extended to the outer skin, which was not the case in the Lusitania.

"Duffy's A Lasting Benefit"

MR. FRED F. ZINK.

Her husband relieved of stomach trouble of 12 years' standing, Mrs. Zink wrote us over two years ago as follows:

"My husband suffered with stomach ach trouble for over 12 years, during which time he doctored with three doctors who gave him no relief. He kept growing worse, had to be very careful as to what he ate, as things always soured on his stomach, but thank God, after taking three bottles of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey he was entirely cured. He still takes it as a tonic and we would never be without it. He now looks fine and weighs 180 pounds. I can highly recommend it to any one afflicted with stomach trouble."—Mrs. Fred F. Zink.

She now writes that Duffy's is keeping them both in health:

"I am glad to say that my husband and I are still using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. He is as healthy as can be, and says that Duffy's is a flesh builder remedy that can be guaranteed to make any thin person stout. It is certainly increasing my weight fine."—(Signed Mrs. Fred F. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure tonic stimulant which should be in every home. It is made from sound grain thoroughly matured, including barley the most expensive grown. Repeated refinings, or distillations, are resorted to in order that injurious by-products may be removed. This leaves only the sound wholesome soul of the grain which gives to Duffy's the healthful benefit so necessary for medical use. That's why it helps improve the appetite and digestion, aids in making new rich blood, assists in rebuilding wornout tissues and feeding starved nerves. It's a medicine for all mankind which has stood the test for generations, and today men and women everywhere know from actual experience that they can always

AN ABSOLUTELY TRUE STORY

Of How E. L. Marshall of Shreveport, La., Was Cured of a Stomach Trouble That Kept Him Out of Work for Months.

Shreveport, La.—"I had a bad stomach trouble for years and became so weak I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was very poor, then my food would not digest, I bloated and was very weak and nervous, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. I was so bad I could not work for months at a time. I tried too many remedies to name, but without help. I saw Vinol advertised and tried it, and soon noticed an improvement. I continued its use and now my stomach trouble is completely cured. I am a well man, enjoying perfect health and have gained in weight."—E. L. Marshall, Shreveport, La.

The recovery of Mr. Marshall was due to the combined action of the medicinal tissue building elements of the extract of cod's livers, aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, contained in Vinol, which seldom fails to strengthen and tone up the tired, over-taxed and weakened nerves of the stomach and remove the trouble.

"Willingly, Amy! I could hardly wait, because I wanted you to know about that glorious store, too. It's CHERRY'S, Amy—it's their blessed INSTALLMENT PAYMENT SYSTEM that came to my rescue, just when I needed it so.

"My new suit, Amy, cost very little, compared to what you and the other girls pay. CHERRY'S do not charge high prices, but there's nothing in the looks of their stock to make you think so. CHERRY'S are just the fairest and most courteous people I ever saw. Why, they arranged CREDIT TERMS with me, just as easily and so cheerfully! Hundreds of the brightest people in town buy their CLOTHES THAT WAY AT CHERRY'S—it's really the only sensible way to do, Amy.

HOW TO DANCE 'PAVLOWANA' GREAT ARTIST EXPLAINS IT

PRETTY FIGURE FROM MLLE. PAVLOWA'S NEW DANCE, THE PAVLOWANA.

This article is one of an illustrated series on Anna Pavlowa's New Social Dances and How to Perform Them, which are to appear daily and exclusively in this newspaper. These articles have been written by Mme. Pavlowa, who, as premiere ballerina assoluta of the St. Petersburg Imperial Opera, is everywhere recognized as not only the greatest living dancer, but the greatest living authority on the art of the dance. The photographs were posed for by Mlle. Pavlowa and her partner, Ivan Clustine (maitre de ballet of the Imperial opera houses in St. Petersburg and Moscow and at the Paris Grand Opera), regarded as Europe's foremost masculine social dancer.

ARTICLE V.

(By Anna Pavlowa)

The fifth, and final, figure in the Pavlowana is now to be considered, one half of which I shall give in this article and the remainder in the next. In the suppiemental portion of the fourth figure the cavalier and his lady are, at its conclusion, placed facing each other, clasping right hands and standing so that each may take a step on either foot.

This first half of the figure is a forward walk on alternate steps on the first three counts of the music, so that the dancers may come into the position shown in the illustration on this page, which was reproduced from a photograph taken of me and M. Clustine, and on the fourth count a pause.

On the first beat of the musical measure the lady takes a forward step of about five inches, lifting the knee a trifle and pointing the toe so that the movement shall have all the statelliness possible. The second step, taken with the left foot, is similar in character to the first and of the same length, and comes on count "two." As the lady takes this step she should withdraw her right hand from that of her cavalier and carry it under his right arm, which he extends to her right.

With the third count the lady takes her final step forward on the right foot, places the fingers of her right hand in those of her cavalier's left which he is holding behind his back and without moving the left foot forward raises the heel from the floor. Her body is inclined toward the left, her head and shoulders slightly tilted, and the left hand rests on her left hip.

Meanwhile, the cavalier has proceeded much in the same way as his lady. On count "one" he has taken a short forward step with his right foot. Lifting the knee, and on the second count has taken another of that type on the left foot. And on this count, after releasing the hand of his lady he has extended his right arm so that on the third count the hand may come to a point just above his partner's left hip. As he takes his next step, on count three and with the right foot, the cavalier inclines his body a bit to the right and passing his left arm behind his back he takes with the left hand the right hand of his lady, which is close against his right side and under his right arm.

The fourth count is a pause for the dancers, who prepare in it for the continuation of the figure which which brings the Pavlowana to a close. I would caution all who undertake this new dance of mine to endeavor, during this pause, to maintain a perfect balance and, especially, to avoid "tetering."

BLUE BELL CLUB IN RAG DANCE TONIGHT

Members of the Blue Bell Club have completed arrangements for an informal rag dance to be held this evening at Maple Hall.

The affair is a benefit for an emergency fund for the club, and its many friends on both sides of the bay have promised to attend, and from indications the hall will be filled to its capacity.

The music has been carefully selected, including the latest and most popular hits of the season. The committee in charge has worked unceasingly in an effort to make this affair surpass previous successes of last season.

The following committees have the affair in hand:

BEATRICE McCALL FILES PROTEST ON "CLANSMAN"

To the Editor—As one of my duties as secretary of the Woman's Protective Bureau of Oakland is to work toward the betterment of conditions in theaters, permit me to protest against "The Clansman."

While it is a beautiful and artistic production, at the same time it is a dreadful portrayal of murder and wrong-doing. Certainly no community can be benefited by fostering hatred between two races that have much to forgive and forget on both sides.

BEATRICE McCALL,
Secretary Woman's Protective Bureau.

Baby's Happiness Depends On Health

Cross, fretful babies usually need a laxative to make them comfortable, and comfort begets happiness. Constipation is the cause of much discomfort. Mothers should watch closely the condition of their children's bowels and see that they are regular.

A mild, pleasant tasting laxative such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is ideal for children because of its natural composition and gentle action, and because it contains no opiate, narcotic or other harmful habit-forming drug. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists everywhere. A teaspoonful at bedtime will bring easy, certain relief.

A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

The Easiest Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger-tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

ORIENTAL PEACE PACT

Chinese Action Has Averted Hostilities

By Associated Press.

TOKIO, May 14.—Information has reached the Associated Press concerning the manner in which a peaceful adjustment of the differences between Japan and China was reached at a time when a rupture seemed possible. The elder statesmen advocated strongly a policy of moderation and their views finally prevailed. The demands of Japan were modified and China's acceptance followed.

The action taken by Japan represented a compromise. The elder statesmen urged, instead of the presentation of an ultimatum to China, the sending of a special mission to President Yuan Shi Kai in an effort to persuade him to accede to Japan's wishes. This plan was abandoned, however, in view of the aroused state of public feeling.

The cabinet held the view that public opinion demanded drastic action. The elder statesmen, however, felt that to send an ultimatum demanding acceptance of Japan's demands in full would involve a greater hazard than the government was justified in assuming. Marquis Matsukata, former premier, and Field Marshal Prince Yamagata of the military council of the empire, questioned the advisability of risking a war with China at a time when most of the world was in arms and Japan's finances were not in a condition to warrant a military adventure whose limits and outcome could not be foretold.

The adoption of this program was finally agreed to by both the cabinet and the elder statesmen who were in complete agreement at the end.

CHINESE MAKE STATEMENT.

PEKING, via London, May 14.—The Chinese governemnt has issued "a frank and plain statement" connected with "the drastic action of Japan" in presenting its ultimatum on May 7.

Contending that China aimed at the consolidation of the friendship existing between China and Japan and was particularly solicitous for the preservation of peace in the far east, the statement says:

"Unexpectedly, on January 18, Japan adopted the usual course of presenting a list of 21 momentous demands arranged in five groups. The first four groups were each introduced by a preamble, but there was no explanation to the fifth group. Respecting the character of the demands in this group, however, no difference was indicated in the document between them and those embodied in the preceding groups.

"Although there was no cause for such a demurche, the Chinese government, in deference to the wishes of the Japanese government immediately agreed to open negotiations on those articles which it was possible for China to consider. Despite the palpableness of the whole of the demands, being intended to extend the rights and interests of Japan without securing a quid pro quo of any kind for China, China approached the pending conference in a spirit of the utmost friendliness and with the determination to deal with all questions frankly and sincerely.

"The documents comprising about the questions raised by Japan as to the formation and procedure of the conferences and about the questions raised by Japan as to the formation and procedure of the conferences and about Japan's refusal to agree to sign the minutes of the conferences and the suspensions of meetings, obviously with the object of compelling compliance with the views of the Japanese minister."

Even when Japan dispatched large bodies of troops to Shan Tung province and Manchuria, with the ostensible purpose of relieving the garrisons, it is pointed out China, although the action caused indignation and alarm on the part of the Chinese people, exerted its influence to prevent a rupture of the negotiations.

"Throughout the conferences," the statement says, "The Chinese government steadfastly strove to arrive at amicable settlement and made every concession possible. Of the twenty-one demands submitted China agreed to fifteen, some in principle, some textually, six of them being initiated by both parties."

The statement concludes:

"Owing to the bitter experiences which China has sustained in the past in connection with leased portions of her territory, it has become a settled policy not to grant further leases nor extend the term of those now in existence. Therefore it was a significant indication of China's desire to meet Japan's wishes when she agrees to this exceptional departure from her settled policy."

THE PRESIDENT'S NOTE TO GERMANY.

The full text of President Wilson's note to the German government goes further than was intimated in the summarized version previously given out. The demand, closely interpreted, is for cessation of submarine warfare against merchant vessels—our own or any other. This form of warfare, the President maintains, cannot be carried on either with respect to the rules of civilized war as they have hitherto been understood, or within the bounds of humane action.

That Germany will tamely accept this demand and readjust her practice in line with it is hardly thinkable. A nation flushed with the war spirit, and in a position wherein it is necessary to defend policies and operations deliberately practiced, is not likely to bow its head meekly in acceptance of moral admonition. Germany may not, from now on, pursue aggressively the policy so horribly illustrated in the case of the Lusitania. Probably in respect of the world's opinion she will slow down her aggressive energies. But that she will in terms accept reproof and in terms acknowledge wrongdoing, is not to be expected. It is not the way of nations to thus back down. Invariably their practice is to make some sort of show under the Oriental idea of "saving face." We shall have no more incidents like that of the Lusitania. But Germany will not now or at any future time make humble acknowledgment and in contrite spirit accept reproof.

The concluding phrase in the President's letter will not be taken seriously at home or anywhere else. That the United States will not "omit any word of act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty," etc., etc., is purely for the sake of sound. War under any circumstances is no part of the President's idea. There is, in truth, no occasion for it. If the German government shall fail to accept the President's theories and demands with their implied rebuke it will be only the beginning of an interchange of diplomatic notes. This will last until the war ends. Then some kind of international congress will rewrite the rules of war, which, beyond a doubt, will put the ban on submarine assaults against merchant ships.

Practically the effect of the President's letter is to declare the horror and resentment of the American people in respect to the Lusitania incident. This has probably been done as well as it could be done under the method which Mr. Wilson has chosen. A more emphatic way, we think, would have been for the President to have sent the German diplomatic representatives in this country their passports. In choosing the other course Mr. Wilson has no doubt acted with respect of considerations of which the President must be the judge.

AS TO OTHER GRIEVANCES.

Now that the Washington government has gotten its energies into action in connection with infringements of international law, as such law affects the rights of neutrals, there ought to be no letting up until certain matters, other than those involved in the case of the Lusitania, are threshed out. Without assuming expert knowledge of international law, we may still assert with positiveness that the right of the United States, a neutral, to commercial interchanges with other neutrals is not affected by the fact that certain other nations are at war. There is neither logic nor common sense in the assumption that any nation at war has the right to vise or detain—much less take over—the cargo of an American ship trading between this country and Holland, or Denmark, or Sweden, or any other neutral country and any theory to the contrary must in the very nature of things be in contravention of international law.

Yet certain American ships so trading with other neutral countries have during the present war, been held up on the high seas, have been taken into the ports of countries at war and have there been appropriated, subject to future compensation for damages. As a very notable instance of this species of violation of neutral rights may be cited in the case of the Wilhelmina. A British ship of war stopped the Wilhelmina, took her to a British port, where her cargo was taken over upon the theory that its ultimate destination might be a country which is at present at war. The cargo was practically confiscated in the sense that it was taken from the ship and applied under British authority to British uses, leaving to the American owners nothing more tangible than a damage claim. This claim, no doubt, will be duly paid. But payment of damage does not go to the root of the grievance. It does not compensate interference with established and legitimate commerce. It still leaves the injury of disturbed relations and the insult of an arbitrarily imposed authority over a private enterprise.

In relation to the incident of the Wilhelmina and others less notable, the Washington government has not carried itself either efficiently or with dignity. It has not sustained our neutral rights. It has submitted tamely to an indignity to the American flag and to injury of American merchants and ship owners. Now that he is about the business of defining international law and of asserting our rights under it, President Wilson would do well to take up the cases relating to violated rights of free commerce between neutral countries and insist upon the respect due to the American flag.

There have been intimations, having the support of suggestive circumstances, that the Washington government is unwilling to enforce rules with England which it insists upon in the case of Germany. This is a serious indictment and one which, if it has any basis in fact, means that the country seems suddenly to tends to nullify our pretentions of neutrality and to establish our affiliations with England. International sympathies are not matters of law. They are not controllable with respect to laws, rules or usages. But sympathy is one thing and conduct is another. We lie under every motive of maintaining toward all countries at war precisely the same general attitude. We cannot make flesh of one and fowl of another. If we insist that Germany must do or refrain from doing certain things, then under the first principles of consistency we must enforce the same demands upon Great Britain. The point is self-evident. It is not debatable. We shall convict ourselves as traitors to our neutrality if we accept from the one country a kind of treatment which we resent from another.

THE COLD LIGHT OF SCIENCE.

The cold, inexorable, scientific investigator who knows what he is about and who is a genuine seeker for truth and knowledge has administered another discouraging rebuke to the hysterical, overactive, half-baked innovators. This time it is those silly people who lost their heads over the so-called science of eugenics, who are the subject of merited reproof. The American Genetic Association, an organization comprising most of the serious students of heredity in the United States and largely officered by accredited scientists of the Federal government, has been giving its attention to the so-called eugenics bills which have been introduced into the legislatures of thirteen states, and some of which have been passed.

Dr. W. C. Rucker, assistant surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, who is secretary of the association's committee on education, declares that these bills have nothing whatever to do with eugenics. Of course, what he practically says in effect is that the people who drew them, who have been talking loudly and it seems ignorantly about them, had no exact or scientific knowledge of the subject. Eugenics, says Dr. Rucker, is a science. "It is a fact, not a fad. It is a means for the continued betterment of the race stock." At present it cannot countenance any attempt to interfere with marriage by law."

Nebraska, Washington, Iowa and Missouri have considered laws which provide for the sterilization of the insane and feeble-minded persons and some other classes of degenerates in state institutions. Dr. Rucker says people of this kind should be kept shut up and properly cared for, in which case sterilization is unnecessary, and that "legislative tendencies in this direction are of little value to the science of eugenics."

Vermont, South Dakota, New York, Indiana, Missouri, Oregon, Illinois, Nebraska and Wisconsin are considering either the passage of so-called eugenic marriage laws or the amendment of existing laws, making a health certificate necessary before marriage.

Dr. Rucker very properly points out that this is a matter of preventive medicine, with which the science of eugenics has nothing whatever to do, and with equal propriety he protests against eugenics being confused with the sex hygiene campaign. He is of the opinion that neither the science of eugenics or popular sentiment is ready for legislation which is calculated to put additional restrictions upon marriage, insofar as those restrictions are strictly eugenic rather than hygienic in intent. What he and his colleagues in the American Genetic Association want is first to promote research in heredity; second, to widely disseminate among the people an understanding of the laws of heredity. This, it will be perceived, is widely different from the attempts of the undereducated reformers and state legislators who have been trying to meddle both with the marriage conventions of the church and with the laws of nature.

It is interesting as noting the advance of American dressmakers in the creation of fashion types that a New York firm has adopted the Parisian method of trying out new and original styles. At a big public meet of the Rockaway Hunt Club at Hewlett, Long Island, last week several young women were present illustrating novelties in costume. This has long been the Parisian method where models, dubbed "manikins," are sent by the more enterprising dressmakers to mingle on popular occasions among fashionable folk for the purpose of trying out and advertising the newest designs. It has long been said that the American public would not tolerate this kind of exploitation. But the experiment of last week seems to prove this idea to be a mistaken one. The presence of young women at the Rockaway Club meet in rather startling costume effects merely excited the amusement of the crowd.

It is noted as illustrating the dependence of the modern world upon recent inventions that any nation which might have exclusively the secret of the internal combustion engine could conquer the world. A nation which could corner the gasoline supply would become by that fact the dominant military power. The automobile has without question become the most important factor in modern warfare. Without motor traffic the present war in Europe would have been impossible. Under ordinary circumstances there would have been great battles, comparable to the struggles at Gettysburg and Waterloo. But an army crushed would remain crushed. But by the use of the automobile reinforcements can be thrown here and there almost as a man would fling a handful of grain.

During the present year scores of conventions, most of them national, will meet here and in San Francisco to discuss their problems. The greatest problem of any people or set of people is happiness. California was made for happiness, the city of Oakland is full of happy homes. This side of the bay offers ideal locations for many to return and settle here. People who come to attend conventions are very easily reached. And, by all means, let us reach them, let us inform them of what we have for them. Some movement should be organized to this effect. Now is the time and these are the right kind of people. The more we have of them the better, and what we would share with them they need even more.

There is universal dread in the countries round about Serbia that the dread typhus which is now devastating that region will extend its ravages. By way of protection against it the authorities of Constantinople have engaged an American physician, Dr. Alden R. Hoover, one of the staff of the American Board of Foreign Missions, to direct a campaign of sanitation. Dr. Hoover's object, according to his own definition, is "to clean up Turkey." The magnitude of this job can only be conceived by those who have had personal observation of the conditions and habits of Turkish life.

One of the curious effects of the war, as it relates to the several countries engaged in it, is that the horses now in domestic use are either so old or broken down as to be unavailable for military service or white in color. The armies do not want white horses. They first attract notice and then afford a mark for the guns. A correspondent of the Associated Press who has recently motored through the active war zone in Northern France declares that the country seems suddenly to have filled up with white horses.

Joseph B. Pennell, the artist, was the guest of honor yesterday afternoon of the San Francisco Society of Artists, before which he made an address concerning art in general and the etchings of James McNiel Whistler in particular. Pennell waxed eloquent on the genius of Whistler, and spoke not only of the generality of his work, but the opportunity afforded at the present time to visitors at the exposition to see some of the best Whistler examples.

The Time to Love.

"I love my love in the springtime,"
Declared a poet mild.
"I need not buy her roses high,
for then they blossom wild."

"I love my love in the springtime,
The lark its song repeats.
Since they suffice, I save the price
Of operatic seats."

"I love my love in the springtime,
The pride of poet men,
For poets poor you may be sure
'Tis better loving then."
—Philadelphia Bulletin.

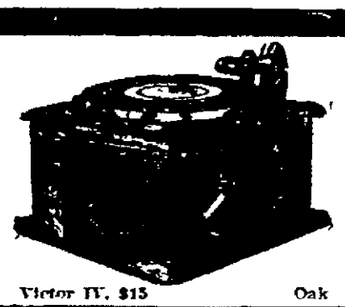

Some of the Kansas towns have put up an entire ticket of women officials, on the ground that "they can't possibly do any worse than the men have done." This is a left-handed compliment whose chief merit is truth.

WILDFLOWERS TO BE EXHIBITED

California Botanical Society to Open Display at Oakland Museum Tomorrow.

Lock picking isn't a fine art with the members of the California Botanical Society. Therefore they were at a loss when a strong box filled with rare specimens of wild flowers to be exhibited at a wild flower show in the Oakland museum tomorrow arrived this morning from the other end of the state minus a key. The box was brass bound and too valuable to be broken open. After a lengthy but fruitless debate over the problem of the locked case a locksmith was called in.

The wild flower exhibit will be open to the public at the museum all day tomorrow. The public has also been invited to a meeting of the California Botanical Society in the museum in the evening. Many interesting varieties of flowers have been gathered from different parts of the state. [illegible] plant, which on account of its poisoning of horses and cattle is giving farmers much concern. A special display is formed of varieties of the pea family. Among the exhibitors are Mrs. Oscar Mauer, San Diego; Mrs. D. O. Hunt, St. Helena; Mrs. F. B. Davis, Carmel; Mrs. Claude Leech, Walnut Creek; Mrs. R. Kuhn, Del Mar.

Professor T. H. Goodspeed, of the botanical department of the University of California, and Mrs. Norman D. Kelly. The committee in charge of the arranging of classification of the exhibits consists of Miss Harriett A. Walker, chairman; Mrs. Dudley Baird and Mrs. Edward Kluegel.

MOTHERS' RECEPTION.

FRUITVALE, May 14.—The Allendale Mothers' Club will hold a special meeting Friday, May 21, to arrange a reception for the graduates of the school in connection with the closing exercises. The new officers will be seated at this meeting, which will be the last held by the club before vacation.

SCION OF HIGH AUSTRIAN HOUSE IS RETURNED FOR ALLEGED CHECK-PASSING

FRESNO, May 14.—Attired in a "natty traveling suit," an overcoat of latest cut and a wide-trimmed Panama hat flamboyantly trimmed with ribbon, Count Sergius Appaxin, son of an Austrian nobleman, stepped from an inbound train yesterday in the custody of Sergeant Wickstrom, who had returned him from Los Angeles to this city for passing a bad check on the Grand Central hotel, about a month ago.

After spending a bad day in the hold-over tank in the county jail, with an assorted crowd of "drunks" and vagrants, the count was permitted to have a cell in the six months' cell last night, where there were fewer cellmates to ridicule the lavender pajamas and a manicure set.

Judge Smith was busy with a civil case yesterday and could not arraign the count. In the jail, he demanded his Gladstone bag, which contained his traveling requisites. These were carried to the upper tier cells by two of the trusties last night, when Sergius made ready to retire.

As for newspaper publicity, the count thinks he has had plenty. Two years ago he electrified Los Angeles by the manner in which he spent several thousands of dollars, and later by being jailed for passing a bad check fon $15. Yesterday he refused to discuss his case.

"I know nothing of the charges, yet," he finally answered in response to half a dozen questions. "I will say nothing further until I have been before a court."

MOTION PICTURES TO BE CALVARY SERMONS

The value of motion pictures in teaching the great moral facts of life through the eye is being realized by the modern church. Calvary Congregational church (formerly Fourth), Thirty-sixth and Grove streets, has announced that for three Sundays there will be filmed the great scenes from Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables." The presentation is under the auspices of the Men's Club. The scenes of the powerful story of regeneration to be shown next Sunday evening will be portrayed under the subject, "Jean Valjean, the Thief." The evening address by Rev. Roy H. Campbell will be an outline of the story and an interpretation of the scene in the priest's house when Jean Valjean is arrested for stealing the candlesticks. Owing to the discussion as to the value of "The Clansman," now being shown in Oakland, which has appeared in the Outlook, the Congregationalist and other Congregational magazines, Calvary church has announced a public address by Mr. Campbell, Wednesday evening, May 19, on "What Would Booker T. Washington Say of 'The Clansman?' "

CIVIL SERVICE EXAM. POSTPONED BY WASHOUT

Scheduled for today, the civil service examination which was to have been held for the position of superintendent of Oakland parks, has been postponed until tomorrow by a washout on the Shasta line of the Southern Pacific, near Dunsmuir.

E. T. Mische, landscape gardener of Portland, applicant for the position, is stalled on the train and will not arrive until late today. In a telegram to Secretary Frank Colbourn of the civil service board he asked for a postponement. With the consent of six other applicants this was agreed upon.

The board is being assisted in the test by Prof. J. W. Gregg, head of the landscape gardening department of the University of California, and John McLaren, superintendent of parks of San Francisco.

Lee S. Kerfoot is at present acting as superintendent of parks, and he will take the test tomorrow.

MELROSE WOMEN URGE MOVEMENT FOR PEACE

MELROSE, May 14.—Many club and social leaders in this district are keenly interested in the peace movement and are circulating petitions throughout the neighborhood to secure the support of local women in the nation-wide crusade. These are being largely signed and will later be sent to the headquarters of the peace propagandists.

"Although we may not belong to the fighting countries, we women are shocked at the terrible course of events in Europe. Whether the peace movement taken up by American women will have any beneficial effect is a question, but at least it shows how our sentiments lie," remarked a prominent Melrose clubwoman, who is assisting in circulating the petitions.

MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Plover, Iowa.—"From a small child my 13 year old daughter had female weakness. I spoke to three doctors about it and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound according to directions on the bottle and she is cured of this trouble. She was all run down when she started taking the Compound and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy."—Mrs. MARTIN HELVIG, Plover, Iowa.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

ROBBER ACCUSES BANKS HE ROBBED

Outlaw Gets Nickels, He Says, But Bank Tells Papers of Thousands.

CHANDLER, Okla., May 14.—Henry Starr, outlaw, who was seriously wounded by a boy, following a bank robbery at Stroud, lies immovable on a cot in the county jail here.

He is part Cherokee Indian. He says he is only three-eighths Indian, but he looks more.

"I never took a drink of liquor in my life," he said, "never smoked nor chewed, and never drank a cup of coffee.

"I STARTED IN YOUNG."

"What became of the old Henry Starr, the old outlaw of years ago?" he was asked.

"You see him before you," he said. "I am the only Henry Starr outlaw there ever was. You see, I started in young. Father was a good man, a cattleman, and he gave me a good rearing. My mother is as dear and sweet an old lady as you ever met. My father has been dead a long time and my mother is married again. Her name is Gordon. She lives in Stillwell."

[illegible] the story of his crimes up to the Amity (Col.) bank robbery, for which he served three years in the Colorado penitentiary.

"I got home June 11 last," he continued. "I strayed around till September, and between May and September fourteen banks were robbed in Oklahoma. They knew I was here. They blamed them all on me. I didn't have a hand in one of them. Since 1907 there have been 201 banks robbed in Oklahoma. The whole state got excited over it. They got after me, and they chased me hard, and last September I broke over. They ought not lay all these bank robberies on me. I couldn't do them all.

"IT'S A BUM BUSINESS

"And, say, let me tell you right here, these bankers know how to make a little on this robbery business, too. It's a fact I'm telling you, that one bank was robbed and the boys got only $150 in silver, but those bankers gave it out that they lost $2,600, and the insurance company paid them that much. They made nearly $2,500 by that deal. Another time the boys got $900, and the bank hollered for $3400 and got every cent from the insurance company.

"Another thing, outlaws don't get much. I never got enough to pay. That's sure. The banks give it out that there's been a big haul and the poor outlaw [illegible] a bum business. Why, just look at this last robbery. Two banks at once, and only about $5000 haul, and seven people to split it among. Nothing in it."

MASTODON BASE 200 SQARE FEET

Mounted Monster Shown in Museum of Wisconsin University.

MADISON, Wis., May 14.—A skeleton of the mastodon, the most gigantic of all land animals that has ever lived in the present or in the past, found near Richland Center, is now on exhibition in the room of prehistoric animals in Science hall at the University of Wisconsin.

Mounted on a base containing 200 square feet, and kept rigid and in place by steel beams, this colossal skeleton stands as a fitting example of the prehistoric past. It is nearly fifteen high and measures over 20 feet from tail to nose. The bones of its legs and body are big and bulky in size and show a tremendous power. The joints at the knee are over a foot in thickness.

The body, if one is to judge by the skeleton, was almost too heavy for the legs, for it is over three feet from a rib on one side to a rib on the other, over twice the diameter of th famous German 42-centimeter gun.

The nearest example today of the mastodon is the elephant, which is said to be a distant relative. The chief difference between these two creatures is in the nature of their teeth. The mastodon receives its name from this distinctive feature, the rounded protuberance of the crown of its teeth. Each rounded tooth is the size of a man's fist, and it has two rows of them.

These immense beasts formerly ranged over the United States and Canada, and even went as far north as Alaska. Because of enormous bulk and lack of intelligence they were unable to retreat before the glacier that passed over the northern part of the United States.

Some were caught in the mires and were unable to extricate themselves; others were unable to pass through the dense forest growth, and still others strayed from their mates and died.

MELROSE SOCIAL CLUB WANTS O. E. S. CHAPTER

MELROSE, May 14.—A select musical program was a feature of an entertainment given by the Melrose Social Club in the Melrose hall this week. The entertainment was one of a series the club will give during the summer.

Among the attractive numbers were selections by the Wheeler concert orchestra, baritone solo, R. E. Kern; soprano solo, Mrs. T. D. M. Lord, Berkeley; soprano solo, Mrs. F. W. Davis; soprano and baritone duo, R. E. Kern and Mrs. F. H. Davis.

Guests at this affair were residents in the district who have signed a petition in favor of the institution of a Melrose Chapter of the Eastern Star, which the social club will assist in forming. Mrs. Fanny Lowell, of Wheatfield, was a guest of honor. The new chapter is likely to be organized soon with a large membership. A whist tournament will be held by the club Monday evening, May 17. Mrs. J. Sawyers and Mrs. F. Brevort are in charge of this event.

URGES FARMERS TO SEND PRODUCTS TO FAIR

HAYWARD, May 14.—In urging farmers to exhibit their products at the Exposition, H. R. Robinson, president of the Alameda County Farm Bureau, has sent out the following letter:

"This county now has a chance to secure the grand prize for fruit, vegetables and grains as well as stock at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The judges are now judging vegetables and it is hoped growers will act promptly in sending in products of special merit.

"At the St. Louis Exposition this county won the grand prize for vegetables against the whole world. With the Exposition at our very door we should certainly do as well this year. Send your exhibits by Wells-Fargo Express to F. P. Parsons, 465 First street. Besides the prizes to the individual exhibitor the county at the same time will have credit for the exhibit. We have the best county in the state and it is now up to the people to call the attention of the whole world to this fact."

Tentative plans were made for the 1916 convention to be held in San Diego. More than 10,000 persons witnessed the annual parade through the business district [illegible] playing an important part. Herbert Choynski of San Francisco, the newly elected state president, presided at the final session.

Bushrod Park, Shattuck avenue, between Fifty-ninth and Sixty-first streets, 10 a. m.

Bella Vista playgrounds, East Oakland, 11:30 a. m.

Lockwood school playgrounds, 1 p. m.

These are the places and hours of the Camera Man's appearance tomorrow to get pictures of the boys and girls of Oakland.

(By THE CAMERA MAN.)

Boys and girls, I'll see you tomorrow! As I said, if fair weather keeps up I want to get you all. I want every boy and girl to have a chance to see the exposition as a guest of The Tribune—and so I want all the boys and girls in the different neighborhoods to meet me tomorrow. I've tried to divide up my hours so as to cover Oakland. If I haven't done it I'll try again.

So remember, boys and girls that tomorrow I take every one who meets me! I don't care how many of you there are—the more the merrier—even if it's a regular army of boys and girls.

Boys and girls in West Oakland—meet me at the Prescott playground, Tenth and Campbell, at 9 o'clock. I want every one there—the regular attendants at the playground and every one else who wants to see the fair. Give every one a chance.

Children of North and Central Oakland can meet me at 10 o'clock tomorrow at Bushrod Park. Come along—all of you!

East Oakland children may meet me at the Bella Vista playgrounds, where I'll be at 11:30, and at 1 o'clock I'll be at the Lockwood school.

So remember the places and the times, boys and girls, and meet me—surely!

In the meantime I hope you've clipped those free swim coupons. I'd like to see a good representation at the Piedmont Baths next week—and I can assure every boy and girl clipping the coupons a splendid time! The series ends for the week tomorrow.

KILLING OF SEALS URGED BY EXPERTS

Herd Increased as Result of Restrictions; Treaties May Be Endangered.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Congressional legislation to carry out recommendations of a commission of three scientific experts with a view to resumption of commercial killing of seals at the Pribilof Islands in the Bering Sea will be recommended next winter by the secretary of commerce, William C. Redfield, according to present expectations. The ultimate future of the Alaska seal herd has been a vexed international problem for years.

Canada and Japan, which are interested financially in the American herd by the terms of a treaty which abolished pelagic sealing, made an investigation contemporaneously with the American experts. Both governments have made representations to the United States that the condition of the seal herd warrants resuming sealing operations at once.

The report of the three American experts, submitted to congress in its closing days and about to be published is by Wilfred H. Osgood, Edward A. Preble and George H. Parker, selected by the National Academy of Science, the Smithsonian Institution and the secretary of agriculture at the instance of the secretary of commerce. These men investigated conditions on the Pribilof Islands last summer.

Their report, whose revision has just been completed, points out that the treaty effective December 15, 1911, between the United States, Great Britain, Japan and Russia, is essentially an agreement by which the foreign nations relinquish their right to take seals on the high seas in exchange for a share in land sealing to be conducted by the United States. Great Britain and Japan paid large sums to retire their sealing fleets, "obviously expecting to be reimbursed in the near future by their 15 per cent share of land sealing." The United States reserved the right to suspend land sealing if necessary to protect and reserve the seal herd and to increase its number. This suspension occurred in 1912. The report contends that now, after three seasons without commercial sealing, there is no necessity for continued suspension.

MAY ENDANGER TREATY.

"The conditions of the seal herd in 1914," says the report, "is such that resumption of commercial sealing on a moderate scale in 1915 could be undertaken with confidence that the protection and growth of the herd would not be jeopardized in the slightest degree. The inference is clear that unless sealing is resumed agitation will continue and integrity of a most desirable treaty endangered."

The voluminous report states that the people of the Pribilof Islands, though not natives, have for so long made the islands their home that they recognize no other. "They are a people still semi-civilized," says the report. They constitute a heritage acquired by the United States with the islands and their valuable habits and considerations of economy and humanity demand that they be accepted as such and managed with all possible wisdom and fairness.

"Many changes in the methods of dealing with the natives seem to be necessary. In their management a great deal will depend o nthe personality of the officials in charge. It is believed that the work necessary to put the sealing plant on an efficient basis and the resumption in the near future of commercial sealing, accompanied by a better system of compensation and the opportunity of exchanging the reward of their labor according to their desires, will help to make the natives self-respecting and the people may become an entirely self-supporting, efficient, happy community."

There are good reasons, from both economy and welfare of the seal herd, to resume commercial sealing at once, the report concludes. There should be only two restrictions to practically guarantee growth and preservation of the herd. These are that females should not be killed for their skins or for food and that breeding bulls should be maintained in numbers sufficient to supply one to each forty bearing cows.

NATURE IN CHARGE.

The report says the management of all the animals should be placed in charge of a specially qualified officer and the natives and the fiscal affairs under another officer, the former having senior rank. That the Pribilof seal herd is not on the verge of extinction is asserted, with the declaration that complete rehabilitation of the herd be confidently expected in view of its present size and condition. "Provisions commensurate with the needs and importance of the property involved," the report adds, "are to be regarded as wise investments and curtailment of operations at this time is not justified by conditions."

Among statements by the three experts are:

"The fur seal herd contains approximately 294,000 individuals, 93,250 of them bearing female seals. The ratio of one seal bull to forty bearing cows meets all possible demands of safety and conservation. The law of 1912, stopping commercial killing has greatly increased the male seals. The male seals will be greatly in excess in 1916. The herd is in excellent condition. Yearling seals rarely come to land at all until after the close of the killing season. The increase in the number of bearing seal cows was small. Marking of breeding reserves with a permanent hot iron brand is practicable. Method of killing seals is not objectionable from the humane standpoint but shorter drives are desirable. Dead animals should be measured before they are skinned, the present system of weighing being antiquated. Buildings, transportation methods and methods of work need general reforms. The fox herd is in poor condition, the reindeer herd is increasing, sea lions and certain birds need continued protection. The natives constitute a serious problem, their condition, while far from hopeless, is not creditable to the government."

RENO TAKES ACTION TO REGULATE ITS SALOONS

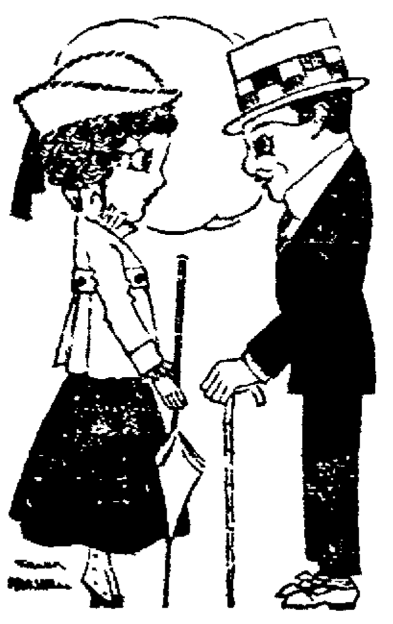

RENO, Nev., May 14.—Steps are being taken to draw a new ordinance for regulating saloons and cafes in Reno as a result of the announcement made by Mayor Byington Monday night that the chief of police is to be given a free hand in handling these places.

One feature that will be embodied in the ordinance probably will be a section providing for 1 o'clock closing and prohibiting dancing in cafes and saloons.

Chief of Police Hillhouse, who was reappointed for his third term Monday night by unanimous vote of the city council, says that there is but little use trying to regulate saloons and cafes under the present city ordinances, and has asked that more stringent city laws be framed. The Business Men's Association also recommended that the chief of police be given a free hand in handling the saloons and cafes and that the council stand back of him in whatever he might feel justified in doing.

BIG STREET PAVING PLAN IS FORMULATED

YUBA CITY, May 14.—Within the next few days there will be important developments in the matter of paving the streets of the city it is announced. The tentative plans have been held up because of the absence of City Attorney Lawrence Schillig from town.

Attorney Schillig has returned from Sacramento and immediately took up the work of drafting the legal phases of the matter. Two propositions are to be considered by the city attorney at the instance of the board of trustees and citizens' committee. One is to call a bond issue to vote on the question of whether or not to bond the town for the amount necessary to construct the streets as planned, while the other is to provide for the work by a direct tax.

The advisability of proceeding with such plans from a legal standpoint will be probed by the city attorney, who will report his findings within a few days after which time some definite action toward calling an election may result. It is planned to rush the plans for election, that a vote may be obtained at as early a date as possible and therefore insure the completion of the work, if favored by the electors, this year.

DANGER OF MOBS GREATEST IN N. Y.

No City Is Better Equipped to Suppress Riots, Says Chief Inspector.

NEW YORK, May 14.—New York in the United States faces so much danger from mobs and none is so well equipped to prevent mob violence or stop a mob after it gets into action. This is the belief of Max Schmittberger, chief inspector of the New York police.

Because of its large foreign population, the metropolis is peculiarly exposed to danger from mobs, according to Chief Inspector Schmittberger. He cites the continual, especially although relatively safe outbreaks of the I. W. W.'s the tong feuds in Chinatown and race riots. Not in years has New York suffered real danger from a mob. The chances are it never will again, according to the chief inspector, despite the influx of ignorant foreigners.

The police has "battle" plans all ready for use in case of a mob running riot in any part of the big city. Inspector Schmittberger has recently been supplementing these plans by holding a "class" of policemen in the police training school course on how to cope with mobs, the best methods of handling a riot and mob sychology.

"Mobs are cowards," Schmittberger declares. "They only gain courage as they find that those whose duty it is to suppress them are cowards themselves. A mob is not to be feared when it is first aroused. It is only as its passion is whetted by the taste of blood, or its regard for pillage is gratified, that it becomes dangerous.

NEVER TRY TO "BLUFF."

"Never try to bluff a mob, never threaten to do things you do not intend to do or that you know would be illegal if you did them. Should your 'bluff be called,' the mob would neither respect nor fear you, and the result would probably be that the mob would become more lawless and outrageous.

"The commanding officer of a body of policemen should always bear in mind these three things:

"First, as the use of force is only justified by the necessity of the occasion, it follows that only so much force shall be used as the necessity of the case requires, and the use of force should not be continued longer than is absolutely necessary. Secondly, every effort to induce or force the rioters to disperse should be used before ordering subordinates to use force.

"The New York police force," said the chief inspector, "faces a unique problem on account of the large proportion which the foreign element forms in the population of this city. The percentage of foreign born is 43 per cent. for New York, while that of the big metropolis in Europe is very much smaller, running from 6 per cent in Vienna. Where you have foreigners you have people who have brought with them the customs, prejudice, and feuds of other lands. These factors tend to increase the possibilities of mobs and riots."

GERMS STOP BATHING.

Juvenile New York is shouting anathmas upon the health office. Abolishment of the "old swimmin' hole" is what is causing the youthful woe and wrath. Instead of laving their bodies these warm spring days in the Hudson, East River and Gravesend Bay, the boys are kept by watchful police sitting on the piers and dolefully looking at the rippling waves. It's unhealthy to baths in the lower waters, below the city line, because of the danger from germs. Over 70,000,000 gallons of sewage are emptied daily in to the waters around New York. A dozen big bathing establishments are also forced to put in gigantic filters or go out of business. On the sly, however, some of the youngsters are taking a chance of "catching" a germ.

ARMED MEN AND WOMEN GUARD LAND AT SEWARD

SEWARD, Alaska, May 14. — Armed with rifles, men and women are guarding against claim jumpers following a stampede of more than 200 to the Alaska Northern railroad terminal tract adjoining the Seward townsite.

The sixty acres in this tract had been granted by the government to the railroad for terminals. As the land reverts to the government when the purchase of the Alaska Northern is completed in July, rumors were current that it would be thrown open to settlement. This caused the stampede.

The land is worth more than $1,000,000. Government officials, however, say the squatters have no right to the land, and it probably will be used by the government for railroad headquarters.

Tents are being put up by the rain soaked stampeders, many of whom have slept overnight on the bare ground. A few clashes have occurred between squatters, but none of a serious nature.

NEWS OF SAN JOSE

What Busy Santa Clara Valley Is Doing

WOMAN FAILS TO GET GOLD BALM

Would-be Bride, Who Answered Advertisement, Loses Her Suit.

SAN JOSE, May 14.—A jury returned a verdict at 11 o'clock last night, after fourteen hours' consideration, deriving damages to Miss Marjorie Kerr of British Columbia, who asked balm in the sum of $50,000 from M. J. Roche, a rich Santa Clara rancher, for breach of promise. Miss Kerr alleged that she came here in answer to a request from Roche to marry him after a brief correspondence which began when she saw his advertisement for a wife in a matrimonial paper.

Roche said in the advertisement that he was worth $70,000. He put off the wedding from time to time, Miss Kerr alleged, on the grounds that to marry would prejudice a pending damage suit against a railroad company for the death of his first wife in an accident.

DAMAGES AWARDED AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT

SAN JOSE, May 14.—Damages in the sum of $750 were awarded by a jury to Miss Isabelle Coolidge of Campbell in a judgment against E. F. Smith, a local business man, as a result of an accident a year ago on a country road. Miss Coolidge was walking with a young man in the moonlight and failed to hear Smith coming up behind her in an automobile until it was too late to avoid being run down. According to her testimony Smith was driving without lights and failed to sound a warning. He then turned the wrong direction, she stated, than is prescribed in laws of the road in such cases. She was in the hospital several weeks and sued for $25,000.

DIVORCES FILED.

SAN JOSE, May 14.—Actions for divorce have been placed on secret file by Bernice A. Craig against Clarence Craig, Louise H. Quivey against Frank M. Quivey, and Mildred Klotzback against J. H. Klotzback.

WED IN SAN JOSE.

BUSINESS DONE BY ENCAMPMENTS

Convention in San Jose Sees Nomination of New Officers.

SAN JOSE, May 14.—Although the entire day yesterday was given over to business sessions and the nomination and election of officers the seven encampments convening in this city this week failed to complete the selection of their next years' administrative officers and national delegates at the time of adjournment last evening. The consideration of much important business was postponed and is being taken up today.

The greatest interest centered around the nomination and election of officers of the G. A. R., which were conducted yesterday afternoon, resulting as follows: Department commander, H. P. Thompson San Diego; senior vice-commander, J. L. Blair, Los Gatos; council of administration—R. N. Taylor Glendale; W. M. Halsey, Pasadena, J. W. Dolan, Los Angeles, John Wharff, San Francisco; R. M. Crouch, Los Angeles; junior vice department commander, E. D. Spooner, Long Beach, medical director, L. L. Burr, San Francisco.

Four candidates were nominated for the office of department commander—Peter Mast, San Francisco; A. B. Cutler, San Francisco, Dr. George C. Somers, Los Angeles, and H. P. Thompson of San Diego. No candidate received a majority vote on the first ballot. Mast then withdrew, while Cutler quit the race in favor of Somers. Thompson was then elected on the next ballot.

VETERANS ELECT.

The following officers were elected by the United Spanish War Veterans of California:

General Robert Wankowski, Los Angeles, department commander; C. S. Perry, Vallejo, senior vice department commander; Richard H. Harris, San Diego, junior vice department commander; Milton A. Natman, San Francisco, department inspector; W. J. Hanna, Sacramento, department surgeon, William B. Stewart, San Francisco, department chaplain; Milton L. Rhoads, San Jose, department marshal; delegates to the national convention to be held at Scranton, Pa., this fall—Hayward Reed, Sacramento; M. A. Nathan, San Francisco, W. K. Harvey, San Francisco; H. A. Green, San Francisco; William B. Stewart, San Francisco; F. E. Feaslock, Eureka; Don L. Bass, Oakland; John T. Curtin, Los Angeles.

The only positions contested were those of department chaplain and department marshal. T. P. Leonard of Vallejo was the unsuccessful candidate for chaplain, while J. W. Hard of Sacramento and Marshall R. Lorenz of San Francisco were defeated for the position of department marshal.

BIG STEERAGE LIST TO SAIL

White Star Liner Also Takes on Auto Truck Cargo.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 14. — Seventy-six cabin passengers and 370 in the steerage were booked to sail for Liverpool today on board the White Star line steamship Cymric. Among the cabin passengers were 37 women and seven children, while 4 per cent of those in the steerage were women or children. At the offices of the line it was said that the Cymric carried as many passengers as she could accommodate. There had been a few cancellations of passengers but these were quickly taken by other persons on the waiting list.

In the Cymric's cargo was a large consignment of automobile trucks. Agents of Italian steamship lines here announced that instructions had been received by them to refuse passage to women or children of German, Austrian or Turkish birth. Men of these nationalities already had been excluded.

Officials of the American line have refused a demand by members of the crew of the steamship St. Louis for $20 extra pay for the trip to Liverpool on which the steamer is to start tomorrow. The officers declared that the risk to the St. Louis of being torpedoed by a German submarine is very small as the edge of that zone has narrowed considerably since the beginning of the war.

ILLINOISANS TO ENTERTAIN.

The Illinois Society of California, San Francisco division, will entertain with an evening bay cruise, Saturday, May 15, at 8 o'clock. A three-hour trip will be taken, viewing the exposition illumination and points of interest around the bay on Crowley's steamer, which leaves the south end of the ferry building foot of Market street. Dancing, good music and a real enjoyable time is anticipated. All Illinoisans and their friends are cordially invited.

Investigation Into Strike Is Continued

By Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., May 14.—Investigation into the Colorado strike situation is being conducted "through the bureau of research and investigation," according to a telegram received late yesterday from Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the United Industrial Relations Commission. The telegram was addressed to the Denver Justice League, a civic organization, and was a reply to a message asking further information as a result of the recent conviction of John R. Lawson, a labor leader, on a charge of murder.

GOODLY PROFITS IN FUR FARMING

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14.—Fur-farming is becoming a profitable industry in the United States. Reports received from many parts of the country by the department of agriculture state that wild animals, such as skunks, minks, and foxes, are being domesticated at a big financial advantage to the owners.

Minnesota, it is said, has more fur farmers than any other state in the union. The department has the names and addresses of sixty-two in that state, sixteen in Michigan, and eight in Indiana, eight in Ohio, and four in Illinois.

F. M. Holbrook of Chicago, who conducts a "skunk development bureau" at Lombard, Ill., has informed the department that he has received $5,935 from the sale of skunks during the last two years. A total of 379 skunks were sold.

Illinoisan Takes Up Industry.

In a letter recently written to the department Mr. Holbrook explains that he first became interested in the domestication of skunks in 1904, when he was a freshman in engineering at Columbia university. He was in northern New York working on a hydraulic engineering project at the time. After discovering a method for the removal of the scent sacs by a simple operation, Mr. Holbrook offered a pair of skunks to the city of New York for display in Central park, but his offer was refused.

After explaining that he has never been successful in breeding a totally black skunk, but has been successful in getting a totally white animal, Mr. Holbrook says in his letter to the department:

"The projec has been successful, with receipts of $5,945. Of this, the amount received for breeding stock was $5,127."

Mink raising is being carried on to advantage in Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio. It has been found difficult to obtain good stock, as most of the animals have come from the south where the fud is thin and of poor color.

CROSSING COUNTRY WITH 'PUSH-AUTO'

SANTA FE, N. M., May 14.—Two men came into Santa Fe this week with the smallest imitation of an automobile ever seen here. The men are John F. DeLion, who is traveling for his health, and C. M. McReavy, his partner, who is going over this part of the West with DeLion for "the fun of it." The vehicle is not a real automobile, but a push cart, weighing 600 pounds, and the fact that the young fellows push the machine over the country instead of using an engine has made the travelers and their car objects of interest to all Santa Fe.

DeLion, who a few years ago was an invalid, left Philadelphia in the push automobile June 30, 1912. Since then he has had eight partners, all of whom got "cold feet" and gave up the struggle, but DeLion always succeeded in getting a new one, and intends to complete the journey. When he left Philadelphia he was an invalid and weighed less than a hundred pounds, but the hardships of the trip, the change of climates and outdoor life have agreed with him, and when he arrived here he weighed 160 pounds and appeared to be in the best of health.

The trip covered by DeLion was from Philadelphia to Toledo, Omaha, Denver and Santa Fe. From here they will go to Albuquerque, and from there across the desert to San Francisco. The men make their expenses by selling pictures of themselves and the little machine on the streets, and according to DeLion they have never been hungry or entirely out of ready cash, although on a few occasions the "purse" has been as low as a 10-cent piece. At each of the towns visited they call on the authorities and carry a little book in which the mayors have inscribed their names. After landing in New Mexico the men procured a burro to help carry their tent and cooking utensils, and the little animal follows the car like a dog trailing a prairie schooner.

The machine has handles like a baby carriage, and except when they strike a hill which they can coast down the men take turns walking behind the car and pushing it along the road, while the other sits comfortably in the seat and imagines he is riding in a regular automobile.

FRIENDS PAY TRIBUTE TO WASHINGTON DESCENDANT

Funeral services were held today at the First Unitarian church for the late Frank B. Washington, Oakland business man and descendant of the family of George Washington, who died suddenly of heart failure at the Athenian club.

Rev. William Day Simonds officiated, and a large number of friends and associates of the deceased gather to pay a last tribute to his memory.

Washington was a descendant of Samuel Washington, brother of the first president, and has a relative and [illegible].

TOWN JAIL COST 2 CENTS.

LEWISTON, Pa., May 14. — The council was astounded when Chief Burgess Leopold reported only one arrest by the police, and the expenses of the borough lockup at 3 cents for the month of February. Burgess Leopold admitted that the lone victim of the police was drunk and disorderly, a remarkable record for a community of 10,000 persons.

FAT CAN'T "GETAWAY."

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—Two lean prisoners in the Washington county jail at Nashville, Tenn., escaped through a tunnel a foot in diameter which they had dug through the floor of the washroom and underneath the walls. A fat man, the only other prisoner, could not squeeze through the hole, so he remained behind the bars. The tunnel was drilled through the concrete floor with a hammer and a poker.

SHREDDED WHEAT FACTORY WILL COST $350,000

Organization plans of the Shredded Wheat Company, preparatory to its breaking ground for the new factory, which it is expected will be done within a few days, were outlined yesterday when, at Sacramento, application was made to Commissioner of Corporations H. L. Carnahan for permission to turn over the stock of the Pacific Coast company, subsidiary to the eastern company, to the parent firm, in exchange for the $75,000 site. The factory to be erected will cost $350,000, according to the figures in the application.

The parent company agrees to advance $200,000 cash to finance the first operations of the firm. All agencies on the coast and in the island territories of the United States are assigned to the Pacific coast branch, according to the paper. All the stock of the local concern in return will be transferred to the parent corporation, the securities being valued at $1,000,000.

FALSE FIRE ALARM.

ALAMEDA, May 14.—An overheated coal oil stove, which emitted large clouds of soot and smoke, caused chemical No. 1 of the fire department to be called to the home of Mrs. N. E. Russell, 1414 Pearl street, last night about 9 o'clock. No damage was done.

Clears Skin—Stops All Blood Troubles

Goes Right Down to Where the Germs Start From.

The action of S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, is notable in the skin. It is but natural that blood impurities should seek an outlet. Water, gas, oil and nearly all the active products of nature seek the surface. It seems to be a cosmic law. Even our thoughts will undertake to find expression. And so whatever we take into our system will eventually come out changed in form, converted often into some other substance, but constituting always either waste or that which has served its useful purpose and must be eliminated. And the skin is the principal avenue for escape of certain acids or poisons. If the skin and blood be healthy, these wastes pass off as vapor or perspiration. But impure blood loads the skin with eczema, pimples, acne, rheumatism, rash, fever blisters, blood risings and other eruptions. And S. S. S. has been found the very best, safest and most effective remedy to purify the blood and thus restore the skin to clear and attractive health. Get a bottle today of any druggist, but be emphatic. Do not allow anyone to hand you a substitute. Wrapped around the bottle is an interesting circular that tells you how to obtain skillful advice free on any subject concerning the blood.

S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 112 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Look for this name on the package.

LANE WANTED ME, SAYS MOOSER

"Position of Importance" Is Promised, Asserts Candidate for Office.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Louis H. Mooser, chairman of the Democratic county central committee, admitted this morning that overtures had been made to him by Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, looking to his appointment as commissioner of immigration at the port of San Francisco. Mooser said that he had not aspired for the post, although he had endeavored to obtain the position of assistant United States treasurer, to which W. J. McGee was recently appointed.

Mooser denied that there was any contest between himself and Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration.

"It is true that there is a likelihood of my receiving the appointment of commissioner of immigration at this port," said Mooser. "I did not seek the position, but overtures have been made to me and I admit I would take it if I got it. I am sorry that Senator James D. Phelan's name was mentioned in this connection, as he and I have never spoken about it.

"When Secretary Lane was here recently he asked me whether or not I would take the post and I replied in the affirmative. We are great friends. He was much disappointed when I did not receive the appointment as assistant United States treasurer. He had worked hard to get it for me and he said to me only a few weeks ago:

"'I will never rest until I find you in a position of importance and I am going to do all in my power to get such a place for you.'

"I had no idea, however, that there was any outside knowledge of the affair, and I have no means of knowing whether I will be given the post or not. I have not been angling for the position and have not been fighting Commissioner Anthony Caminetti."

It was recently rumored that Caminetti would like to return to California and would accept the position of commissioner of immigration here, which would mean a four year appointment at $4000 a year. His present post pays $5000 a year and his term expires in 1917.

Whether or not there would be a shakeup in the local immigration force if Mooser was appointed, was a question which occupied the attention of the subordinate officials today.

Mooser declined to discuss that subject.

MOTHER AND SIX HUNGRY

Who Will Heed This Pitiful Appeal for Aid?

With no food in the house for her six children and herself, and with no money with which to purchase it, a woman lies ill with fast-approaching [illegible] in a tiny cottage, facing starvation. For two days, now, the children—the oldest of the six is but eight years of age, and the youngest is one—have cried incessantly, begging their mother to give them food, the lack of which is causing them so much pain.

The husband and father is away, the woman does not know where. He left three weeks ago, after vain attempts to secure a position that would pay him wages with which to feed his family. He told his wife that he would seek work in the country. She has not heard from him since.

The woman and her little family live in a verdure-covered cottage. It is one of many pretty homes on [illegible]. Hundreds of people pass the door daily, women of neighborhood gossip over the back fences mornings, and yet this little family is literally facing starvation. The youngest child, the "baby," is always cold, too. There is no fuel in the house. The [illegible] mother has burned up all the furniture that can possibly be spared.

Friendless and heartbroken, the woman has appealed to The Tribune for assistance in a pitiful letter received today, she tells of her dire needs and asks that she be assisted, "for," reads the sad letter, "I am having an awful hard time just at present." That one wrenching line of the letter gives an inkling of the bravery of the friendless woman in her great tragedy.

"I really do not know who I should write to," reads another portion of the tragic missive. "But I am in such trouble that I have to ask you to do me the favor of sending aid for me. I have six little babies and expect the seventh in about two weeks. I have not one penny to my name.

"My husband could not get work here. He was out of work for four months and so he went to the country three weeks ago to get a position on a ranch. I have not heard from since he left.

"I am all alone, do not know what to do and have no food for my little ones."

The name and address of this woman will be furnished to any one applying at The Tribune editorial rooms.

Brother of Noted Men Adjudged Incompetent

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 14. — Howard Townsend Martin, brother of the late Frederick Townsend Martin and the late Bradley Martin, was declared incompetent to manage his person and estate today by a lunacy commission appointed by the supreme court at the request of Mrs. Howard Townsend Martin, a resident of Westbury, N. Y.

Mr. Martin is now confined in a sanitarium in Riverdale. He is 62 years old. Mrs. Martin, in her application for the appointment of the commission, declared she feared that her husband would grieve himself to death over the loss of his two brothers.

EAST BAY SCHOOLS IN ANNUAL DISCUSSION

The nineteenth annual debate between the Oakland and Berkeley high schools will take place tonight in Chabot Hall beginning at 8 o'clock. Each school has now nine victories to its credit in this event and a great deal of interest is taken in the breaking of the tie.

The Oakland team is composed of Clifton Hildebrand, Helen MacGregor and Harrison Ryker, while Ralph Frost, Howard Bonnett and Warren McGrath. The question which will be debated is "Resolved, That the United States Should Abandon the Monroe Doctrine." Oakland High school has the negative side.

President Sprayed With Medicine for Trees

WASHINGTON, May 14.—President Wilson and his secret service guards were accidentally treated to a poisonous shower yesterday when their automobiles, disregarding danger flags, ran under the powerful hose of workmen engaged in spraying the trees in front of the residence of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, the president's son-in-law.

EARLY 'MORN' AUTO RIDERS INJURED

Driver Gives Wrong Name; Later "Squares" Himself With Police.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14. — John Johnson Starkey of Los Angeles, a stu[illegible] who first gave his name as Joseph O. Kelly of 1113 Owens street, Berkeley, and two women and a man who were with him in his automobile at an early hour this morning, were painfully injured when the car crashed through a hedge on the Great Highway. The machine struck a heavy boulder and turned over, pinioning the occupants. Fortunately no one was seriously hurt. Those in the machine and their injuries were as follows:

Starkey was driving the car. He was speeding along the Great Highway near B street when in passing another machine he swerved too far to the right. His car crashed through the hedge and before he realized the danger the big machine had been wrecked.

Dr. Peabody, a physician, and William Lalb, who were passing in automobiles, conveyed the injured persons to the Park hospital.

Starkey there gave his name as Kelly, repeating it to the police who investigated. Subsequently, however, he called at the Richmond police station and said his true name was Starkey.

TWO KILLED; THREE HURT.

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Two men were killed and another man and three women were injured late last night when an automobile returning to Los Angeles from Venice collided with a street car. The accident occurred on West Adams street, near the city limits.

William G. Caplan and William Evans were killed. Arthur Dorien, Miss Euphie Castro, Miss Bertha Lynch and Miss Barbara Wright were severely injured. The three young women were employed in a local theater.

According to the crew of the street car, the automobile was traveling on the wrong side of the street.

MERE YOUTH FOR CHIEF?

Charter Disqualifies Davie Aspirants for Job

[illegible] civil service commission started today with it casting a horoscope, that the new chief of police, in the probable making of Chief Walter J. Petersen, will be a man between the ages of 35 and 55 years. He will sit in command among the gray-haired and bald-headed captains and inspectors, and hold council with men many years his senior in age and police experience.

Instantly when the word went the rounds of the city today there was an immediate casting about for new candidates now that the half a dozen aspirants for the place were unceremoniously shoved off the political bench by a section of the city charter, which reads:

"Every appointee to the (police) department shall be not less than 25 nor more than 35 years of age, and before his appointment must pass a satisfactory examination under such rules and regulations as may be [illegible] by the civil service board."

The age qualification for the new chief had been overlooked in the scramble to get on the band wagon of the Davie regime, and some of the disappointed candidates for the honor of chief of the Oakland police and its salary of $3500 a year commenced to consult the family Bible in the vain hope that they might be mistaken about their years.

Incidentally the hold which Petersen has on the office seems more firm, as no likely qualified candidate has yet appeared on the horizon of city politics.

The second qualification—that of the [illegible] aspirants, in that the civil service board, removed beyond the realm of politics by the six-year tenure of its members, has the preparation of the examinations for the new chief.

Among the candidates mentioned in the Davie headquarters for the position which Chief Petersen now fills are Lieutenant Woods, now of the police department; George Kale Reynolds, who was a candidate against Sheriff Frank Barnet at the last election; L. B. Magoon, Melrose real estate man, and others.

All with the exception of Lieutenant Woods are not members of the department and cannot be appointed. Lieutenant Woods would have to resign his place, and he would then be in the position of a new appointee, and disqualified by the age limit.

The same situation obtains for the fire [illegible] Chief Nicholas Ball retires on a pension, when Mayor Frank Mott goes out office June 30, except that the age qualification is placed between 21 and [illegible] years.

Delegate Convicted on Extortion Charge

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Samuel Dudek, formerly walking delegate of Bakers' Union 305, was found guilty by a jury yesterday of extortion. He was rearrested in November, 1914, after $1600 in marked bills had been passed to him by two bakers whose employes were on strike and who had been threatened with assault by gangsters if they did not produce $1000.

A number of men indicted as a result of the gang revelations in connection with the garment workers' strikes surrendered themselves today. Among them were Morris Stupnicker, Max Sigman and Sol Hetz, who have been out on bail for a year and a half pending trial on the charge of being implicated in the murder of Herman Leibowitz, a member of the cloak makers' union, on January 31, 1910.

POLICE TRAIL MYSTERY MURDER

Former Eureka Man Is Found Dead in State Capital Park.

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—[illegible]ert A. Johnson, a bartender, formerly of Eureka, was found dead in State Capitol park this morning with a bullet wound in his head. No weapon was found near the body and the police [illegible] the theory Johnson was murdered.

If murder was done robbery was not the motive, as the man's watch, money and jewelry were not taken.

AUTHORITATIVE REPORTS and ENTERTAINING GOSSIP

In the first six weeks of the Pacific Coast League 1915 season, Scoggins of Los Angeles and Gregory of Salt Lake tied for first honors among the pitchers in games won and lost, each having five victories to his credit without a defeat. But in the rating on a basis of runs for which each pitcher is responsible per nine innings there is not only a big difference between these pitchers but neither ranks up among the top-notchers. Scoggins has been responsible for 12 runs in 52 innings, an average of 2.08 runs per nine innings; Gregory has been responsible for 23 runs in 48 innings, an average of 4.31 runs per nine innings.

Runs for which a pitcher is responsible are those which are scored without the aid of any fielding errors by pitcher or other players, and without the aid of any passed ball. A pitcher is not charged with responsibility for runs which are scored in an inning after an error has been made that would have been the third out with perfect play. The only things which enter into runs for which a pitcher is responsible are safe hits, stolen bases, bases on balls, hit batters, wild pitches and balks.

On this basis, Decannier of Venice is the class of the league for the first six weeks, including all games up to May 10. In 67 1-3 innings, Decannier has been responsible for only 10 of the 21 runs scored against him, an average responsibility of 1.34 runs per nine innings.

Among pitchers who had worked in five or more games, Killilay of San Francisco ranks second to Decannier, the Seal slabster having been responsible for 11 runs in 57 innings, an average of 1.74 runs per 9 innings. Burns of Los Angeles, responsible for 1.88 runs per 9 innings, and Smith of San Francisco, responsible for 1.95 runs per nine innings are the only other regulars of the first six weeks who have been responsible for less than two runs per nine innings.

Among the regularly worked pitchers of the first six weeks, Johnny Williams of Salt Lake showed the poorest record, being responsible for 25 runs in 40 1-3 innings, an average of 5.58 runs per nine innings.

Dutch Klawitter of Oakland was the hardest worked pitcher in the league, pitching a total of 84 innings in the first six weeks. Claude Williams of Salt Lake was the second pitcher in amount of work, pitching 78 2-3 innings. Ryan of Los Angeles and Fanning of San Francisco were tied for third honors, each having worked 76 2-3 innings, and Higginbotham of Portland, pitching 72 innings, was the only other pitcher to pass the 70 inning mark.

More runs were scored against Harry Ables of Oakland than against any other pitcher, Ables' opponents spiking the plate 36 times, and for 29 of these runs Ables was responsible. Klawitter tied his teammate for the doubtful honor of being responsible for more runs than other pitchers, being responsible for 29 of the 33 runs scored against him. Claude Williams of Salt Lake was second to Ables in the total runs scored by opponents, 34 balls having been sounded as Williams left the mound.

The following tabulations show the games in which each pitcher participated, the victories and defeats credited to him, the total innings pitched, the total runs scored by opponents, the runs for which pitcher was responsible, and the average number of runs per nine innings for which each pitcher was responsible. Records are complete for the first six weeks of the season, including all games played to May 10.

What Ex-Coasters Are Doing in the Big Leagues

The latest baseball averages from the major leagues up to and including the first week in this month show that many Coast League favorites are more than holding their own in the big brush.

Eagen (Boston) .375, Cutshaw (Brooklyn) [illegible], Kantlehner (Pittsburg) .250, Olson (Cincinnati) .222.

American League—Rogers (Cleveland) .317, Lewis (Boston) .294, Gandil (Washington) .243, Young (Detroit) .242, Hooper (Boston) .216, Weaver (Chicago) .205, Vitt (Detroit) .206, Quinlan (Chicago) .175.

Federal League—Eastley (K. C.) .333, Borton (St. Louis) .288, Chase (Buffalo) .275, Chadbourne (K. C.) .225, Krueger (K. C.) .222, Kenworthy (K. C.) .220.

The Federal League pitching records show that Gene Krapp has won one and lost four games, or a percentage of .200.

The mystery over why Bill Rogers was released by Cleveland deepens still further when published figures show that in the first fifteen games he hit .317 and fielded .857, which is a better mark than Boone of New York, Wagner of Boston, Fuller and Young of Detroit and Lajoie of the Athletics. Lajoie's mark by the way is .877 in the field, which is the lowest fielding average of any baseman in the league. The former Cleveland king committed ten errors in the first seventeen games. Oscar Vitt, the Detroit third baseman, fielded .987 in the first twenty-one games, the second highest average in that department. Weaver of Chicago leads the shortstops.

Quinlan, the former Oak, in the first twenty games for Chicago accepted thirty chances without an error.

Three ex-Coast league pitchers started in the box for Federal league teams yesterday and two of them got by with wins. The exception was Kid Ehmke, the last season Los Angeles hurler who was batted out of the box by the Pittsburg sluggers yesterday. The smoky town lads clouted out nineteen hits.

Tom Seaton and Bobby Groom won their games, Seaton holding Chicago to three hits and Groom shutting out the Baltimore team with seven hits. Seaton twirled for Brooklyn and Groom for St. Louis.

Dutch Leonard, the Fresno lad, twirled his first real game of the year and beat Detroit by a score of 4 to 2. This is the first time since 1913 that Dutch has started against Detroit.

Thomas, the former Oak, caught Leonard in great style, while Lewis got one run and a hit. Ty Cobb scored the only two runs for the Tigers. Pep Young played at second base but went hitless.

A timely single by Buck Weaver in the ninth inning scored J. Collins and won the game for the Sox yesterday. The great Walter Johnson was outpitched by Ed Cicotte, Walter being touched for nine hits and Cicotte for six. Jack Fournier and Buck Weaver each got two hits.

Ivan Howard batted in the pinch yesterday for St. Louis and after getting on through a walk, he scored one of the winning runs. The Athletics were leading 5 to 3 up to the fatal ninth when the Browns put over three runs.

Roger Peckinpaugh got two hits in the Cleveland-New York game yesterday, while Maisel, his side kicker, got a single, double and homer.

The Giants easily bested the Reds yesterday, Perritt's effectiveness and the Giants' hard hitting winning the game. Joe Wagner played a nice game for Cincinnati, scoring a run and handling eight chances without making a miscue. Chief Myers scored one run and banged out a hit for the Giants.

Brooklyn defeated Chicago by a score of 2 to 2 yesterday, Smith for Brooklyn and Vaughn for the Cubs are both twirling good ball. Cutshaw got only one hit for the Dodgers and that was a three bagger.

The Phillies lost to the Pirates yesterday to a tune of 3 to 1. Bancroft and Cravath each getting one hit for the Phillies and Eddie Burns, the other Californian, driving out two. Cravath's hit went for a home run. Hans Wagner handled fourteen chances around second base for the Pirates.

ART FROMME RELEASED.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Arthur Fromme, pitcher for the New York Nationals since 1913, was released yesterday to the Jersey City team of the International league. Fromme came to the Giants in a deal with Cincinnati for Devore, Ames and Groh. The two last named are still stars with the Reds, while Fromme has pitched few good games since joining Manager McGraw's forces.

SENSE OF HUMOR.

Deloe Drake of the St. Louis Federals has delivered himself of a definition of a sense of humor, which reads:

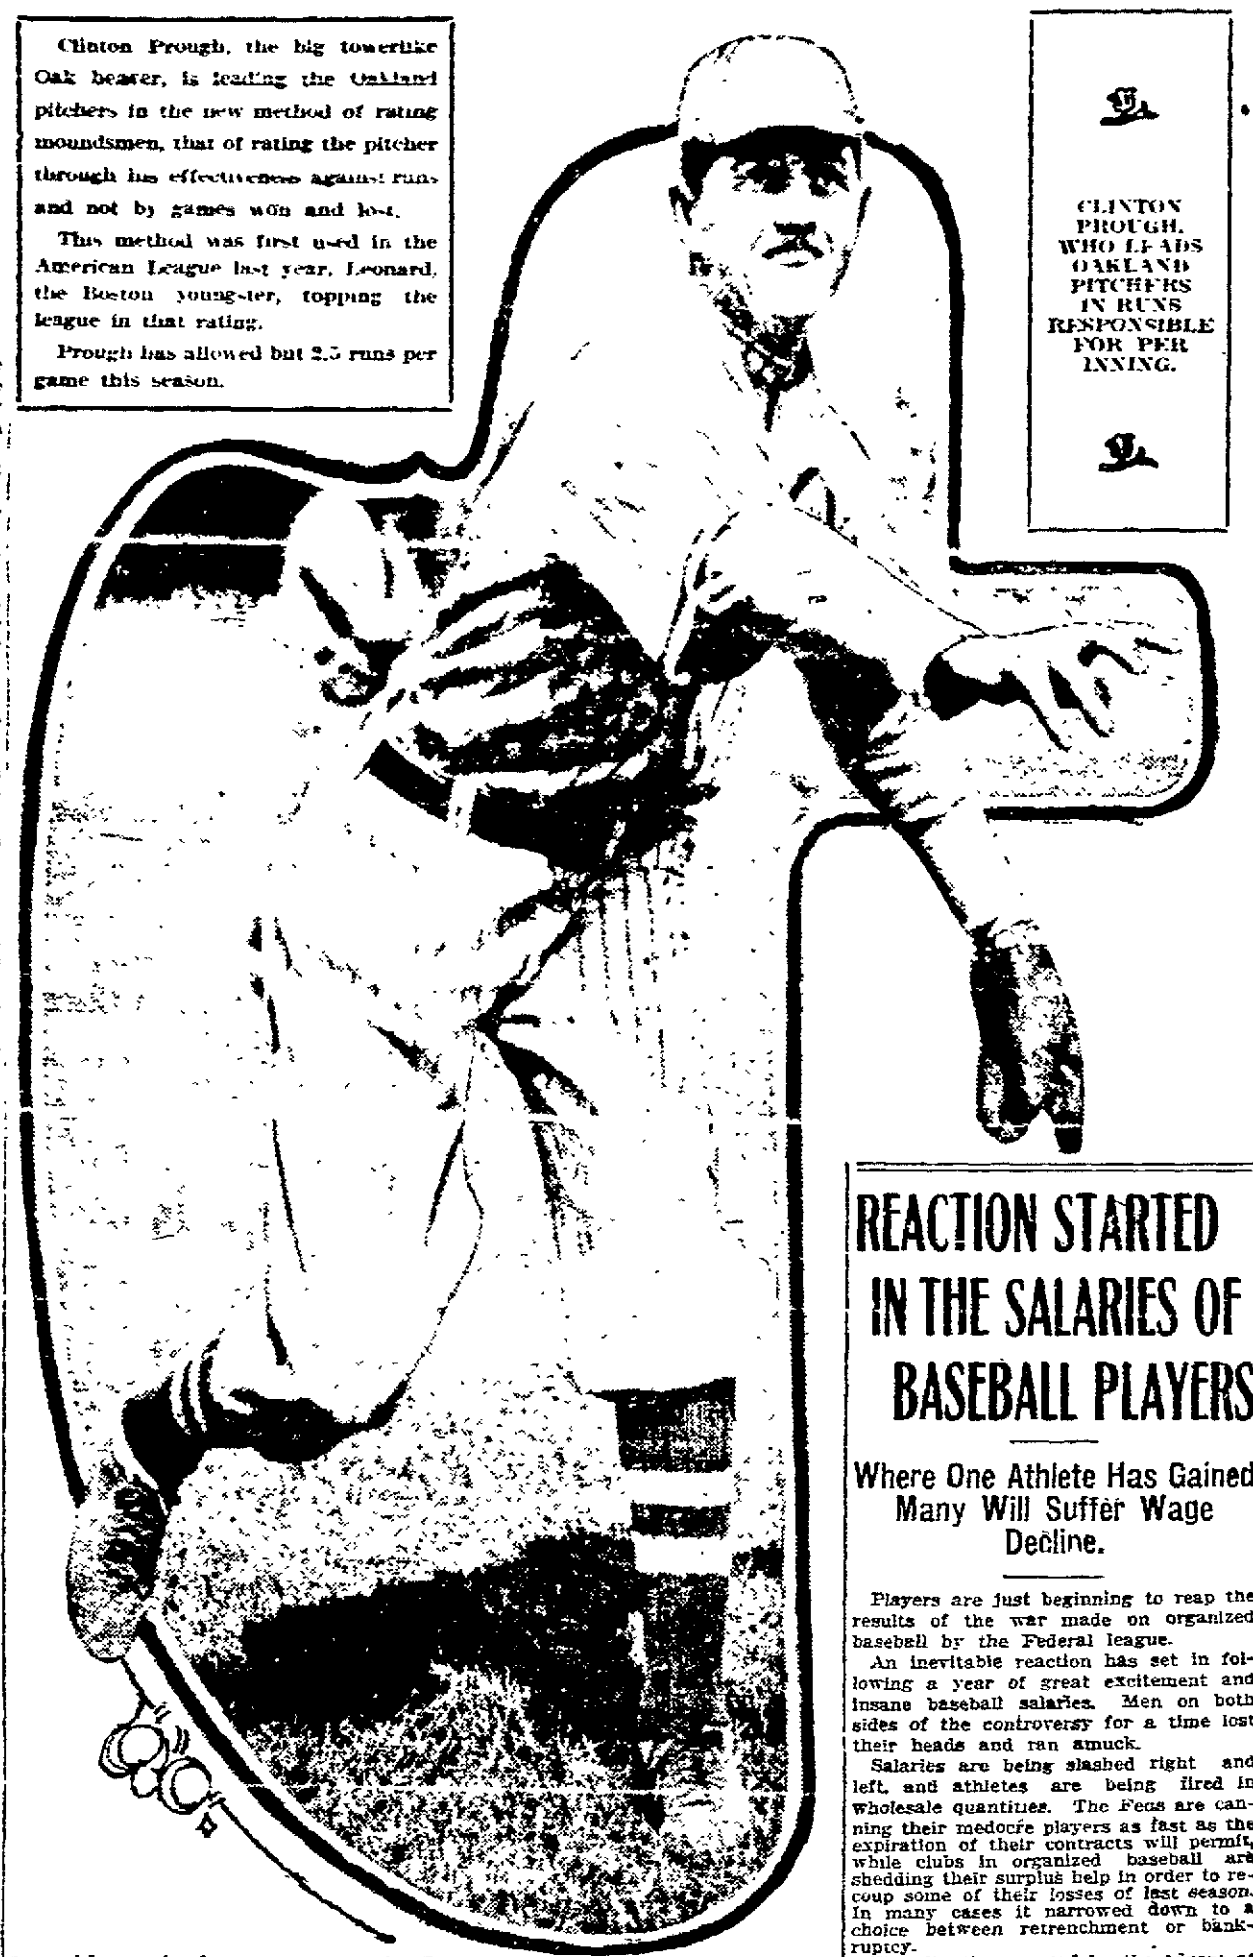

"A sense of humor is what makes you laugh at something that happens to somebody else which would make you mad if it happened to you."

TOPS OAK PITCHERS BY NEW RATING

Clinton Prough, the big towerlike Oak heaver, is leading the Oakland pitchers in the new method of rating moundsmen, that of rating the pitcher through his effectiveness against runs and not by games won and lost.

This method was first used in the American League last year, Leonard, the Boston youngster, topping the league in that rating.

Prough has allowed but 2.5 runs per game this season.

Angels Come Back and Wallop the Bees

SALT LAKE CITY, May 14. — Los Angeles clouted C. Williams and Remneas for a total of fifteen hits and won the third game of the series here, 9 to 4. Williams was lucky to escape with but six runs being scored off him, as in the third the Angels filled the bases with none out, but a sensational double play killed their chances to count in that frame. Hughes pitched steady ball after the first inning.

U. C. WILL NAME FOOTBALL COACH

The student executive committee of the University of California will hold the final semester meeting this evening, and it is highly possible that a coach for the coming football season will be appointed at this time. As the contract of Jimmy Schaeffer expired on the first of the year, it is expected that the matter of his reappointment will be acted upon. Schaeffer coached the baseball team through the past semester under a verbal contract.

BOWLING

E. Johnson and M. Lindsay, the world's champions in doubles and singles, will bowl at the Auditorium alleys Saturday night. They will bowl both doubles and singles and will have as their opponents two local bowlers, F. Kaufman and C. Rishel. Following the match games, Lindsay will show a few exhibition shots.

The doubles played last night on Herold's alleys by the crack bowlers from the east, C. Johnson and M. Lindsay, against R. Whitney and J. P. Koeht of the Oaks was a very close game. Johnson and Lindsay made 1140 pins and Whitney and Koeht 1133 pins, losing by seven pins. In the singles, Johnson and Kelton playing, Kelton scored 638 to Johnson's 583 pins, Kelton winning by 55 pins.

The next game was between Lindsay and Whitney, Lindsay making 662 pins and Whitney 501 pins. After the games Lindsay demonstrated the different ways of making difficult spares and splits, showing that he was well entitled to be called a crack bowler. The scores:

Fisher's Errors Are Costly to Portland

Dutch Klawitter was in good form yesterday and had little trouble in beating Portland 5 to 2, the Beaver tallies coming in the ninth and being somewhat in the nature of a gift.

With the bases full in the second, Fisher dropped Bates' throw to the plate, and Johnson and Ness scored. Lindsay came all the way around from first on the same play and scored when Fisher and his team mates tried to trap Litschi between first and second. Litschi was finally thrown out, but not before Lindsay had crossed with the third run. Later in the game Fisher's bad peg to second on Marcan paved the way for two more runs. Krause succeeded Keefe and allowed but one hit. The score:

REACTION STARTED IN THE SALARIES OF BASEBALL PLAYERS

Where One Athlete Has Gained Many Will Suffer Wage Decline.

Players are just beginning to reap the results of the war made on organized baseball by the Federal league.

An inevitable reaction has set in following a year of great excitement and insane baseball salaries. Men on both sides of the controversy for a time lost their heads and ran amuck.

Salaries are being slashed right and left, and athletes are being fired in wholesale quantities. The Feds are canning their mediocre players as fast as the expiration of their contracts will permit, while clubs in organized baseball are shedding their surplus help in order to recoup some of their losses of last season. In many cases it narrowed down to a choice between retrenchment or bankruptcy.

The situation created by the advent of the Federal league looked alluring to those who can not see more than three feet ahead, but to those schooled in the A B C of baseball it was apparent from the start that there must be a final accounting. While baseball is a sport, it also is a business, and it is one of the laws of business that the income must at least equal the outgo. This rule is as inexorable as the laws of nature, and failure to recognize it results in ultimate insolvency.

Last year it was t'other way about, and the magnates got hep to themselves in time to prevent a financial cataclysm. But for the determination of the leaders of the game to force a policy of retrenchment throughout organized baseball the game certainly would have been hopelessly wrecked on the shoals of financial disaster.

It is impossible to violate the laws of nature or business without paying.

Nobody has any use for a contract breaker, but players bound by nothing but the ordinary reserve clause who went over to the Federals can not be criticised except possibly, for their lack of foresight.

The latest alleged utterances of James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league, is that Feds do not desire peace. Gee, they must be having a lot of fun in the Federal league, regardless of high salaries.

However, this statement is quite hard to reconcile with an interview credited to Gilmore on April 17, as follows:

"It is a shame that the lawyers and the players are getting all the money. The promoters have little but experience for their pains. Peace and readjustment is bound to come in time, and the sooner the better for all concerned.

"Mind you, the Federal league is in the field to fight till it gains its end. The men associated with me have the capital and the patience to go on indefinitely as at present.

"I do not mean to claim that the Federal league has been a financial success everywhere. The backers of the various clubs did not expect to reap financial harvests at the start.

"But, getting back to the folly of this prolonged war. There are many players in our league, and in the American and National leagues, too, who are at best but a heavy burden to their employers. Their services cannot be dispensed with because they have been able to take advantage of chaotic conditions to extract ironclad contracts at salaries far beyond their real worth. The rank injustice to the promoters lies in the fact that these men are utterly indifferent about their moral obligations to those who pay their salaries.

"During the present war, baseball has suffered far more through the indifference of certain stars than through the avarice of these men which prompted them to make and break contracts at will. It has affected the very roots of the profession because it has ruptured discipline. Genuine club spirit now seems to be the exception rather than the rule.

"The principles of the Baseball Players' Fraternity are doubtless logical and sound. But here again the undesirable element of the profession — the men who are content to accept money for loafing —has gone too far. The association has been used in some cases as a fulcrum to pry loose salary increases. These unfortunate conditions may not be alleviated while the rival forces of baseball are at each other's throats. That is why I declare that further continuation of the fight is a shameful waste of time and money."

All of which would seem to indicate that Mr. Gilmore and his associates are not quite as strong for the noble athlete as they were a few months ago.

There are some good, game sports in the Federal League, but they seem to have been somewhat shy in practical baseball experience. Most of them had plenty of money to spend, and seemed to think that the main thing in baseball is to get your name in the newspapers. Every possible trick was turned that could gain publicity. The signing of some player at a prohibitive salary made good winter reading, but it was hell when pay day arrived.

NEVADA'S RACE SEASON TO OPEN IN RENO JULY 16

Thirty-Day Meet Planned to Inaugurate Return of Thoroughbreds.

RENO, May 14. — The first racing meet in Nevada under the new racing law is scheduled to commence July 16. A group of Reno business men have applied to the racing commission for a date in this city, and Alec Dromiack, owner of the local track, has leased his property for that date. The meet will be of 30 days' duration.

Four hundred horses have already put in entries for the meet, many of them thoroughbreds from the eastern tracks. Many California horses which have been [illegible] entered and the racing syndicate is now waiting only for the permit, which will undoubtedly be granted as soon as the governor appoints the members who are to serve on the racing commission.

The men in charge of the meet have appointed Manager Finn to take charge of the meet, and the latter is expected on the ground in a very few days. Work will start immediately in repairing the track which has not been used for some years, and many extra stalls will be installed.

HERE'S WHAT BUFFALO SCRIBES THINK OF EHMKE

Organized baseball unquestionably slipped the Feds some terrible lemons—let them bid their heads off for certain players who were not really desirable.

This statement does not necessarily apply to Howard Ehmke, the kid pitcher who jumped from the Los Angeles club. He signed with the Feds at a salary of $700 a month or better, with a bonus in the bargain. No practical baseball man would have taken him under these conditions.

Ehmke was young and inexperienced, and there was no proof that he could pitch major league baseball. He made a wonderful showing in the Coast league the first part of the season, but met with repeated reverses later, and finished only a trifle better than 50:50. At best he was not half a pitcher. That is, he could work only one game a week and be effective. On this basis he would receive at least $700 for every four games pitched in the Federal league.

It may be good baseball business to sign a comparatively untried youngster up at that figure, but it is significant that none of the managers in the American and National leagues, who know the game from both ends, would consider him at anything like that salary.

ROGERS WANTS ANOTHER CHANCE

Sporting Editor Tribune — Dear Sir: I am anxious for a return match with Frank Denny in behalf of Al Rogers. Louis Bernstein, the timer last night, told me that he did not ring the bell as a signal to stop the fight, but because the round was over. I think, therefore, we are entitled to another chance though I am afraid Ray Carlen, Denny's manager, will never permit his boy to meet Rogers again under any circumstances.

Respectfully yours,
TONY DAMERAL.

DENNY'S 'POPPY PUNCH' TOO MUCH FOR AL ROGERS

Terrific Knock-down Ends Battle at Conclusion of the First Round.

(By THE TIMEKEEPER)

After almost a round of the fiercest and fastest milling ever seen in a local ring, Frankie Denny took advantage of an opening and dropped Al Rogers with a right cross to the jaw. This practically ended the bout, for although Rogers gamely regained his feet, he was glassy eyed and apparently out on his feet.

A few seconds after the knockdown the bell rang for the end of the round, but in the confusion and against the noise it was not heard by either fighters or referee. When Timekeeper Al Bernstein [illegible] already parted the boys, and after taking a good look at Rogers decided the boy was in no condition to continue against such a dangerous hitter as Denny and awarded the bout to the latter. Rogers had no chance to win and to let the bout continue would have been inviting a more dangerous knockout later on.

DENNY GOOD UNDER FIRE.

Denny, in the short time that the bout lasted, fully demonstrated his ability to work under fire. Rogers fought from the tap of the bell and several times forced Denny to the ropes, only to get the worst of a rally. Frankie has been tested from every standpoint. He has demonstrated his hitting powers, he has shown an ability to take stiff punches without stopping, and last night demonstrated that he has a cool head.

While the bout lasted Rogers was fighting hard, and although he caught Denny several good wallops, mostly right swings, the latter put in fully five punches to one. The blow which ended the bout came more or less as a surprise, however. After Rogers had lowered his guard to block a left body punch, Denny took advantage of the opening and planted a hard right on his opponent's jaw. The latter fairly raised from his feet and fell to the floor. He was up, however, on the count of five, but glassy eyed and defenseless.

Denny's only weak point seems to be overanxiousness. The St. Mary's boy is the classiest find since the days of Henry Hickey's sensational start, but if he ever is matched against top notchers he will have to take it easier in the ring.

Freddie Graham proved too clever and experienced for Johnny Conde and took a three-round decision. The bout was not as interesting as was expected. Graham loafed in the first two rounds, but cut loose in the third, sending Conde on his haunches. The latter regained his feet, however, and continued.

Eddie Green and Fred Perry looked like a whirlwind go until Perry was awarded the decision on a foul. All agreed that Perry was flagrantly fouled, but some of the fans didn't want to see it stopped.

George Davis won a fast bout from Al Lavit. The latter started out as if he were going to clean the clever little colored boy, but soon blew up. Davis got in bad with the fans by spitting outside the confines of the ring. The habit is a bad one, and the offense appeared intentional on several occasions when his expectoration found a mark on some spectator. It was gross impudence on the part of Davis.

Jimmy Duffy took a well earned decision from Jimmy Williams. The latter appeared a little young to take part in a public boxing contest. Williams was a game boy, and did not admit defeat until the last gong.

Harry Eagle took a close decision from Joe Souse. Harry worked under the handicap of being unable to keep his gloves well on, and the decision was a popular one.

Joe Weiland put up a game fight, but lost to Danny Edwards. The latter was too clever and more experienced than was Joe.

Battling Jimmy Jerome didn't want to battle against Joe Arcey and retreated through the ropes at a very early stage of the bout. Neitherfighter struck a clean blow during the bout.

Eddie Davis won from Jim Cunningham. The bout was a good one and the outcome doubtful until the last. Cunningham hit his opponent so hard in the last round that he knocked himself backward.

After two rounds of rough milling, Referee Beaumont stopped the bout between Butch Lenas and Willie Webber, awarding it to the former on a foul. Neither of the men knew the least thing about boxing or ring tactics, and they were continually butting each other. The bout looked more like a bull fight than a boxing contest, and when Webber hit Lenas while the latter had both hands on the floor after a knockdown, the referee awarded the bout to Lenas.

Sailor Grande is boxing in Philadelphia in the semi-finals, and getting by in good style. Recently published photographs would indicate that the Sailor is considerably [illegible] Charley should be a good one at 135 pounds, if he can make that weight easily.

HOW THEY BECAME FIGHTERS

How did they happen to become prize fighters?

A new champion answers the question this week. "My father, like Jim Jeffries' dad, came from Ohio," said Jess Willard, "but I was born in Kansas. I farmed and broke bronchos and rode them until I grew too heavy.

"Then I put in a good deal of time hunting, fishing, playing ball and running foot races.

"Before I was 20 I could beat any boy in Pottawatomie county running 100 yards and was considered the best athlete in Kansas. Then I commenced boxing, and I could easily put it over the best boys in our neighborhood.

"I never got a chance to fight in preliminary bouts, and when I set out it was to meet Louis Fink, a real professional, at Sepulpa, Okla. That was on February 15, 1911. We went at it hammer and tongs, and I probably would have won but for the fact that the referee saw fit to give the decision to Fink on a foul. That was about the only way I could lose.

"I have always felt that I could beat any man living. This confidence perhaps came from the fact that I am the biggest man in the business, and for the reason that I have always led an outdoor and temperate life. I am so strong, in fact, that I have won many a fight without bringing all my strength into play."

Freckles O'Brien started out in life as a newsboy and beat the amateurs until he became known as the "Pride of the Crescent City." At this stage Terry McGovern, the "Invincible," happened along and came out with a challenge to box any man in New Orleans. O'Brien's friends coaxed him to accept the challenge.

"When I arranged to meet McGovern," says O'Brien, "I agreed to stand up with him for four rounds, and the understanding was that there should be no slugging. We were just to tap each other lightly and go in for points. Terry didn't seem able to reach me oftener than I did him, and finally I came to the conclusion that it would be a great thing for me to be able to say I had knocked him out.

"The good opening I was looking for came at last and I landed one square under his jaw that shook him like an Arkansas chill. He staggered, fell against the scenery, and seemed to be right on the edge of the jumping off place. I tried to follow it up and fix him for sure, but the little fellow rallied and came at me. There was fire in his eye. He reached me with both hands about 100 times. It seemed like it was raining cannon balls. At last I felt as though a big stone slab had fallen on me. That was when Terry's terrible left caught me right on the point of the jaw. Yes, I came to, but I was never the same fellow afterward."

John L. Sullivan has often told the story of how he became a pugilist.

"I was a ball player before I became a fighter," says John L., in telling his life story. "I was playing in games around Boston and boxing occasionally just for the fun of it. Having made up my mind to become a fighter, I went at it in a systematic way. I never had a teacher. I never took a boxing lesson in my life. I watched other boxers keenly and appropriated the best of their styles. I was strong and that made it easy for me to experiment.

"The first regular sparring match—they would call it a fight these days—that I ever had was in 1878, when I met Johnny Woods, better known as 'Cocky' Woods, in Cockerhill hall, Hanover street, Boston. He was also a Bostonian and was a man of considerable reputation, [illegible] Benicia boy. After a little preliminary sizing up I planted a clean wallop and he was out. You understand that at this time practically all championship fights were fought under the old London prize ring rules. They differ vastly from the Marquis of Queensberry rules that are used today."

Arthur Flint, at one time considered one of the best lightweights in the middle west, started out in life as a horseshoer. Charley and Dan Daly were the champion lightweights of that part and the horseshoers were always hunting around for some boxer to meet them. At last they induced Flint to tackle Dan, the eldest of the Daly brothers. They fought with skin tight gloves that made the knuckles as hard as steel.

"I thought I was winning," said Flint, in telling his story of the fight, "until Dan landed that right punch to my jaw. Then the ground gave way and I felt as though I was sinking into some deep place. I kept going down and down until I struck something hard and then I stopped. I saw all kinds of lights on my journey. I thought the boys were giving me a reception and that the torchlights were being carried in honor of my victory. I heard the newsboys shouting out the account of the battle and I was feeling immensely proud till some one gave me a push into the river. But it wasn't the river. It was only part of it. You see, just then some one had reached us with a bucket of river water and had doused me with it. Then I came to only to learn the sad truth."

Frank Schieberle, the great little featherweight, who has been beating some of the best boys of the middle west, was a train boy in Iowa before he set out as a prize fighter. That is how he came to be known as "Peanuts" Schieberle.

Schieberle's friends considered him the next thing to invincible, for he had beaten all comers, and when he met little Ollie Bishop in the St. Louis Coliseum they bet their last dollar on him. They had never dreamed that Ollie would be able to take the measure of their man. One single blow did the business. It landed on the point of Schieberle's chin.

"Just then," said Schieberle, "I thought the roof of the Coliseum had fallen in on me. And the blows that came as I was trying to regain my feet felt like as if the rafters from the roof were coming at me from every direction."

Jimmy Handler had a strange experience in the beginning of his first real fight. Jimmy, starting out as a messenger boy in Newark, put on the gloves with the best amateurs and beat them easily. Then he launched a challenge at Billy Vernon, then known as the "fighting brickmaker."

In the first part of that battle Vernon put in some jolts that nearly blinded the Newark lad. But Handler was game, and although dizzy and staggering, he managed to land a rap that put Vernon fast asleep. Handler was still groggy when he went to his dressing room, and sitting down he began to weep copiously.

"I kin lick that feller."

"Certainly you kin," was the reply.

"Will he give me another match?" asked the fighter.

"What's ye want to fight him ag'in, when ye put him out?"

"Didn't he lick me."

"Naw," was the response.

It was half an hour before Handler could divest himself of the impression that he had been whipped by Vernon.

WHADDYE MEAN?

It is said that lawyers in the baseball litigation are about to crack under the strain.

Bennie Kauff was a much needed "dash of paprika" to an otherwise insipid week in baseball.

George Lyon won the clay pigeon championship of America because he had the breaks.

Spring stage successes:
Bill Donovan in "He comes up smiling."
Barber Tom Jones in "Chin Chin."
Bennie Kauff in "A Mix-Up."
Jim Thorpe in "Under Cover."
Charles Weeghman in "The Little Cafe."

If Charles Herzog is able to settle his personal feuds without delay, he may find some time this season to devote to baseball.

Here they are all rolled together:
Bennie Kauff.
Ross Kauff.
Wyckoff.
King Kopf.

Persons who never went to Shibe Park in '10, '11, '12, '13 and '14 are complaining about the poor team Connie Mack has turned out this season.

Shorty Foley says: "If you never raved about the Athletics when they won world's championships, don't knock them now."

If you think that Napoleon Lajoie is all in, just get some American League pitcher on the long-distance phone.

We don't think so much of Boland, the young pitcher who is winning games for Detroit. He hasn't made any triple plays unassisted so far.

Ty Cobb is not sorry that Kauff was sent back to the Feds, for Ty won't have to [illegible] to keep pace with Bennie's speed in the fast set.

If Griffith and Herzog are ever hooked up in a world's series, then even Secretary Daniels will admit that the navy is not strong enough.

Many fans are sad because of the news that Stc. O'Laughlin's dulcet voice has a Liberty Bell crack. So far the Panama Expo has not sent for the voice.

This is the second year of the expansion of the Federal League, and its backers are still unable to find any signs [illegible] through their periscope.

There is a whole lot of merriment for [illegible] the $25,000 suit of Melvin Sheppard, amateur, for injuries received in a race.

Phils and the Yanks are the submarines of baseball.

It is said that the fan who attends the Feds games in St. Louis has [illegible] President Gilmore for arriving at the park ten minutes too late.

Technical High Players Are Dubbed Professionals

The Tech high baseball fans are "peeved" not a little for the league's ruling in disqualifying "Snowy" Torgenson, their star outfielder, to play in the league games. Tech fans thought they had been penalized enough when Bobby Smale was eliminated from high school competition, but when the news leaked out that Torgenson and probably four other Tech members were protested against by Berkeley high, the Tech fans then began to make a holler.

Fortunately for Tech, Torgenson was the only one of the four who was suspended, for Dutch Holstrom, the manager of the Grove Street Merchants, had issued a written statement that "Snowy" was a member of the Grove Street Merchant team and played ball against "Speed" Martin, Joe Tobin, Billy Menges, etc., all professionals.

Berkeley's action in protesting wasn't looked for. Fact is, this is the first time, perhaps, in the history of the school that a protest has been lodged by them.

"Snowy" Torgenson and Bobby Smale, the two classiest outfielders in the Alameda county high school athletic league, were unable to compete in the official league games this year, but they will be back for duty next season and these lads will certainly add some strength to the Tech team next season.

Torgenson is only a freshman, while Freites has three years yet to go. Johnny Paulino has two, while Bobby Smale has two. Four A1 outfielders, and all members of the same team.

With the exception of De Witt and the possible exception of Bud Sharpe, the rest of the Tech team will be intact, which means that the 1916 A. C. A. L. title race looks like a cinch for Tech.

There are all kinds of prospective first teamers on the second team this year. Barney, Davis, Clements, Dick Weeks, etc., being all first rate ball players.

Russell Lindgren, the peppery second catcher for the Tech high team, is a favorite to win the editorship of the Tech High Scribe. Russ is not only a good ball player, but is also active in other student affairs.

If Sharpe is lost to the Technical team next year, his place will be easily filled by "Red" Toome, the lad who is now holding down the first sack for the Company E team of the L. C. C. league. Toome is a highly polished ball player and will make a valuable addition to the Tech team.

There are enough ball players going to Tech to start a league all by themselves, and in the event of the Alameda county athletic league "breaking up," Tech followers need not worry, for they can be amused by a league of their own. No less than 70 signed up for the tryouts this spring, which, if divided by four, would leave over sixteen fellows for each team.

Getting right down to it, the games would be closer and better attended than the league competition games. Of course, it wouldn't work if all the first teamers are on one side, but if the Tech coach fairly sprinkled the good, bad, and indifferent ones around, then some good games would develop.

The writer earnestly believes that Tech will greatly profit by a change of this kind. It would tend to develop a better set of ball players and would make room for the best rule that ever governed prep athletic activities, and that is "athletics for the many and not for the few."

Then again, Technical high school is not so immensely satisfied with the way things are being run in the A. C. A. L. and chances are if the Tech students were to vote on whether they should remain in the league or not, a majority of the cast would reveal that the sentiment highly favors their quitting the league. A [illegible] of their own may tend [illegible] possible.

Nelson, pitcher [illegible] man for the Tech high [illegible] year, while Alf [illegible] caught for Berkeley high. George de Witt at first [illegible] present [illegible] team, while Myers at short [illegible] ney, outfielder, is also a Tech [illegible] while Centen, now playing [illegible] Avalons, worked in the outfield for Berkeley high last year.

CHICAGO VARSITY COMING.

CHICAGO, May 14.—The University of Chicago baseball team will make a five-months' trip to Japan this summer, playing games with the Japanese universities' nines, it was announced yesterday. The players will leave here early in August and will play a number of games en route to the coast.

Columbia's second Eddie Collins may cross the sharps by deciding to become a projectile trust president.

Stallings and McGraw are convinced that their only hope is to torpedo Alexander and Killefer.

NEW MEN IN UNIVERSITY FACULTY

BERKELEY, May 14.—Appointments to the faculty of the University of California and promotion to higher positions of men already therein have been announced by the president's office for next semester. Of large interest is the naming of Dr. Elwood Mead to a place again in the teaching staff after an absence of a number of years. Dr. H. J. Quayle has been awarded for original research work by promotion to a full professorship, the only man in the faculty to whom such honor is given.

Professor Mead was in the University of California faculty previously, beginning in 1899 as professor of the theory and practice of irrigation. Seven years ago he was granted a leave of absence to become a member and then chairman of the State river and water commission of Australia with headquarters at Victoria and chief engineer of the Victorian water supply department.

A graduate of the Iowa State college, Professor Mead was in the federal engineering corps for several years, then an instructor in the Colorado Agriculture college and later chief of the irrigation and drainage investigation of the United States department of agriculture.

J. B. Davidson is appointed professor of agricultural engineering, a department of the college of agriculture to which full attention has not heretofore been given. An investigating plant for the testing in detail of agricultural machinery is to be established of which Professor Davidson will be in charge. Dr. Herbert M. Evans comes from Johns Hopkins university to the medical school of this university to be professor of anatomy. He is heralded by a reputation gained in clever anatomical investigations at his eastern post.

Francis S. Philbrick of New York is named professor in the law department and H. S. Reed is made professor of plant physiology at the citrus station at Riverside.

The raising in rank of Dr. H. J. Quayle to a full professorship is in recognition of important contributions made by him to the control of insect pests in crops. Farnham P. Griffiths, former secretary to President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, is named a lecturer in the law school. Professor Martin C. Flaherty will have charge of a new department, the purpose of which is the training of students in public address and discussion.

UNIVERSITY APPOINTMENTS.

Other new appointments are:

Assistant professors — George W. Corner, anatomy; I. C. Hall, bacteriology; Donald Bruce, forestry, and H. A. Mattill, nutrition. Katherine J. Everts has been named lecturer in vocal interpretation.

New instructors are:

W. D. Wallis, anthropology; Frans Schneider, German; Ruby Cunningham, hygiene; F. V. Simonton, dentistry; A. W. Johnson, laryngology; Olga Bridgman, pediatrics; Alfred E. Meyers, Howard L. A Hint for Coming Maternity

In a little book designed for expectant mothers more complete instruction is given in the use of "Mother's Friend." This is an external embrocation applied to the abdominal muscles for the purpose of reducing the strain on ligaments, cords and tendons.

It serves to ease the mind, indirectly has a most beneficial effect upon the nervous system and thousands of women have delightedly told how they were free of nausea, had no morning sickness and went through the ordeal with most remarkable success. "Mother's Friend" has been growing in popular favor for more than forty years. In almost every community are grandmothers who used it themselves, their daughters have used it and they certainly must know what a blessing it is when they recommend it so warmly. It is used very successfully to prevent caking of breasts.

"Mother's Friend" has been prepared in the laboratory of Bradfield Regulator Co., 304 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for more than two generations and can be had of almost any druggist from coast to coast. Write to-day for the Little Book.

POET MARKHAM IS GUEST AT HAYWARD

HAYWARD, May 14.—A royal welcome to his former home city was today tendered Edwin Markham, the poet, who is the guest of honor at several affairs arranged by the Hill and Valley Club, school officials, and others. Mayor Charles W. Heyer, President J. D. Armstrong of the Chamber of Commerce and Principal F. P. Johnson were among those who officially welcomed the poet. Markham was invited to spend a day here by Mrs. George A. Oakes, acting for the Hill and Valley Club. As soon as his coming was learned, different organizations and residents prepared to fete him.

On his arrival the poet was met by Mayor Heyer, J. D. Armstrong, high and grammar school trustees, the committee of arrangements, the graduating classes of the high and grammar schools and a large gathering of the residents of this city and the neighboring districts. He was escorted to the high school by E. O. Webb, president of the high school board of trustees, in a decorated automobile. Here Markham was entertained by Principal F. P. Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Mary Dickson, a friend of the poet, and the faculty and scholars. At luncheon Markham was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Oakes. In the afternoon he was entertained by the teachers and scholars of the grammar school, with Principal E. N. Mabrey as host. Trustees A. W. Beam, Mrs. L. R. Rosenberg and F. I. Lemos were present.

OLD ACQUAINTANCES MEET.

Following the grammar school program, the poet was taken on a sightseeing tour by automobile through the valley by his old friend, E. B. Russell. In the auto party were Herman Whitaker, the novelist, of Oakland, and Charles S. Long, who was a member of the grammar school board of trustees when Markham taught here.

This evening the bard will be the guest at dinner of Mr. and Mrs. John Allan Park, who have invited a company of friends to meet him. A busy day will wind up with a public reception to be held this evening in the high school auditorium, under the auspices of the Hill and Valley Club. The people of Hayward and surrounding valley have been invited to attend.

Following is the program for tonight: Introduction of Hill and Valley Club President, Mrs. L. R. Rosenberg, by George A. Oakes, who will preside as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Rosenberg will give an address of welcome, followed by P. J. Crosby, who will speak on "Markham" and the honor of having him as guest.

Mrs. A. J. Powell, a former pupil of the poet, will talk from the pupils' standpoint and introduce Mr. Markham, who will give a reading from several of his poems.

Mrs. F. T. Cooper and son, Herbert, will give selections on the piano and violin. Miss Helen Love, Miss Inez Allen and Miss Rey del Valle of San Francisco will each contribute a vocal solo to the program.

The decorations in the high school auditorium will be made by the pupils of the school.

In replying to the welcome given him by public officials and townsmen the poet spoke of his early association with this city, in the beautiful environs of which he found inspiration for many of his finest poems. Markham was many years ago a teacher in the public school here.

CANNERY LOOTED; THUGS HAVE FEAST

SAN LEANDRO, May 14.— Breaking into the premises of the Pacific Preserve Company, near the Southern Pacific depot here, a gang of thieves feasted on canned fruits and pickles and stole $300 worth of machinery fittings. They stripped a 72-foot leather belt, valued at $175, from the machinery and took, besides, a large quantity of brass pipes and valves and scrap brass and a new $50 bicycle.

Empty bottles of catsup and other preserves were left strewn about by the thieves after a regular orgy. They left behind a pair of old shoes, which may furnish a clew to their identity. The theft was discovered by W. Tate, manager of the company, who at once notified Marshal Joseph Peralta and Constable Al La Cunha.

The preserve company's works have been closed down for several days, and the robbery may have been committed several days ago. Men who were acquainted with the works are believed to be responsible. No suspicious characters were seen around the place, although in order to remove the quantity of machinery fittings it must have been necessary to requisition a vehicle.

How to Overcome Stomach Trouble

An able stomach specialist says that stomach trouble in most cases is due to too much acid and not to a lack of digestive juices. The excess acid, hyperacidity doctors call it, destroys the action of the digestive juices and your food ferments and sours.

To neutralize the excess acid use ordinary Bisurated Magnesia, taking a teaspoonful in water after meals. It works almost like magic. In a comparatively short time you can eat anything. If at any time you have the slightest distress after eating simply take a little Bisurated Magnesia, to be had at any drug store, and obtain complete relief in from one to five minutes.

SENATOR EXPLAINS MONROE DOCTRINE

ALAMEDA, May 14.—Senator James D. Phelan lectured before a large audience last night in the Unitarian church [illegible] the West Indies at a meeting of the Unitarian club. The Pacific quartet, composed of [illegible], [illegible] Ross and [illegible], rendered selections previous to the address.

Senator Phelan defined the nature of his commission to the West Indies, where [illegible] United States, and Secretary of State to inquire into certain diplomatic relations.

"I met the president of Cuba, who was a refined, and well educated gentleman," said the speaker, "and later found that he was a Cornell graduate. When I arrived in Cuba, the legislature was in session, and I had the opportunity of viewing this law making body, which differed not a great deal from our own, except that it was small, consisting of about 24 men, who sat informally, and talked from their seats. As there were only a few representatives, there was no need for oratory and declamation, and each talked in a conversational tone.

"After leaving Havana, I went to the other end of the island and visited Santiago de Cuba. It was here that General Wood established order and government in his three year stay after the war. He made the place habitable, drove out the yellow fever, and now order and civilization make the place attractive.

EXPLAINS MONROE DOCTRINE.

"The Monroe doctrine," said the speaker in explaining the import of this definition by a former President, "is a policy by the United States insuring the small countries in the two Americas their independence, and not for the acquisition of territory. The United States intends to lay the fundamentals of a lasting government in these countries, and reserve the right to intervene."

The speaker related that when on board the U. S. S. Tacoma, he was forbidden to land in San Domingo, as the ship had been in Havana when a plague had broken out. The Senator was told that he would be quarantined for eight days, but by sending a message to the United States minister at Santo Domingo, he was permitted to land.

In describing the country, Phelan said: "Columbus named this island 'Espagnola' or little Spain. San Domingo embraces part of Haiti, and contains 18,000 square miles, three times as much as Haiti, but a strange fact is that the population is but one-third as large as the smaller division of the island. In Haiti there is in the neighborhood of 1,800,000 persons, while San Domingo with three times as large an area, contains but 500,000. In the latter part of the eighteenth century, San Domingo was highly developed by the French, and the land was worked by slaves. These slaves soon grew more populous than the owners of the land and soon a mixture sprang up, half of French and half of negro extraction.

"These people at the time of the French revolution sent generous gifts to France and asked the French directorate to confer free rights upon them. A commissioner was sent by the directorate to grant these requests, and he was slain by the wealthy French of pure blood, who were the ruling power in the island. This act was a direct defiance of the French against their own government.

U. S. CONTROLS REVENUE.

"America controls the entire revenue of the Dominican people, and therefore is the controller of the government. San Domingo owes a large debt, and as soon as this is paid, America will leave her to herself, but now at the request of the San Dominicans, who realize their inability to rule themselves, to the best advantage, the United States has taken the entire source of revenue, the custom service, into her own hands."

The lecturer further stated:

"The United States does not intend to acquire this country, although the San Dominicans asked that this be done.

"Our policy," continued Phelan, "is to assist this power to run its government as a republic, as that is the most efficient form, and when this can be accomplished, and San Domingo has paid off its foreign debt, the United States will draw away, but until then, this country will protect the independence of the island republic, and allow no foreign power at any time to acquire land, according to Monroe Doctrine."

LOSS OF APPETITE

Most Successfully Treated by Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Loss of appetite is accompanied by loss of vitality, which is serious.

It is common in the spring because at this time the blood is impure and impoverished and fails to give the digestive organs what is absolutely necessary for the proper performance of their functions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable all-the-year-round medicine, is especially useful in the spring. Get it from your druggist today. By purifying and enriching the blood and giving vitality, vigor and tone, it is wonderfully successful in the treatment of loss of appetite and the other ailments prevalent at this time. It is not simply a spring medicine—it is much more than that—but it is the best spring medicine.

POET SILL TOPIC OF PASTOR'S TALK

Rev. Albert W. Palmer Likens Him to Stevenson and Other Idealists.

ALAMEDA, May 14. — Yesterday afternoon at the new club and library session of the Adelphian club, the Rev. Albert W. Palmer gave his hearers, who numbered about half a hundred club women and their guests, an insight into the life and character, and the noble aspirations of Edward Rowland Sill, author of the two poems, "Opportunity" and "The Fool's Prayer."

[illegible] the life of Edward Rowland Sill from his birth at Windsor, Apr. 29, 1841, to his death in 1887, quoting from "The Hermitage," "April in Oakland," "Tempted," "The Reformer," "The Organ," "Opportunity," "The Fool's Prayer" and "To An Unknown Soul," which is in itself considered a revelation of the poet's own soul and after comparing him with other great natures, like St. Francis of Assisi, Robert Louis Stevenson, Henry Drummond and others, who had marvelous messages to deliver to the world, burned themselves out with their enthusiasm and inward fire of their genius, he closed with the poem "Life," which is inscribed on the sun dial memorial to Sill, at Chabot Conservatory in Oakland and which follows:

> "Forenoon, afternoon and night—
> Forenoon and afternoon and night—
> Forenoon and—what?
> The empty song repeats itself, no more?
> Yea, that is life, this forenoon sublime,
> This afternoon a psalm, this night a prayer.

Sill arrived in California in 1862, after a trip around the Horn, which he devoted to study, reading and thinking and to the contemplation of the sea. He was employed in a bank in Folsom after having been in the postoffice in Sacramento. Here he lived with a group of Yale people, but later came to San Francisco and sailed again for the Atlantic coast, and entered Harvard divinity school, where he found he had not the gift for the pulpit, and though having the artistic nature, with a tendency toward many lines of art he continued his teaching and returned to California in 1871, remaining until 1883, when, owing to broken health, he went back to Ohio, and after two years, his death followed at the age of 46.

The speaker divided the poetry of Sill into four parts, each striking a different note like the four voices of a choir—the first, the soprano, was the nature love; the second, the alto, the ethical note; the third, the tenor, the humor, which was a marked characteristic, and the fourth element the bass, spirituality, idealism.

At the conclusion of the talk, the curator, Mrs. B. C. Brown, expressed the appreciation of the audience and in turn, at the suggestion of the president, Mrs. A. J. Burgner, a rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Brown for providing such an interesting and uplifting afternoon. Among the audience were a number of the local clergy and a number of nonmembers of the club, many of whom greeted the Rev. Palmer and personally expressed their appreciation of his treatment of his subject.

The Effects of Opiates.

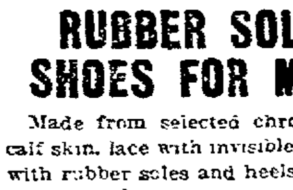

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

GREAT ORCHESTRA TO PLAY TONIGHT

Boston Symphonic Musicians Will Remain at Exposition Till May 25.

The Boston Symphony [illegible] best organization of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] heard in a series of concerts at Festival Hall in the Palace [illegible].

It has been said that the greatest single factor in the education [illegible] music in [illegible] country has been the Boston Symphony Orchestra [illegible] [illegible] its success has been the inspiration for other cities to establish orchestras [illegible] thirty-four years ago [illegible] first concert there were only two orchestras in this country, both in New York; today there are nearly two dozen of [illegible] Ten years after the Boston Symphony orchestra was formed the Chicago Orchestra was established to do the work in the Middle West which the Boston Orchestra has been doing in the [illegible] Philadelphia orchestra was established, while the San Francisco orchestra is a distinct credit to California.

The coming of Dr. Karl Muck to America in 1906 was a notable [illegible] in the history of the orchestra. Dr. Muck, who secured from the German Emperor a special leave of absence for one year, immediately showed himself a man of interesting personality and a conductor of genius. He inspired the orchestra as no other man had done. At the end of his first year his leave of absence was extended for a second season, but it was impossible to secure him at that time as a permanent conductor, for the reason that Berlin refused to give him up. He left in the spring of 1908, promising, however, to return as soon as he was free, and Max Fiedler of Hamburg, another brilliant conductor, filled the post for four years. In the fall of 1912 Dr. Muck returned for a long term of years and it would be difficult to exaggerate the effect his work has had on the orchestra and on the public which patronize its concerts. He has put it in an unassailable position as the finest concert orchestra in the world and its audiences, wherever it plays, are literally limited by the size of the halls.

Matinee concerts will be given this and next Sunday with performances every evening except Saturdays and Sundays. Tuesday evening, May 25, will mark the last concert at Festival Hall.

The program for this evening and tomorrow afternoon are as follows:

GOVERNOR LOSES: FIVE MURDERERS WILL HANG

By Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 14.—George W. P. Hunt's long fight against capital punishment came to naught when the state board of pardons decided there should be five executions May 28 at Florence prison.

The executions will be the first since Arizona became a state and Governor Hunt took the gubernatorial chair three years ago. It is understood that R. E. Sims, warden of Florence prison, will resign, rather than have charge of the executions.

The five men who will be hanged May 28—all murderers—have had their cases passed upon by higher courts and were doomed today when the board of pardons declined to grant clemency.

BOYS DEFACED BOOTHS ON ELECTION, SAYS EMPLOYER

Facing an accusation of defacing election booths with political placards at the municipal election Tuesday, William Fargo, showman and owner of a theater in Los Angeles, surrendered to the police today. He was released on payment of $100 bail after being booked for a misdemeanor.

Fargo claimed that he hired two boys, believed to have come into the city with the circus, to stencil the footprints, with the legend "Bilger Leads the Way," on the sidewalks near the election booths.

The boys must have exceeded their instructions, he said, as he read in The Tribune that warrants were out for the arrest of the parties responsible for placing the signs on the tents. He claims to know nothing of the whereabouts of the boys.

BROADWAY EXTENSION TO BE AMICABLY SETTLED

The matter of opening, widening and extending Broadway, which has been under discussion by the council, and residents of the district, will probably be amicably settled at a meeting of the council Monday. All switching will, hereafter, under the plan proposed, be done at the general yards at Fortieth street and Shafter avenue.

The library board stated that its budget had not been made to include the amount necessary for the erection of the library and it had no funds otherwise available. The council accepted the bid of $7909 of J. Wendering, but postponed the granting of the contract.

'SWAT-THE-FLY' WARNING AGAIN ISSUED IN OAKLAND

Again the age-old cry of "Swat the Fly" is about to ring out upon the startled ears of Oakland. Dr. Allen F. Gillihan, city health director, is already preparing the speeches and arguments which he will use to convince the people of the city of the danger of flies. He will circulate pamphlets and will appear before improvement clubs and women's organizations in his educational campaign, and will seek to have the city "cleaned up," that the breeding places of the flies may be eliminated.

"The fly season is at hand," declares John Mellon, secretary to the board of health. "This approaching hot weather will bring them out. Now is the time to kill the flies. Get them while they are young and small, and in their breeding places, instead of waiting for them to grow up so you can take a swatter to them."

A bulletin which has been issued by the health department, in part, reads as follows:

"The most effective way to fight the dangerous house fly is to destroy the places wherein it breeds. When you swat the breeding place you are swatting flies by the wholesale. If only a few persons in a neighborhood are careless about this important matter, the community still will be pestered with flies. It is a great deal easier to remove the conditions that cause the flies than it is to try to destroy them with swatters and poison after they are with us."

Here is a fly-killing mixture which is recommended by the department:

"To a pint of milk and water of equal parts add two tablespoonfuls of formaldehyde. Place in shallow plates with a square of bread in the center of each plate. The bread furnishes places for the flies to alight, and as it absorbs the mixture the flies will feed from it more readily than from the edges of the plates. It is a good plan to place plates containing the poison just outside the kitchen door, where the flies usually swarm to get in. The flies seem to like it and it kills them quickly."

PACIFIC GAS & LIGHT MEN GATHER AT BANQUET

The annual dinner of employes of the Alameda county district, Pacific Gas and Electric Company, was held last evening at which there were over 150 employes in attendance. The various departments and branch offices of the company in Alameda county were represented.

Frank A. Leach Jr., district manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, acted as chairman of the evening. In the course of his remarks, he told of the rapid growth of the company in Alameda county. "It is indeed a pleasure to be present with such a representative gathering of our men. It was but a few years ago when the organization was numerically small, additions were made to the company's forces one at a time, once in a while. Now they are made in threes and fours until we are now a great family, of over 800 men and women working in synchronism as a unit to make 'Pacific Service a Perfect Service.' The Alameda county district is conceded to be the banner district of the great organization we represent. You men, through your loyalty and co-operation, make it so and I take this opportunity of thanking you and wishing the success which is to our mutual interests."

The evening's program was made up of numbers by employes.

"I want to assure one and all that I will continue as in the past for the best interests of all the people.

"The vote given me is a vote of confidence and appreciation of my efforts to give every one a square deal."

On April 19 Jim Gun died while his white wife was at his side. The end was sudden, he having enjoyed excellent health until the day of his death. Chinatown went into mourning, and there was no need of the extra policemen who were on duty since the death of the tong leader.

At the funeral the high esteem in which he was held was demonstrated by [illegible] prevailed, but there was one exception. Usually there is a collection, which is taken to pay for the entrance of the soul into heaven, but Mrs. Gun objected to this part of the ceremony, and all of the residents of Chinatown acquiesced. There was no stopping the display of Tong members, however, and 300 carriages were filled with followers as the funeral started for Cypress Hills cemetery in Brooklyn.

Not only were there comrades from New York, but many Chinese from neighboring states came to pay their respects to the dead Tong leader.

There was one discordant note. It was whispered that the eldest daughter of Jim Gun, who married Mock Duck, would not be present at the funeral. It was said that Mock Duck was active in the rival Hip Sing Tong and his appearance at the ceremonies might mean trouble. Duck would not join the funeral cortege at the house, although he declared that he had long since quit all secret societies. "The reason why my wife and myself will not go to the store when the body is being removed is because the crowd will be too great and e can pay honor to Jim Gun at the cemetery. Don't believe there is a dead line in Chinatown between the Hip Sing and the On Leong Tongs. In 1913 the Tongs made peace, and that peace will not be broken."

The funeral ceremonies for Jim Gun were conducted by the Rev. John R. Henry, of the Church of All Nations. He also conducted simple services in the Cypress Hill cemetery.

Water Company's Value $2,500,000, Says Expert

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—J. B. Lippincott, civil engineer of Los Angeles, was on the witness stand throughout the morning in the railroad commission's hearing of the Peoples Water Company's petition to re-organize. Lippincott gave his valuation of the water rights of the corporation as $100,000 per million gallons capacity per day.

He based these figures on water rights all over the State of California and was subjected to a long cross-examination on the part of Attorney Charles S. Wheeler, representing Rudolph Spreckels, one of the large bond holders of the corporation. The present capacity of the Peoples Water Company, according to the witness, is 16,000,000 gallons per day and on that basis he valued it at $1,600,000. The reserve supply he placed at 13,000,000 gallons and gave it a value of $15,000 per million gallons. His total figures, therefore, on the water rights, including the reserve supply, was $2,500,000.

The testimony was entirely of a technical nature. All of the interested attorneys with the exception of former Chief Justice Matt I. Sullivan, were present.

MADE PALATE OUT OF NOSE.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 14.—Born 11 years ago with what is known as a cleft palate, without a roof to his mouth, and which affected his speech, Robert Simpson was given relief by an operation performed in the Frances Willard hospital, Chicago. Surgeons formed a palate by cutting out tissues from behind the nose, reinforced by a temporary plate of lead. It is believed new tissues and membrane will form at points where the transfer was made and that the patient will be able to talk without impediment.

FOREMAN'S ARM IS BURNED BY VOLTS

Near Death, He Incurs Terrible Injuries, But Will Recover.

SUTTER CREEK, May 14.—Timothy J. Donovan, the South Eureka mine foreman, who so narrowly escaped [illegible] in the mine from electric shock, is now recovering from the shock and considers himself very fortunate to have no worse injury than [illegible] burnt arm, where the electricity [illegible] effect.

Had it not been for the presence of mind and prompt action of [illegible] [illegible] the young Austrian who rushed to his rescue and [illegible] Donovan would not be [illegible]. Donovan was making his regular [illegible] mine, coming up from the [illegible] 2000-foot level, where he was explaining something about the work.

In pointing out the work his arm came in contact with a high-power wire and he was at once rendered unconscious. Jim Brant switched off the electric power at the pump nearby and then telephoned to the surface to shut off the electricity. Immediately upon this being done, Donovan fell to the ground.

[illegible] of the first aid corps organized here about a year ago, but who had also been well trained while in army service, worked for fully 35 minutes, with the help of Bryant and others, before the foreman regained consciousness. Several times the others would have given him up, believing him dead, but the little Austrian refused to quit, and their efforts were finally rewarded.

Dazed from the shock Donovan remembers nothing of his experience, though he has a badly burned arm and sore muscles to show for it. After reaching town he was able to walk from the auto to his room, but it will be some little time before he recovers sufficiently from his contact with the power wire to return to his post. Andrew Gagliardo was killed in the South Eureka mine a couple of years ago by coming in contact with half the voltage Donovan received.

POLICE HELP WRECK VAULT WITH DYNAMITE

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—Aided by a squad of policemen in charge of Corporal Pendergast, expert dynamiters blew up the vault of the Capital National bank at Seventh and J streets a few minutes past 4 o'clock this morning. No money or valuables were taken by either policemen or dynamiters.

In order that the razing of the building at Seventh and J streets might be continued it was found necessary to blow up the vault. The police squad surrounded the lot and kept away early-morning pedestrians. The Capital National bank is doing business at 516 J street while their new building is being built.

MAN USES DYNAMITE; COYOTE LOSES HIS TAIL AND SHEPHERD TWO DOGS

SALINAS, May 14.—Antoine Barrios, a shepherd in charge of a large band of sheep near Soledad, today discovered a new way of handling the coyote problem. He will not use it again.

Barrios captured one of the coyotes that had been ravaging his band. He thought he could use it to get rid of its companions, so he tied a stick of dynamite and a fuse to the animal's tail and turned it loose with the idea that it would run to join its friends.

But Barios' dogs gave chase to the coyote and drove it near a bunch of cattle. Two dogs and several cattle were killed. The coyote lost his tail.

LARGE AREA IN TEHAMA COUNTY IS UNDER PLOW

CORNING, May 14.—The Tapsent ranch of several thousand acres is being plowed [illegible] and day these days. Tapsent states that the mule teams have seen their last days drawing plows for him, [illegible] [illegible] two [illegible] with a caterpillar gang plow and already [illegible] acres have been turned over and [illegible] expect to plow [illegible] acres.

Fred Smith of Davis was here, and [illegible] Smith thinks that Tehama [illegible] will have a number of these plows on the lands here in the very near future. Tehama county, or this part at least, has been rather slow in taking hold of this method of plowing, but the thousands of acres between here and Paskenta, which even have not been cultivated very much, will be brought into a high state of cultivation, for before it was hardly profitable and the land has been used as a sheep pasture. Tapsent is having his plowed for summer fallow, and in the fall expects to plant it to barley. The rain has helped the plowers wonderfully, too.

STUDENTS ARE DENIED PERMISSION TO DANCE

MODESTO, May 14.—Dancing as a social function of the classes of the Modesto high school received another blow at the meeting of the school board Tuesday night, when refusal was given to a request of the sophomore class for the sanction of the board in an affair scheduled for Friday night. A request from the freshman class met with similar treatment three weeks ago. For many years the principal social evenings of the Modesto students have been devoted to the dance, without any approach to the school board for permission, but recent protests by some of the students of the school and by parents, as well as the decision of the superintendent, led to the necessity for permission from the board, which has now been refused. The refusal of the board included the hint that hereafter the use of the name of the school or of the school's colors or pennants in connection with dances would meet with proper action from the board.

WALSH FOUNDLING, WITNESSES TESTIFY

OROVILLE, May 14.—When hearing of the contest of Vincent Walsh for a share of the large estate left by the Gridley [illegible] L. C. Stone was resumed [illegible] attention was given an [illegible] deposition of Mrs. Ann Kellogg, who states the denoument was [illegible] at the birth of the plaintiff at the Stone home in Gridley and seeks to establish the fact that Walsh was a foundling taken from a San Francisco orphanage.

Edward Walsh, brother of the late Charles Walsh, who married May Stone, also dead, who was called as a witness, turned toward Vincent Walsh and said:

"I would know that fellow anywhere. He is the younger of the two boys I took to Gridley."

Walsh was a clerk in the Stone store in Gridley at the same time his brother Charles Walsh was employed there, and lived in the Stone home before and after the marriage of his brother and Miss May Stone. The latter at no time showed the appearance of one about to become a mother.

HE RELATES OCCURRENCE.

The witness told of bringing two young boys from an orphanage in San Francisco to the Stone home in Gridley, of whom one was Vincent Walsh. He stated he never heard of Mrs. May Walsh giving birth to a child until the present action was started.

E. E. Biggs, who, with Mrs. Edith Johnson, received the property of the Stone estate, was called. Biggs is a banker in Gridley and married Miss Theresa Stone, a sister of the late Mrs. May Walsh, who died several years ago, and Biggs received half her share, or one-sixth of the Stone estate. He told of attending the wedding of W. F. Houk and Miss Kate Schorr in Sutter county, September 15, 1885. Mrs. May Stone Walsh was present and took a lively part in the wedding festivities. Walsh claimed September 19, 1885, as the date of his birth, saying this date was given him by one of the Stone family. Biggs denied the portion of the deposition of Mrs. Kellogg stating Mrs. Walsh for two months before the alleged birth of a child was an invalid. Charles Walsh and Miss May Stone were married in August, 1885.

Mrs. C. H. Block, wife of a well-known business man of Gridley and who has [illegible] there since 1885, testified she was an intimate friend of the late Mrs. May Walsh and met her almost daily. She denied that the appearance of Mrs. Walsh at that time denoted she was about to become a mother.

PARENTAGE DISCUSSED.

Mrs. Block said she and Mrs. Walsh had discussed the parentage of Vincent Walsh several times. Mrs. Walsh always said she knew nothing of the boy's parents.

Miss Theresa Walsh of San Francisco, a sister of the late Charles Walsh and sister-in-law of Mrs. May Walsh, testified she went to the orphanage in San Francisco with her brother and his wife to learn something about the parents of Vincent. All they could find out was he was born September 19, 1885.

Mrs. D. Sheridan, with whom Mrs. Block boarded while teaching in Gridley before her marriage, practically corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Block in every way. She said Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Block were close friends, and on this account the former frequently visited the home of the witness before and after her marriage.

A large number of witnesses, residents of Gridley, will be called by the defense to contradict the testimony concerning the alleged birth of the plaintiff in Gridley.

Dr. L. Q. Thompson of Gridley contradicted the deposition of Mrs. Ann Kellogg in stating she was present at the Stone home at the time of the death of L. C. Stone during his last illness and at no time was Mrs. Kellogg present.

JUDGE, LIKE SOLOMON, HAS "TICKLISH" CASE

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—Police Court Judge Henderson was called upon to decide a case which has features similar to those of a case before a wise man of Biblical times.

Two residents of this city claim ownership of a rooster. A. R. Bryant, 2315 I street, charges Mrs. John Hogan, 2329½ I street, with stealing his rooster and Mrs. Hogan claims to be able to convince any judge or jury that the fowl is her property.

The complaint alleges that Mrs. Hogan stole the rooster from Bryant and that said rooster was of the white leghorn variety, clipped on the right wing and of value of $1.50, legal tender of the United States.

Whereupon Mrs. Hogan retaliates in the form of a demurrer by stating: "Bryant stole that rooster from me. I went after it, and, as Bryant was not at home, I opened the coop and the rooster ran home so fast that it beat me. I guess that is proof enough the rooster belongs to me."

LAWYER WINS $50,000 FROM LOREN COBURN

REDWOOD CITY, May 14.—After three hours' deliberation, a jury composed of nine women and three men returned a verdict awarding A. J. Treat a $50,000 fee for his legal services in restoring Loren Coburn to competency. The wealthy landowner, who is now in his eighty-ninth year, immediately instructed his counsel to appeal the case.

This suit, in which Treat, who fought Coburn's legal battle for seven years, sought to recover a $75,000 fee, has been waged before Judge George H. Buck for eight days.

MOOSE HAVE OPTION.

OROVILLE, May 14.—The local Moose lodge has obtained an option to purchase the fine building in Thermalito used for 26 years as the I. O. O. F. home for $30,000. An effort will be made to have the national lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose to buy the property as a home for aged members of the order. The building was erected about 25 years ago as a resort by the Thermalito Colony Company and afterward sold to the grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

AGED MAN KILLED BY CAR.

GRASS VALLEY, May 14.—Richard Noell, aged 59 years, a wealthy hardware dealer, was struck by an electric car from Nevada City, receiving injuries which caused his death soon afterward. C. C. Skewes, general manager of the road, was acting motorman in place of his son. Noell leaves a big estate. A widow and three children survive him.

SACRAMENTO SUES S. P. FOR THE POSSESSION OF WATERFRONT PROPERTY

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—Sacramento City began yesterday a long-planned legal battle to regain possession of its waterfront along the Sacramento river. The property is valued at $10,000,000.

Suit was filed in the superior court this afternoon by City Attorney Yell against the Southern Pacific and the Central Pacific, as well as individual property owners, to quiet title to fifteen city blocks along the river from B to R streets, including a block of city property.

Among the defendants are Fannie Brown, I. E. Bontz, Baker & Hamilton, William Haub, Miller A. Enwright, Mrs. L. Elkus and Mebius & Drescher.

The waterfront is claimed by three parties, the Southern Pacific, now in possession, the owners of property on Front street paralleling the river, who have already begun suit, and the city itself.

MOTHER'S TEARS BRING TEARS TO JUDGE'S EYE

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—The tearful appeal of a mother for mercy for her son who had pleaded guilty in the United States district court so affected Judge Trippett that he wept in sympathy with the mother.

Paul Roll, 17 years old, pleaded guilty to a charge of sending an improper letter through the mails. The parents of the boy, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Roll, 135 East Fifty-first street, a married sister and several other grown acquaintances interceded for clemency.

In response to their plea, Clyde Moody, assistant United States attorney, announced that he was authorized to recommend that young Roll be placed in the reform school at St. Anthony, Idaho, instead of being sent to prison.

"Don't take our boy from us," pleaded the gray-haired mother. "He is the stay and comfort of our old age. Don't take him out of our home of prayer as he was given to us in prayer."

Wiping the tears from his eyes, Judge Trippett announced that he would pronounce judgment in the case later in the day, and adjourned court.

GIRL ROUTS ASSAILANT BY WIELDING HATPIN

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—By wielding a hatpin, Miss Della White of 249 Towne avenue saved herself from the attack of an unidentified man who accosted her early in the day near her home.

The man crept behind her and struck her a blow upon the head, knocking her to the pavement. Before he could advance the girl sprang to her feet and leaped toward him with her hatpin in her hand.

She jabbed the slender weapon at him several times. At the last jab the man's flushed face paled and his body writhed. He staggered away and the girl went to her home.

MISSION BUILDINGS MANY.

CORNING, May 14.—Most of the brick buildings in town have temporary scaffoldings erected and plasterers have their hands full in coping with the demand from the owners for the mission front style of architecture. A number of new buildings have been built in the last two years and they have all been of concrete, with the mission style front. This past week the Liersen house had the whole of the first story made to harmonize with the others in town. W. Kettels is having his building changed, he being right across from the Liersen house, and a short time ago the Tehama bank underwent a similar change until it has the appearance of one of the finest buildings in town. Later a portion of the Foster block was remodeled in the same way and when the Rochdale lease expires in about a year that portion of the block will also be modernized in every way.

STOCKTON REALTY OWNERS IN COURT

Action Under Abatement Law May Involve Prominent Men.

STOCKTON, May 14.—The [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] court [illegible] [illegible] abatement law was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] yesterday against Irene [illegible] and Frank Fraser.

It is alleged that a lodging house [illegible] at 734 North Center street by the [illegible] woman and owned by Fraser is being used for immoral purposes. The [illegible] attorney refused to reveal the source of his information or give out the contents of a secret affidavit which he is known to have in his possession.

When the case comes up for trial," he stated, "I'll furnish the court with an information of a surprising character."

It is rumored that other well known property owners are likely to be proceeded against in the near future under the same charge.

WAR TALK FORBIDDEN.

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—The war must not be discussed in classrooms of the city schools, according to a ruling given by Commissioner of Education Carragher in regard to a discussion of the European situation which is said to have taken place in a classroom of the high school, and in which a teacher is said to have taken an active part. Carragher learned of the affair and instructed Superintendent of Schools Hughes to issue strict orders that the war must not be discussed and that teachers who permit it will lay themselves liable to account to the board of education.

"TAKE A TIP"—Try for a Tribune [illegible]

Operation Not Needed

Mrs. W. A. Barnes, who lives in Ballard, Calif., has sent to the Pinus laboratories a very strong endorsement of Frutola and Traxo. In her letter, Mrs. Barnes says:

"Doctors said [illegible] stones cannot be cured without an operation [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] as unnecessary suffering [illegible] [illegible] this is proof positive, and my friends [illegible] that such is the case."

Frutola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs, softening the hardened particles that cause so much suffering and expelling the congested waste in an easy, natural manner. A single dose is usually sufficient to clearly indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a splendid tonic alterative that acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion and removes bile from the general circulation. Traxo should be taken three or four times a day following a dose of Frutola to strengthen and restore the weakened, run-down system.

For the convenience of the public arrangements have been made to supply Frutola and Traxo through leading drug stores. In Oakland they can be obtained at the stores of The Owl Drug Co.

DENIES PRISON RECORD WHICH FINGERS BETRAY

FRESNO, May 14.—Because of the police department records which showed that Willard K. McCready had served three years in San Quentin for burglary under the name of Fred Davis, Probation Officer Sessions recommended that parole be denied the defendant, who pleaded guilty to a charge of burglarizing a Southern Pacific boxcar. Sessions points out that McCready was not frank in furnishing the probation office with information to aid his case and that he only gave names of people who did not know him well enough to say a good word in his favor. The probation officer also points out that McCready faithfully declared that he had never been in trouble before, but that Fingerprint Expert Bottorff had established without doubt that he had served time in San Quentin under an alias for grand larceny.

STATE STATISTICIAN TO QUIT PLACE AUGUST 1

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—Lewis W. Boyle, deputy statistician of the state board of health, has resigned his position and will leave the employ of the state August 1, 1915. Boyle's resignation comes as the result of a move made by the board of health to do away with [illegible] [illegible] made a strenuous fight against being ousted, and, as a result, has been permitted to hold his place until the first of August.

Boyle filed the charges that resulted in the dismissal of John Lienen, chief assistant to Secretary Donald Currie of the board of health. Lienen was ousted by the civil service commission against the wishes of the health board. Since that time legislation has been passed which will deprive the civil service commission of the privilege of ousting an employe when his services are satisfactory to the department in which he works.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC WILL CUT RATES

Applies to Railroad Commission for Permit to Make Rail Tariff Same as Canal.

The Southern Pacific company yesterday emphasized its effort to give California shippers, through medium of its Sunset Gulf route, the same low rates as prevail via the Panama canal by filing with the Interstate Commerce commission a voluntary application for permission to make substantial reductions in its eastbound port to port rates on certain commodities.

The application is to publish reduced rates from Oakland, San Francisco and on wine from Winehaven, San Pedro and Wilmington only to New York and to Boston, Philadelphia and Charleston on dried fruits in boxes or sacks and wine and grape juice, except champagne, in glass, boxed or in bulk. The rates are intended to apply to Boston, Philadelphia and Charleston when sailings shall be arranged to these last ports.

The application comes on the heels of the commission's grant to the company of permission to establish a rate of 40 cents per 100 pounds on canned goods, asphaltum, beans and barley between the ports named and as the Sunset Gulf service offers the possibilities of making daily shipments in carload lots and because the bill of lading may be negotiated by the shippers immediately upon receipt by the company, the Southern Pacific expects to regain a considerable portion of the tonnage which it has been deprived since the opening of the canal.

The company asks permission to publish rates via Sunset Gulf route on dried fruit in boxes, including raisins, 60c per 100 pounds, 60,000 pounds minimum; dried fruit in boxes or sacks, including raisins, straight or mixed carload lots, 80c per 100 pounds, 60,000 pounds minimum; wine and grape juice, except champagne, in tank cars to Galveston or New Orleans and in barrels thence to destination, with barreling-in-transit privilege at either Galveston or New Orleans, 45c per 100 pounds minimum, 70,000 pounds; and on wine and grape juice, except champagne, in glass, boxed or in bulk in barrels, 45c per 100 pounds, 70,000 pounds minimum. The present blanket rates will be a maximum at intermediate points.

The present port to port rate on dried fruit in boxes is $1.10; that on dried fruit in boxes or sacks, straight or mixed carload lots, is $1.30 and the wine rate 50c.

BIG DECREASE SHOWN IN IMPORTS OF FRANCE

By Associated Press.

PARIS, May 14. — The value of imports of France during the first quarter of 1915 was less by 842,000,000 francs ($168,400,000) than in the corresponding quarter of 1914. Exports diminished 1,294,000,000 francs ($258,800,000). Virtually the whole of the reduction was in raw materials.

Importations of manufactured articles increased during the first quarter 139,000,000 francs ($27,800,000).

The figures for April show that imports of manufactured goods increased to the amount of 101,000,000 francs ($20,200,000) over April of last year. There was an increase of five million francs ($1,000,000) in foodstuffs. April exportations were lower by 322,000,000 francs ($64,400,000). Nearly all of the increase in manufactured articles came from the United States.

STATE BANKS IN U. S. SYSTEM

Federal Board May Extend Privileges

Local bankers today learned from Washington that the federal reserve board has virtually decided that it will allow state banks to enter the federal reserve system with the right to withdraw and surrender membership if desired. This is regarded as a very important decision, one that will assure the entrance of hundreds of strong state institutions into the reserve system.

Under the law as it now exists, state banks are restricted as are national banks with regard to withdrawing from the system having once entered it. Ever since the law went into effect state bankers in all parts of the country objected to entrance, contending that should they desire to withdraw they must surrender their charters.

The decision of the federal reserve board was taken after consultation with governors of the federal reserve banks and members of the advisory council. A circular soon to be issued will explain that the only limitation on the withdrawal of state banks shall be as to a maximum retirement of capital and reserve from the system during any one year.

It also will be made clear that the board does not wish to make hard and fast rules governing loans on real estate by state banks, but that it desires only to limit those loans so that a bank's assets will be kept always in a fairly liquid condition.

"This is an important thing to state bankers," S. C. Bennetts of the State Savings Bank of Oakland said today. "It probably means that hundreds of state banks will now take advantage of the benefits of the reserve system, which they would not have done had the existing provisions of the law regarding leaving the system remained in effect."

TAME CROW AND DOG ARE GOOD OLD PALS

BRONSON, Mich., May 14.—Burt Walker of this place is proving himself to be a genuine bred-in-the-bone naturalist. Hardly a year goes by that he doesn't capture some beast or bird of the field or wood and tame it to the docility of a barnyard fowl. He has captured innumerable squirrels, woodchucks, lizards and other small animals and made pets of them, and he even numbers among his collection two pet polecats.

His latest acquisition is a crow, which he captured last fall in the woods west of this village. The crow was a youngster when caught, but has readily adapted itself to the ways of civilization and made itself a member of the Walker household with an assurance and confidence that is amusing.

This crow shows what seems to be considerable more than average crow intelligence. He is as tame as a pet dog and will permit any one to pick him up and fondle him, although he is quick to resent where he feels he has reason.

Early in his career he made the acquaintance of "Bob," a dog belonging to Park Covey, who lives across the road, and since then the crow and the dog have been close friends. The crow has learned to imitate the dog's bark perfectly, and if anyone ventures on the Walker premises after dark they are greeted by a loud burst of pseudo dog profanity from the grape arbor, where the crow roosts.

When he gets hungry he comes to the back door and cries "Mamma, mamma," quite as intelligently as any child could. He learned this trick from the children.

STOCK MARKET IN SHARP DECLINE

Liquidation and International Situation Responsible for Downward Course.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 14. — A succession of declines for which liquidation was partly responsible marked the course of today's market. The international situation was the outstanding factor.

At the outset prices yielded only slightly except in the socalled war shares and similar specialties, which yielded a point. Later, however, the entire list became unsettled, standard railways as well as other dividend-paying stocks losing 1 to 2 points.

Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Reading, United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper, which constitute the most active speculative favorites, were freely offered during the first half hour, but seemed to be confidently taken. As the session progressed war shares continued to weaken, Bethlehem Steel and New York Air Brake losing 3 to almost 5 points. Motor stocks were correspondingly low. The decline was without any of the sensational features which attended the movement of a week ago. Sales in the first hour amounted to 21,000 shares.

The second hour was one of almost utter stagnation, but the market became decidedly more active during the noon hour, altogether at the expense of quoted values.

The market became still more active in the last hour, stocks then displaying greatest weakness. Investment shares were 2 to 4 points down and specialties lost 5 to 10 points, with little recovery at the close.

Total sales amounted to 720,000 shares.

Cherries and Berries Now Plentiful in Oakland Market

Cherries, for the first time in a week, were plentiful in the Oakland Market today, selling both in bulk and in boxes of various weights. There were both black and white varieties, the former bringing $2.25 to $2.50 for boxes of 24 baskets and from $1.25 to $1.50 for 10-pound boxes while the white fruit was offered at $1 a lug. None of these showed any unusual excellence, though the dark cherries were decidedly better than the light. With the heaviest receipts thus far in the season strawberries dropped sadly and at noon today it was evident that some would have to be carried over. Of the chests, Banner berries brought the best price while inferior grades sold as low as $2.50. From Fresno came an entire car of 920 crates and these added to 300 crates that came in by express dragged at the low range of 50 to 65 cents, the expressed fruit bringing the better price because they arrived in slightly better shape.

Completing the demoralization of the berry market 100 crates came in from Florin, and these, being of fair quality, were held at 50 to 65 cents per crate. As a whole strawberries were purchasable at a ridiculously low price for very acceptable fruit, but the heavy supply caused the market to weaken steadily after the early sales. Among the arrivals was a car of Sunkist oranges, selling at $2.75 per box straight.

In the vegetable market the most dramatic movement affected green peas which collapsed, after the arrival of several hundred sacks, so far below yesterday's quotation, making the extreme top in nearly all cases, $1.75 for Telephones. There were also small varieties available at $1 to $1.25 per sack. Some of the larger peas not being very desirable, were sold as low as $1 per sack, but demand was too slow to meet the sudden heavy influx. The next most important change in vegetables was a narrowing of the range on asparagus to $1.25 to $2.75, canners buying up all they could get at the lowest figure mentioned. From Los Angeles came shipments of large potatoes in lugs, cucumbers and squash. An interesting offering this morning consisted of very fine prickly pears that were held at 75 cents to $1 per box.

CONTEST GINGER.

The districts are full of hustling "Point Pickers" and people's pockets are full of possible subscriptions. The hustlers are out after them. Everybody gets something good, so why shouldn't everybody be good-natured about it? Good going all the way and the very best of company. But just try stopping for a day and see how those just behind you in the race will close up the gap.

The pleasantest place is in the lead. Remember, no one has a better right to the prizes than you have.

The trail of success runs over the mountain of work, and it leads to the summit of satisfied ambition.

There is no way to stop one who is determined to do things that will make other people take notice.

Don't brag about your prospects, wait until it's all over to crow. A wise candidate keeps his eyes open, but don't talk too much.

Subscribers should remember that they can do more now to help a candidate than later.

If you are a live candidate you have plenty of promises. Keep a tab on them. See that they come through.

If you are discouraged tonight you should wait till tomorrow before you decide the case is chronic. Ten to one you will wake up feeling full of hope and energy, and that's the time to ask for subscriptions.

When you confidently expect them you are apt to get them. In every business confidence is the biggest asset.

There are 5688 Prizes to be given away, but THE FIRST IS THE BEST. Try for the BEST. The higher you aim, the higher the mark you will reach.

Do you know of anyone in the Contest who is smarter than you are? If you think you do, the best way to prove yourself wrong is to dig up as many votes as possible and then compare what you get with what they have done.

HELP! HELP! HELP! Hear the cry of the busy contestants. "We want your help and we want it NOW. Quick, Mr. Subscriber, the BIG VACATION OFFER is passing—the time for getting points is speeding by—the Contest itself has but 36 days longer to run. Why not give me that subscription while it is worth most? To help me as much as possible you should give me your subscription before May 30 and it would accommodate me even more if you would let me have it this week so that I may have a good bunch of votes to turn in by Saturday evening."

KEEP IT IN MIND.

It's not a bad plan each night to look over the stubs in your book and see if they comprise all those whom you know or who might be interested in you.

You will find that fresh names suggest themselves constantly. When they come to mind jot them down so that you will not forget a single prospect. It may not be just the right time for you to make your request, but never trust to your memory alone to remind you when the right time does come. If you have the name always where you can refer to it you run no risk of forgetting or even of postponing until too late.

NOTHING TO FEAR.

If some of the candidates who think that their chances are small could know how little earnest effort it would take to place them in the lead of their most dreaded opponent we are sure they would, as the saying goes, "take a new lease on life" and soon they would surprise themselves by the amount they accomplished.

Work thus done is never regretted. It would certainly humiliate you should the final vote show that you had allowed yourself to be beaten when you could readily have won the prize.

Of course we cannot promise that you will win the very prize you most want if you do work, but we are safe in promising that you will not win any prize at all if you do not.

REMEMBER THE CONTESTANTS.

A safe rule to follow when we wish to deal kindly with our fellowmen is "put yourself in his place." This is what we ask you to do when a contestant approaches you with a request for a subscription.

PUT YOURSELF IN HIS PLACE.

Remember that to you it means but a few dollars, in exchange for which you not only get more than your money's worth in receiving THE TRIBUNE daily, but also win the gratitude and appreciation of the contestant.

To the contestant, however, it is a much bigger matter. It means the realization of a bright day dream. It may mean more than pleasure to the winner.

It may mean just the thing necessary to give them the proper start in life and the confidence to succeed in the first business venture they undertake. When you think of the many possibilities of good that lie in your subscribing, you will not hesitate longer to give it to the person in the contest in whom you are most interested. If you subscribe now you will find a keen interest in watching your favorite win and the victory will in a measure be due direct to you. Perhaps you would like to enter the race yourself as there is plenty of room for a place among the winners. If so send us your name on the blank below; Contest Dept. is open evenings until 8 o'clock. Phone Lakeside 6000 for information relative to the big prize distribution.

OFFICERS SWAP HELMETS; ARE VICTIMS OF JOKERS

MELROSE, May 14.—Is a policeman known by his number? Does Patrolman No. 99 signify anything more to the man in the street than a mere unintelligible —(?).

"You bet it does," chorus Patrolmen H. L. Aboucaya and C. O. Hunt of the Melrose police station. Unknowingly "swopping" hats the two sallied forth on the beats each with two different numbers on his hat and uniform. The mixup was spotted several times in a walk of several blocks.

"I see you've been promoted, you're now No. 200 instead of 199," remarked a facetious friend to one of the officers. "Who are you, anyhow, No. 199 or 200," queried another joker of the other patrolman.

The burden of carrying two official numbers was borne for two solid hours, by which time the patrolmen were glad to abandon their dual roles.

"OLD MAIDS' CONVENTION" CHURCH BENEFIT FARCE

MELROSE, May 14.—Twenty young people of the district presented a farce, "The Old Maids' Convention," at an entertainment here last night for the benefit of the Melrose Methodist church. In addition to the play, the church women contributed musical numbers to the program. Miss Florence Bechsoum was at the head of the promoters of the affair, which attracted a large attendance. The proceeds will be used in paying off the church debts.

Rev. Richard Rodda, pastor of the church, left today for Sacramento where he will give an address on "Loyalty to Methodism" before the young people of several of the churches in that city.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION HOLDS YEARLY ELECTION

Heyiner; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. O'Neill; financial secretary, Mrs. C. Jackson; treasurer, Mrs. H. D. Donnell; auditor, Mrs. Philip Hans; historian, Mrs. Caroline Sawyer.

A committe of which Mrs. C. P. Eggleston is chairman was appointed to make preparations for the installation ceremony and for a reception to the new and retiring officers. Arrangements for a reception to the graduates of the Melrose Heights school were placed in the hands of a committee.

EARLY CALIFORNIA SETTLER IS DEAD

APPLEGATE, May 14.—J. W. Zumwalt, octogenarian, Argonaut of California, Indian fighter and former resident of Sierra, Solano, Glenn, Lassen and Shasta counties, died in Applegate Tuesday at the age of 88 years. The funeral will be held in Anderson, Shasta county.

J. W. Zumwalt was a native of Pennsylvania and came to California in 1847, nearly a year before the discovery of gold. He lived first in Sierraville, Sierra county, when he came to California. A short time later he moved to Solano county, locating near where the city of Dixon now stands. In 1852 he went to Glenn county, then Colusa county, camping on Willow creek, near a clump of willows, which years afterward gave the name to the county seat of Glenn.

After farming in Colusa county he went to the Madeline plains, in what is now Lassen county, and later engaged in stock raising in Shasta county. Until two years ago, when he came to Applegate, his home was at Anderson.

As an Indian fighter he took part in the famous war with the Modoc chief, Captain Jack, in the lava beds. His father is said to have been one of the first white men to see Lake Tahoe.

He is survived by six daughters, Mrs. L. S. Jenks, Willows; Mrs. John St. John and Mrs. T. Vestal, Pittville, Shasta county; Mrs. Warren Bernard, Anderson, and Mrs. C. Baker, Coalinga.

PRIZES ARE OFFERED TO TOWN BEAUTIFIERS

MARYSVILLE, May 14.—The following prize awards have been announced by the Yuba Consolidated Gold Fields Company of Hammonton in a campaign to beautify the dredger city. For best kept yard—H. H. Hines, first prize, lawn hammock; A. R. Dole, second prize, 50 feet of garden hose. Additional prizes for best kept lawns were awarded as follows: W. D. Brisendine, lawn mower; Charles Arnold and James Guriter, set of garden tools. The last two named tied for second place in the lawn contest.

The plan to beautify Hammonton by offering prizes was inaugurated several weeks ago and met with most pleasing results, interest being keen among contestants.

ADOPT CASH POLICY.

WOODLAND, May 14.—"Pay as you buy" may be the rule established by local merchants. It was authoritatively learned from accurate data that the Woodland business men have upward of $200,000 on their books. One store is owed $38,000 by its debtors, another $25,000; two other firms hold bills aggregating $15,400 each; while some have accounts ranging from $10,000 to $500. Within the last two months three stores have adopted the no-credit policy, and there is a strong movement on foot to have all of the merchants operate on the cash basis.

COMMISSIONER DEAF TO PLEA OF ADAMS

SACRAMENTO, May 14. — After a stormy session with President J. E. Adams and Directors Nesbitt, Kennedy and Prater of the United Investment companies of Stockton, H. I. Carnahan, commissioner of corporations, declined to change his decision or the permit granted by him as a result of his recent hearing of the company's affairs.

Adams was told by Carnahan that hereafter any communication from or showing made by him must be in writing and under oath if he wished it to receive consideration of the commissioner.

SHARE IN $300,000 ESTATE DEMANDED

Brothers and Sisters Sue for Late ames Hegan's Property.

OROVILLE, May 14.—A fight to compel the distribution of the estate of the late James Hegan and to prevent the widow from burdening the estate with any further expenses has been started by the brothers and sisters of the deceased. The estate is estimated to be worth over $300,000.

Hegan died without leaving children or a will. Accordingly, his brothers and sisters claim they are entitled to a share in the estate. It has been eighteen months since the widow, Mrs. Eliza Hegan, was appointed administratrix, and the brothers and sisters claim that there has been an abundance of time, it is alleged, in which to fully administer the estate. They point to the fact that the widow is receiving a monthly allowance of $500, and allege that if the estate is not ordered distributed their interests will be prejudiced.

A complaint directed against Mrs. Eliza Hegan, the administratrix, was filed. In this complaint Samuel Hegan, Thomas Hegan, Robert Hegan, Elizabeth Hunt and May L. Sproul, as brothers and sisters of the deceased capitalist, allege that they are entitled to one-half of the estate. They ask that the estate be ordered distributed, and that they receive the share to which they allege they are entitled to. J. M. McGee is attorney for the plaintiffs.

CHICO ORDINANCE IS USELESS, CITY FINDS

CHICO, May 14.—Chico's board of city trustees can condemn buildings forever under the building ordinance it now has, but when it comes to forcing a property owner to carry out its orders, it's out of luck.

That fact was brought out last night at a meeting at the city hall, when the question of condemning a barn standing on the Hegan estate property at Seventh and Wall streets came up and the board had to admit it could bring no action toward forcing the building to be torn down.

The board has been petitioned by property owners near Seventh and Wall streets to have the building removed because of its unsanitary condition.

"We can condemn the barn, but to get it down is another thing," said Trustee Emma Roberts. "I think it should come down, however."

City Attorney Guy R. Kennedy has told Trustee S. A. Reynolds, Reynolds said, that neither the board of trustees nor the board of health can have any building removed under the present ordinance.

At present the question has been put up to the board of health. Its action is limited to ordering the owners of any property which has been declared a nuisance or unsanitary to put it in a sanitary condition.

LEAVES TO WED

Oakland's Poster Girl

Miss Beatrice Garner, the "poster girl" of the Ball of a Thousand Colors that marked the opening of the Municipal Auditorium, left Oakland today for Victoria, B. C., to become the wife of "Billy" Menges, former Oakland high school boy and a member of the Victoria team of the Northwest League. The wedding will take place May 26, and the two will make their home in Victoria.

Miss Garner attained recent local fame when chosen by a committee of local businessmen as the city's prettiest girl. As such, she was photographed as the "poster girl," the official emblem of the big municipal ball. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Garner, live in Los Angeles, where he father is connected with the Southern Pacific Company. Miss Garner has been residing at 1129 Market street, Oakland.

"I do not like to leave Oakland," she said before leaving today, "but Billy says that he wants me to go to Victoria, so I will do so. We'll be back, though, when the baseball season ends."

Menges was one of the most promising stars in the Coast League two years ago. He played the shortstop position for Oakland for a part of last year, has served in some of the teams of the Middle West, and was offered a berth in an Eastern league this season, but preferred to remain on the coast to be near his sweetheart.

SVEA CHORUS PLANS RECEPTION FOR SINGERS

Members of the Svea Male Chorus of Oakland and the Swedish people of Alameda county generally are making active preparations for the reception of the United Swedish Singers of America, who will be here next month and who have already secured the new Oakland auditorium for a great festival of song on June 19.

The song festival promises to be one of the most notable ever given in this city, not alone because of the number of artists who will appear, but also because of the distinguished singers who will be heard for the first time on the Pacific coast. Among them are Madame Sundelius and the Chicago baritone, Victor Holmquist.

The program has not yet been announced, but included in it will be special numbers by singing societies of nine of the principal cities of the Pacific coast in addition to numbers ensemble. The cities that will be represented include Oakland, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Eureka, Los Angeles, and Spokane.

The Oakland Chamber of Commerce will co-operate with the Swedish people in entertaining the singers while in this city, several events having been planned.

DELEGATES DISCUSS FINANCIAL SITUATION

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14. — With forty delegates, representing different counties of California, in attendance, the County Mutual Fire Insurance Companies of California are considering important matters in connection with the state's financial situation, and this afternoon has been set for the election of officers, which will probably be completed late in the evening.

Exposition Commissioner James A. Barr opened the convention with an address yesterday, and in the afternoon the meeting was addressed by G. F. Cromer of Los Angeles on "Uniform Rates For All County Mutuals," by J. D. Musgrove of Woodland on "Recent Proposed and Passed Legislation" and by John M. Huehn of Upland on "Inspecting of Risks and Adjusting Losses."

One of the most important reports submitted was that of A. Sorensen of Fresno, chairman of the committee on laws, who has been actively at work during the past session of the Legislature at Sacramento. Sorensen declared that the old line fire insurance companies have been hard hit by the low cost of insurance offered by the mutual companies throughout the state, and that they have been making vigorous but unsuccessful efforts at Sacramento to enact laws to restrict the business of the smaller companies.

They were shown around by Farm Adviser W. H. Nixon. The students will also take in the orchards around Niles. They travel to different fruit-growing centers in the state in order to gain practical knowledge in fruit-growing.

WHOOPING COUGH.

"When my daughter had whooping cough she coughed so hard at one time that she had hemorrhage of the lungs. I was terribly alarmed about her condition. Seeing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy so highly recommended, I got her a bottle and it relieved the cough at once. Before she had finished two bottles of this remedy she was entirely well," writes Mrs. S. F. Grimes, Crooksville, Ohio. For sale by Osgood Bros. drug stores.—Advertisement.

Says Woman Helped to Spend Stolen Money

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—A thorough police investigation will be made of the case of Gertrude Weldon, waitress at the Land hotel, who caused the arrest of Walter Dassett on charges of felony embezzlement. The case was dismissed by Police Judge Henderson. Miss Weldon accused Dassett, a waiter, of stealing nearly $100 she had obtained in tips from her room. Dassett was arrested in San Francisco.

It developed in court that they had spent the money on a joy ride, in which many cafes were visited. Dassett had advised the girl to put the money in a bank. After spending all of his money, they started spending hers. The next morning there was enough left to purchase a dress for Miss Weldon. This was purchased and Dassett left for San Francisco. He claims the young woman is in love with him and took this step in an attempt to force him to marry her. Charges of perjury may be placed against her.

Black Walnut Studies Conducted by Experts

BERKELEY, May 14.—Studies of the black walnut, of deep interest for nut orchardists in all parts of the state, are being continued by the University agriculturists this year, under the direction of Prof. E. B. Babcock. The investigation has special reference to the Juglans Californica Watson and has extended over a series of years to attain definite result. According to Professor Babcock, some of the conclusions which may now be drawn are the following:

"The belief, which has been generally held, that the new form of californica var. quercina originated through hybridization between walnut and oak is not supported by our observations and results.

"There is no evidence that hybridization with other species of walnut or cross pollination with other trees of the same species causes the appearance of the new form.

"Abnormal late-appearing flowers and fruits occur rather frequently on the wild black walnuts, but they very seldom produce quercina seedlings and certainly are not the cause of the origin of the new variety.

"The evidence that seedlings of the new variety do come from certain normal nuts is conclusive since a tree has been located that annually produces such seedlings among its normal progeny. What internal change or changes take place in the growth of the flowers or development of the young fruits that determine the appearance of quercina instead of californica seedlings remains to be discovered. This must be attempted by the further testing of individual nuts from the above mentioned tree and the microscopical examination of flowers in all stages."
